SAUSALITO SEAL GONE BUT IT'S SAFE, SOUND

Sausalito's seal has disappeared, but it is safe and well and will return to the waterfront.

City Engineer Donald Wohlschlaeger said a new landing will be built for the seal, a little farther out in the bay, when the widening is finished in that area.

The entire Bridgeway project is to be completed in three to four months.

U.N. Peace Idea Gains Momentum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Growing support for a resolution aimed at obtaining United Nations action on the Vietnam war is generating Capitol Hill speculation President Johnson might be receptive to the idea.

The resolution sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has gained backing of 56 other senators—Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives, war policy backers and opponents.

While the discreet language of the resolution would merely urge the President to consider directing U.S. representatives to the United Nations to seek action, its passage would be interpreted as an appeal to him to do so.

Approval would express the sense of the Senate and not be binding on the President. But one informed source said he doubted Mansfield would seek to put Johnson in a position of rejecting a suggestion for a possible step toward peace.

The opposite appears to be the case, the source said—that Mansfield expects the President would act on the resolution, with his hand strengthened by the strong support already indicated.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., one of the most outspoken critics of Johnson's Vietnam policies, advanced another reason why a resolution on U.N. action might be welcomed by the President. He said it "may be the best way of building bridges between Congress and the executive" on the Vietnam issue.

Morse said yesterday at a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he had discussed the U.N. approach with Johnson and the President had shown intense interest.

Morse said, however, that Johnson made no commitment on his course if a resolution urging U.N. action were passed.

Morse has sponsored a more sweeping proposal that would request the President to seek an emergency meeting of the U.N. Security Council and agree beforehand to obey any directives it issued, including a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

But the Oregon senator has said he would accept the Mansfield approach, which carries no preconditions.

Mansfield's resolution appeared to be heading for prompt approval by the Foreign Relations Committee. It was introduced Wednesday and incorporated informally into hearings the committee is now conducting on the Morse resolution.

Historic Church Talks To Continue

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras met for 90 minutes in the Pope's study today—their longest private talk yet on ways to bring their two churches back together after 900 years of schism.

"We will see each other tomorrow," the Pope told Athenagoras at the door as the meeting ended with another symbolic kiss of peace between the two church leaders. No communique on the talk was issued.

Reds Say Massive Air Raids Hit Bridge, Village Near Big Airport

SAIGON (UPI)—Hanoi Radio reported massive new air raids again today against the North Vietnamese capital—the fourth consecutive day of the biggest aerial offensive since World War II. One broadcast said the son of an American four-star Admiral was shot down and captured.

Communist reports from Hanoi said waves of U.S. Navy and Air Force planes hit the Paul Doumer (renamed Long Bien) bridge in Hanoi and suburbs, including the village of Giam Lam, site of Hanoi's international airport which is still on the American restricted list.

DAY AND NIGHT

The American aerial offensive hit the Communists day and night. A spokesman said U.S. Marines flew a record 57 missions—perhaps 200 planes—against North Vietnamese targets yesterday, including night attacks against the big Phuc Yen and Hoa Lac airfields.

American military sources said the attacks had destroyed a fourth of North Vietnam's MIG air power in the first three days of the mighty assault.

American officials said the raids had destroyed 24 and possibly 25 MIGs in the first three days of the offensive at a cost of 10 American planes shot down.

A series of Communist broadcasts said six American planes were shot down today as they attacked Hanoi in four waves. The Communists who invariably inflate their claims said this brought to 29 the number shot down during the big aerial offensive.

SHOT DOWN

Radio Hanoi said Lt. Cmdr. John Sydney McCain, pilot son of Adm. John S. McCain Jr., was shot down over Hanoi yesterday and captured during the intensive U.S. raiding that Red China charged was a "grave step of military escalation." McCain's father is commander-in-chief of U.S. Navy forces in Europe and his grandfather, Adm. John S. McCain, commanded Task Force 58 in World War II.

The ground war in South Vietnam flared up again and four U.S. Army advisers, 200 South Vietnamese and what an American general called "plenty of heroism" today killed at least 134 members of a 1,200-man North Vietnamese re-

Over-The-Hill GI List Runs High In Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — A number of U.S. servicemen desert in Vietnam and try to live by dealing on the black market, pimping or occasionally by peddling marijuana, a U.S. military police source reported today.

The number of deserters at large runs from 40 to 100 at any given time, the source said, and their freedom lasts from a few days to several months.

The deserters are able to go underground most successfully in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese section. Those with luck make contact with black marketeers who furnish them with counterfiet PX ration cards to make large purchases for resale on the flourishing Saigon black market.

Some of them also join up with prostitutes and live partly off their earnings, a source said.

A few peddle marijuana to other GIs, but the drug is so easily available this isn't very lucrative trade.

Bridge Directors' Meeting Erupts In Anger Over Death Of Painter

By ALAN JONES

A Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board meeting today exploded into a bitter shouting match over responsibility for the death Wednesday of bridge painter Lee Patrick.

Painters' Union leader Morris Evenson laid Patrick's death to bridge management and Gen. Mgr. James Adam hotly denied the charge.

Bridge director Stephen Leonoudakis led an earlier assault, moving that directors make their own investigation of the death independently of the bridge management.

His motion was tabled on a voice vote until completion of a current investigation.

The shouting row started as Leonoudakis asked Adam a series of questions about district safety and inspection rules. One of them was whether Adam had received a letter about safety from Evenson, president of Painters Union Local 4.

"That's a complete falsehood," retorted Adam.

Leonoudakis then offered to "show you a letter." To this, Adam shot back, "Show me any letter you like!"

The exchange was broken off when chairman John E. Nelson ruled Leonoudakis out of order for "cross-examining."

Evenson charged that bridge management "had never held a safety meeting." He said he had no confidence in Adam.

Evanson said he wrote a letter to Adam Sept. 26 complaining about unsafe conditions in scaffolding. Adam denied receiving any such letter.

The union president offered to show evidence of the letter, but was gaveled down by Nelson as to the two minutes granted him to speak expired.

Adam earlier issued a written statement denying a conversation with Evenson on the subject, or receiving any letter on it.

(The Painters Union has been sharply critical of Adam in recent months in a dispute over minority hiring.)

Patrick fell to his death Wednesday when a safety rope broke. Adam said indications so far are that Patrick was not working on a platform but was on a beam from which he fell.

Bagley Suggests Ways To Halt Marin Remap

Other Counties Involved

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — If Marin County must be split by reapportionment, "the only reasonable way" to divide the county would be by an east-west line from Lucas Valley to West Marin, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told an Assembly committee.

Testifying before the Assembly Interim Committee on Elections and Reapportionment, Bagley also presented two plans which would keep all of Marin in the First Congressional District, but only by splitting other counties.

OTHER SHIFT

Both plans would shift Napa County from the first to the fourth district and make several other shifts and splits of other counties, Bagley said.

Both, however, would leave the first district with 55,000 persons over the ideal of 414,000, he said. This excess is near the 15 per cent maximum deviation set by the State Supreme Court, while the Legislature is aiming at 5 per cent, Bagley noted. Any deviation greater than 5 per cent might be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, Bagley cautioned.

Rebutting arguments by Marin authorities that lumping southern and central Marin voters with a San Francisco district would deprive them of a voice in Congress, Bagley told the Independent-Journal that, based on the 1960 census, Marin residents comprise 28 per cent of the first district, but would comprise 30 per cent if combined with a San Francisco district.

MAILLIARD'S DISTRICT

The split of Marin proposed by Bagley would put 163,000 Marin residents, or 70 per cent of the county's population in William S. Mailliard's sixth district in the western section of San Francisco.

Representative Mailliard and Don H. Clausen, R-First District, "have generally agreed to" his proposed split of Marin, Bagley said.

The east-west line would fall between "commuter-oriented and locally-oriented residents of Marin," Bagley said, asserting that those south of the line tend to work in San Francisco while those north of it generally did not commute out of the county.

Also appearing before the committee was John F. Musser Jr., chief of the Marin County elections department, who presented the board of supervisors' opposition to any split of the county.

The Assembly committee is preparing a reapportionment plan to present to the Legislature when it meets in special session Nov. 6.

Remap Halt Bill Goes To Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House's bill to preserve for a few more years what Congressmen love most —the districts that elect them — was headed today for a showdown in the Senate.

House members, alarmed at the prospect of having to seek re-election in new districts or at-large next year, voted 241 to 105 yesterday to put off until after the 1970 census redistricting along "one man, one vote" lines.

The compromise measure approved yesterday represented all that House and Senate conferees could agree on after months of negotiation over short and long range standards for Congressional districts.

Laying in wait for the measure in the Senate were Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who termed it "a blatant and cynical attack on the Supreme Court," and Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., who called it "clearly unconstitutional."

The bill says that no state shall be forced to redraw its House districts until after the 1970 census unless a special

Worker Fired Over Marijuana Admission

Mrs. Louise A. Lacey, a 23-year-old community worker for the Marin Economic Opportunity Council, was fired yesterday for publicly admitting she smoked marijuana.

Mrs. Lacey, of Tamal Road, Forest Knolls, said she would appeal the decision by the EOC board of directors.

"It's unfortunate that the board had to take this action, because I haven't lost my effectiveness as a community worker." Mrs. Lacey said.

Her job paid $425 monthly.

Mrs. Lacey was one of nearly 2,000 persons who filed affidavits in San Francisco Superior Court in support of Melkon Melkonian, a Mill Valley mechanic convicted of selling marijuana.

In the statement, she admitted smoking marijuana but declared she had never experienced ill effects. Mrs. Lacey is the mother of a three-year-old daughter and is expecting another child.

"I have been using it for about four years," she said recently in an interview with the Independent - Journal. At that time, her husband, Buck, 24, a musician, also admitted smoking marijuana.

Mrs. Lacey said in her affidavit:

"Marijuana is, to my knowledge, less harmful than alcohol. Through my own experience with it, I have gained peace and relaxation."

She was the second public official to be fired in Marin for admitting pot-smoking. Earlier this month, Mrs. Garnet E. Brennan, 58, principal and teacher at Nicaso School, was fired by school trustees after signing an affidavit for Melkonian.

The dismissal of Mrs. Lacey, an employee of the EOC for five months, was announced by Victory A. Cary, executive director. He said directors voted 10-3 in

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — If Marin County must be split by reapportionment, "the only reasonable way" to divide the county would be by an east-west line from Lucas Valley to West Marin, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, told an Assembly committee.

Testifying before the Assembly Interim Committee on Elections and Reapportionment, Bagley also presented two plans which would keep all of Marin in the First Congressional District, but only by splitting other counties.

OTHER SHIFT

Both plans would shift Napa County from the first to the fourth district and make several other shifts and splits of other counties, Bagley said.

Both, however, would leave the first district with 55,000 persons over the ideal of 414,000, he said. The split of Marin proposed by Bagley would put 163,000 Marin residents, or 70 per cent of the county's population in William S. Mailliard's sixth district in the western section of San Francisco.

Representative Mailliard and Don H. Clausen, R-First District, "have generally agreed to" his proposed split of Marin, Bagley said.

The east-west line would fall between "commuter-oriented and locally-oriented residents of Marin," Bagley said, asserting that those south of the line tend to work in San Francisco while those north of it generally did not commute out of the county.

Also appearing before the committee was John F. Musser Jr., chief of the Marin County elections department, who presented the board of supervisors' opposition to any split of the county.

The Assembly committee is preparing a reapportionment plan to present to the Legislature when it meets in special session Nov. 6.

No Blame

THE HAGUE (UPI)—The Dutch government told parliament yesterday that it did not feel Yugoslavia had intentionally failed to detain Erich Rajakovic, whose extradition was sought by Holland.

In a message to parliament the government said the Yugoslavs had cooperated fully with Dutch authorities, but that Rajakovic was able to slip back to Austria because of careless police work in the town of Piran.

Denies Charge

LONDON (UPI) — British Power Minister Richard Marsh yesterday denied a charge that piles of coal sludge at Aberfan were still unsafe. The sludge spilled down onto the tiny Welsh village a year ago, killing 144 persons.

New Terrorism

ATHENS (UPI)—The eighth homemade bomb explosion since the military takeover in Greece rocked a construction site next to the finance ministry in downtown Athens yesterday There were no injuries.

Not A Criminal

DETROIT (AP) — All 12 judges of Detroit's Recorder's Court have called on the city's Common Council to enact measures to have alcoholics treated as medical patients rather than criminals.

Gas Victims

KOBE, Japan (UPI)—Five shipworkers are dead and six others are in critical condition today, the victims of delayed-action poisoning from ethylene gas residue in a tank they cleaned two weeks ago.

House Passes Servicemen's Pay Raises

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With nearly unanimous House backing behind a 4.5 per cent military pay raise, the nation's 3.4 million servicemen appeared virtually assured today of fatter paychecks by the end of the year.

The House approved the bill 385 to 2 yesterday, saying it could not do less for the uniformed services than it did for civilian federal employees in voting earlier this month to raise their pay.

In view of the lopsided House vote—only Republican Representatives H. R. Gross, Iowa, and Glenn Davis, Wis., said no—Senate approval of the GI increase was expected to be swift and overwhelming.

OVERALL HIKE

The House bill would give members of the armed forces a 5.6 per cent increase in base pay retroactive to Oct. 1, and raise such items as allowances, re-enlistment bonuses and separation pay by amounts that average out to an over-all 4.5 per cent increase for the package.

The base pay raise translates into a $5.10 a month increase for buck privates, who now get $90, and a $112 a month increase for four-star generals, who now get $2,001.

Family allotments for men in the lower four grades who have dependents would go up from $4.80 to $7.50 a month, boosting the minimum to $60 a month and the maximum to $105.

The bill also would guarantee the military a comparable pay raise each time the pay of white collar government workers is raised. The House-passed civilian pay bill provides for raises on July 1, 1968, and April 1, 1969.

GAINS BUILT IN

The second and third steps of the military raise would also be based on comparable gains in private industry, with a minimum increase of 3 per cent. Best estimates now are that the increases would be 4.4 per cent at the second step in July next year and 7.4 per cent at the third one the following April.

The first year's increase would cost the federal government at least $625 million, it was estimated, and the total bill over three years would come to $2.7 billion.

With the civilian pay increase approved by the House, a total of $5 billion would be committed in added federal payroll expenses over the period.

San Mateo-Hayward Bridge Opening Set

SAN MATEO (AP)—Opening of the new San Mateo-Hayward bridge has been scheduled for Tuesday, the state Division of Bay Toll Crossings reports.

The span was formally dedicated last Friday, but the asphalt covering had not hardened sufficiently and the opening was postponed.

Bank Merger Is Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The merging of Pacific National Bank of San Francisco into Security First National Bank of Los Angeles was approved yesterday by directors of both banks.

The merged bank will be known as the Security Pacific National Bank and will become the Northern California headquarters for Security First National's branch banking system.

The merger agreement is subject to approval by the comptroller of the currency and shareholders of both banks at meetings Nov. 5.

Flashing Lights To Be No Mystery

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Flashing lights will be seen over the Bay Area beginning Monday night, but the Air Force says no one should suspect anything mysterious.

The purpose will be to calibrate radar systems located at Pillar Post Air Force Station at Half Moon Bay.

Congress Aiming For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — With hopes high and fingers crossed, Congress is shooting for adjournment of its 1967 session before Thanksgiving Day.

Its leaders believe that with a little luck and no unforeseen snags they can hit that target date after this week's sudden break in the legislative logjam that has dragged the session through almost 10 months.

BILLS MOVING

The big money bills, perennial sources of trouble, have started to move with a rush. Three more were sent to the President Thursday.

But wary leaders, accustomed to have their best-laid plans wrecked, were cautious in their adjournment predictions.

"Only fair," said House Democratic Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., when asked what he thought of chances for adjournment by Thanksgiving.

"A good chance," said House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the Turkey Day get-away prospects were good, if there is to be no tax hike bill.

REMOVES "IFS"

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, appeared to remove Mansfield's "if" by agreeing chances for the late-November adjournment looked good to him. Tax legislation originates in Mills' committee, which could hardly get a revenue measure ready for initial House action before late November.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen was less optimistic than the others. He felt mid-December was a more realistic target date.

The unofficial list of "must" bills for disposal this year has been narrowed. It now includes Social Security, foreign aid, antipoverty and pay raise legislation, plus the remaining money bills. The list may be pared down further as the fever to quit spreads, with only the money measures absolutely demanding action. ,

TO MEET AGAIN

None of the left-over bills would lose their advanced position if not acted on by adjournment time, since the present Congress meets again next January and picks up where it leaves off this year.

House-passed bills dealing with aid to education, civil rights and Social Security revision may be brushed aside until next year.

There was general agreement that the biggest stumbling block now in the path of adjournment is the antipoverty program. The Senate has passed a bill to continue the program and the House plans to consider its own version the second week in November.

TWO PRODUCTS

If the two products are so far apart that a quick compromise would be unlikely, the antipoverty program may be kept alive by temporary spending authority at an annual rate of about $1.2 billion instead of the $2 billion requested by the President.

Temporary financing also may be the lot of the foreign aid program if Congress can't agree on a more permanent arrangement.

The three money bills sent to President Johnson Thursday carried $16.9 billion for the space agency, the State, Justice and Commerce departments, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and some miscellaneous agencies. This was about $1.4 billion less than Johnson requested.

Legendary Animal Is Discounted

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — Scientists and reporters yesterday viewed a 20-second film of a large, hairy animal, but remained largely unconvinced that it was the legendary Sasquatch mountain giant.

The film, said to have been shot in Northern California last week, showed a creature nearly seven feet tall walking away from the camera and disappearing into the woods.

Another short film showed 14-inch tracks left by the creature after it ran away from the photographer.

Roger Patterson, of Yakima, Wash., said he shot the film in Humboldt County, about 100 miles northeast of Eureka.

Patterson said he has been chasing the Sasquatch legend about eight years, in California and in the mountains around Harrison Hot Springs, B.C.

Seaman Claims Load Too Heavy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A lifeboat filled with 20 men dropped away at one end and spilled the SS Panoceanic Faith's crewmen into 50-degree seas shortly before the ship sank, a seaman survivor has told a Coast Guard inquiry.

The 459-foot freighter, loaded with fertilizer, sank Oct. 9 about 870 miles southwest of Kodiak, Alaska, with the loss of 35 crewmen.

Johnson, one of five survivors, said the ship was too heavily loaded forward when it started its voyage from San Francisco to India with the fertilizer cargo.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Assailants Hit Hoffa Witness

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A key witness in the James R. Hoffa probe here told police she was wounded by a gunshot last night and police arrested a man a short time later.

Mrs. Francis

Mary Ann Gordon Francis, 27, said after she was shot that she "couldn't fight all the money being poured into here to keep me from testifying

Mrs. Francis, secretary of a Teamster Union local here, was wounded in the shoulder and reported in fair condition at a hospital.

Less than three hours later city police arrested Edwin H. Pullom, 38, and charged him with felonious assault. Officers said Mrs. Francis identified Pullom as her assailant.

Mrs. Francis was a government witness in the recent obstruction of justice trial of a prostitute charged with giving false information in an affidavit filed with Hoffa's third new trial motion.

In the trial of Patricia Ann Essex, who had alleged she had sexual relations with jurors during Hoffa's 1964 jury tampering trial, Mrs. Francis said she had seen Mrs. Essex sitting in an office holding more than $1,000 in $20 bills when she went in to notarize the affidavit.

STILL A BIG STAR

It was billed as a new conference for 22-year-old Katharine Houghton, but her aunt accidentally took the spotlight. Her name? Katharine Hepburn. It all happened yesterday in New York as Miss Hepburn called a news conference to introduce her niece who has a major role in the film, "Guess Who's Coming For Dinner," which also stars the late Spencer Tracy. Some Long Distance Rates To Be Dropped

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. will reduce rates on some out-of-state calls beginning Wednesday by order of the Federal Communications Commission.

The lower rates generally will apply to station-to-station calls. The rate drop came as a result of an FCC order to American Telephone and Telegraph Co., parent company of Pacific Telephone, to lower rates nationally by $100 million annually.

Lower weekday night station-to-station call rates will extend from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. instead of 8 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.; maximum charge will be $1 for the first three minutes anywhere within the continental United States. The rates also will apply on Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's days, July 4th and Labor Day.

And if one can dial the station-to-station number without the aid of an operator, the rate will drop to a maximum of 75 cents for the first three minutes to any point within the United States, instead of the present $1 rate.

The present evening station-to-station rate will apply weekdays from 5 to 7 p.m. instead of 6 to 8 p.m. Within the continental United States, the rate has been lowered from $1.50 to $1.25 for the first three minutes.

Night person-to-person rates have been reduced from a maximum of $3 to a maximum of $2.85 for the first three minutes. The lower charges will apply all day Saturday and Sunday instead of just Sunday, and will apply from 5 p.m. to 7 a.m. weekdays instead of from 6 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.

The maximum station-to-station day rate will be cut from $2 to $1.75 and the person-to-person rate from $3.50 to $3.30 for the first three minutes and will apply from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Board Balks At Rehiring

CONCORD (AP)—The Mount Diablo School District Board has refused to rehire Nancy McGlone, a teacher who was fired for wearing a miniskirt.

The decision was made after a three-hour meeting.

Mrs. McGlone remained adamant in her quest for a new contract.

"This is not going to end here," she said.

The attorney for the former Pacifica High School teacher, Peter Franck of Berkeley, said he would file suit in Martinez Superior Court asking for reinstatement, back wages and legal expenses.

STILL A BIG STAR

It was billed as a new conference for 22-year-old Katharine Houghton, but her aunt accidentally took the spotlight. Her name? Katharine Hepburn. It all happened yesterday in New York as Miss Hepburn called a news conference to introduce her niece who has a major role in the film, "Guess Who's Coming For Dinner," which also stars the late Spencer Tracy. Some Long Distance Rates To Be Dropped

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. will reduce rates on some out-of-state calls beginning Wednesday by order of the Federal Communications Commission.

The lower rates generally will apply to station-to-station calls. The rate drop came as a result of an FCC order to American Telephone and Telegraph Co., parent company of Pacific Telephone, to lower rates nationally by $100 million annually.

Lower weekday night station-to-station call rates will extend from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. instead of 8 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.; maximum charge will be $1 for the first three minutes anywhere within the continental United States. The rates also will apply on Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's days, July 4th and Labor Day.

And if one can dial the station-to-station number without the aid of an operator, the rate will drop to a maximum of 75 cents for the first three minutes to any point within the United States, instead of the present $1 rate.

The present evening station-to-station rate will apply weekdays from 5 to 7 p.m. instead of 6 to 8 p.m. Within the continental United States, the rate has been lowered from $1.50 to $1.25 for the first three minutes.

Night person-to-person rates have been reduced from a maximum of $3 to a maximum of $2.85 for the first three minutes. The lower charges will apply all day Saturday and Sunday instead of just Sunday, and will apply from 5 p.m. to 7 a.m. weekdays instead of from 6 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.

The maximum station-to-station day rate will be cut from $2 to $1.75 and the person-to-person rate from $3.50 to $3.30 for the first three minutes and will apply from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Board Balks At Rehiring

CONCORD (AP)—The Mount Diablo School District Board has refused to rehire Nancy McGlone, a teacher who was fired for wearing a miniskirt.

The decision was made after a three-hour meeting.

Mrs. McGlone remained adamant in her quest for a new contract.

"This is not going to end here," she said.

The attorney for the former Pacifica High School teacher, Peter Franck of Berkeley, said he would file suit in Martinez Superior Court asking for reinstatement, back wages and legal expenses.

A Communist East German correspondent in Hanoi said American reconnaissance aircraft flew over Hanoi at dawn and were followed by waves of fighter-bombers streaking in at various altitudes through a curtain of antiaircraft fire and surface-to-air (SAM) missiles.

The Communists reported attacks on the densely populated center of the city and a number of towns and villages on the outskirts including Gia Lam. It was the second time in two days the village of Gia Lam was reported hit but it was not clear if the big airport there was hit.

Every major airbase has been hit but Gia Lam apparently has been off limits because it is used by international aircraft flying into Hanoi. Members of the International Control Commission—Poland, Canada and India—use the airport, for example.

The strike against the Long Bien or Paul Doumer bridge was the second time this week it has been hit.

American announcement on yesterday's raids said planes knocked out Hanoi's power plant which provides 22 per cent of North Vietnam's electricity. Haiphong's big plant was hit the day before.

Agriculture Students Take More Degrees

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Thirty-six per cent of all students completing four-year programs in the Pennsylvania State University College of Agriculture during the past year went directly into graduate work.

This indicates high levels of training are required by the agricultural and forestry industries, said Jerome K. Pasto, associate director of resident education in agriculture. He said 18 per cent of the graduates went into the armed forces and 12 per cent found employment in fields of work such as farming, forestry and horticulture.

Runaway Youths Quickly Nabbed

Two boys, who said they ran away from St. Vincent's School for Boys, were quickly nabbed yesterday by San Rafael Patrolman John A. Loane.

Loane said he saw the youths, 13 and 14, dart across Lucas Valley Road at 11:30 a.m. and hide in a bush when they spotted his patrol car. They admitted running away from the school and were returned, he said.

Woman Bitten By Angry Dog

Mrs. R. E. Doyle, 4 Bellevue Avenue, Belvedere, was bitten on the left ankle when she attempted to stop a dog fight between her small dog and a larger one at 6 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Doyle was walking her dog on a leash near her home on Corinthian Island, she told police, when Rokie, a golden retriever belonging to Mrs. Mark O. Kasanin, 12 Alcatraz Avenue, Belvedere, charged the smaller dog.

Mrs. Doyle was treated by her physician. Mrs. Kasanin told officers Rokie has had rabies shots.

Trend Shifting In Funerals

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—American are beginning to change their attitude toward funerals, a nationwide survey by funeral directors showed today.

The shift, particularly in large cities on the East and West coasts, is toward simpler, nonreligious and less expensive funerals, the survey said.

But in rural areas, particularly in the Middle West and South, the overwhelming preference is still for the traditional funeral with its public viewing of the body, religious service and public burial.

Auto Is Stolen

Window Vandalism

Youths wielding BB guns shot holes in windows in at least 15 businesses in the Francisco Boulevard - Irwin Street area last night, San Rafael police said. Some windows were punctured with up to five pellets, police reported.

Cities Taking Some Action On Green Belting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cities and towns across the nation, while becoming more and more densely populated, are acting to preserve more open space for recreational use, according to the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Nearly 100 square miles of open land were acquired by 419 communities in the year ended June 30 under a program financed through the department.

The more than 63,000 acres, costing $52.7 million, brought to 230,000 acres the land acquired since the program of matching grants was begun in 1961.

Communities in 39 states received grants in the past fiscal year.

Pennsylvania received the largest number, with 66 grants totaling more than $4.5 million for 19,602 acres.

California received the largest amount in funds — $10.6 million — which represented 54 grants and the acquisition of 9,132 acres.

Television Stolen From Unlocked Home

An intruder entered the unlocked front door at the home of William F. Duff at 8 Glenaire Drive yesterday and carted off a $250 television, $100 radio and a $75 watch from bedrooms, San Rafael police said.

Mrs. Anna M. Duff, gone from the home three hours, discovered the theft at 2:45 p.m.

$9.3 Million Rec Policy Is Viewed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Recreation Commission considered a $9.3 million program today to aid local projects with state and federal money.

About $2.4 million of the money comes from 1964 state park bond act funds.

Most deserters serve their sentences in a stockade in Vietnam and then are sent back to their units to complete their one-year tours in the war zone. Sentences served in the stockade are considered "bad time" which doesn't count toward either the 12-month Vietnam service period or the time required for discharge.

The police source said no deserters are known to have escaped from Vietnam. This would require considerable money to get a fake passport and be smuggled out of the country.

South Trying Military Chief

SAIGON (UPI)—For the first time the South Vietnam government today put on trial one of its powerful province chiefs on corruption charges.

Lt. Col. Tran Dinh Vong, 49, and 14 alleged accomplices were led into a special military court in handcuffs as their wives and mothers wept.

Vong, ousted last month as chief of heavily populated coastal Binh Dinh province, was the first of the nation's 44 province chiefs to face such charges—which on conviction can bring the death penalty.

Gradual Egyptian Buildup Reported

COMBINED AP & UPI

PORT TAUFIG, Israeli Held Sanai — An Israeli commander to day reported a gradual buildup of Arab forces on the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal.

He estimated there were thousands of Egyptian, Algerian, Kuwaiti and Sudanese soldiers along the tense 107-mile waterway that forms the cease-fire line after the June war.

An Arab force, equipped with large numbers of trunks and artillery pieces, was said to be within 12 miles of the Egyptian port of Suez, where thin columns of gray smoke still rose from oil refineries and storage tanks blasted by Israeli guns three days ago.

The once-bustling city of Suez with its tree-lined Port Ibraham, the city's waterfront quarter, 120 yards across the canal from Israeli guns, appeared deserted.

But the commander, a colonel in charge of Israeli forces in the area, said Egyptian gunners were still there. He said that in their nervousness, they were spraying the Israeli-held east shore with brief and ineffectual bursts of machine gun and cannon fire almost every day.

There were no shooting incidents along the canal this morning but official sources said the Egyptians fired on the east bank twice Thursday, neither time causing any casualties or drawing any retaliatory fire.

The commander said forces on the Egyptian side had been slowly building up since the June cease-fire. The Algerian, the Kuwaitis and the Sudanese soldiers have been identified by their uniforms he added.

Meanwhile, eight Soviet warships arrived today in Alexandria and Port Said in a demonstration of solidarity with Egypt.

Egyptian sources in Cairo called the visit a "good will" one but they expressed hope presence of the Russian ships only a few miles from Israeli positions along the Suez Canal would deter any further Israeli "aggression" in the area.

A military spokesman in Jerusalem said two Arab infiltrators armed with Soviet-made weapons were killed by an Israeli Army patrol in a predawn skirmish today.

Arrival of the Soviet warships coincided with warnings in both Cairo and Jerusalem that peace in the Middle East was far off and with press reports in Beirut, Lebanon, that Russia would supply more missiles to Egypt.

From the United Nations a drafting team of the U.N. Security Council was reported near agreement on a plan aimed at opening the way to a permanent settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The 10 nonpermanent members of the 15-nation council were to put the final touches to a proposal to send a special U.N. representative to the Middle East.

The drafting team consists of six of the 10 elected council members—India, Argentina, Brazil, Nigeria, Ethiopia and Mali.

Delegates predicted that the full 10-member group would firm up a resolution in time for the council to act on it next week.

Mexico's Plea For Benefits To Mankind

WASHINGTON (API) —Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz today urged the world's richer nations to sacrifice profits in the interest of "socially minded investments" benefitting all mankind.

"Mankind must decide whether it is fairer and more convenient to live in opulence surrounded by poor, or among prosperous nations, even if we never reach excessive wealth," Diaz Ordaz said in a speech to a joint session of Congress.

Wealthy countries can wipe out poverty only by abandoning the goal of "the highest profits in the shortest time," he said.

The visiting president received a big ovation from a capacity crowd when he entered the House chamber. Speaker John W. McCormack introduced him as "the distinguished representative of a people for whom we hold high regard and warm friendship."

President Johnson was not present for the speech, due to a commitment to attend dedication ceremonies on Theodore Roosevelt Island in the Potomac.

The Mexican leader and his wife were greeted with a 21-gun salute yesterday and later honored at a gay black-tie White House dinner.

The largely ceremonial visit winds up early Saturday when the two Presidents fly together to El Paso, Tex., for the formal transfer of the Chamizal territory, a long-disputed area of a few acres on the border with Juarez, from the United States to Mexico.

Yesterday afternoon Johnson and Diaz Ordaz received honorary degrees from the Texas Technological College of Lubbock, Tex., in a Rose Garden ceremony. Officials said they believed it was the first time two presidents were so honored at the White House.

Marijuana Trouble For Brewery Heir

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Carl A. Miller, 23, heir of a Milwaukee brewing fortune, was placed on three years probation yesterday and fined $150 for possession of marijuana.

Miller, a College of San Mateo student, is the son of Frederick C. Miller, former president of the Miller Brewing Co. who was killed in a plane crash in 1954.

favor of the firing Wednesday.

Cary, while praising Mrs. Lacey as an "excellent" and "very dedicated" worker, said the board believed her disclosures to the press "injudicious."

Asked whether the board would have fired Mrs. Lacey solely on the strength of her affidavit, Cary said: "I don't know. I don't know whether that ever would have come out."

A call for the poverty worker's dismissal was issued last week by Mrs. Stanley R. Frederick of Lagunitas at a meeting of a San Geronimo Valley group surveying poverty in the area.

"She says she's paying $10 a lid (for marijuana) and she gets the money from the economic opportunity council," Mrs. Frederick objected.

Mrs. Lacey, who has been working with the poor in the Fairfax-San Geronimo Valley area, said EOC board members had expressed concern before Wednesday's meeting that she was a "law-breaker and would lose the respect of constituents" as a result of her remarks.

"But most of the persons I work with have told me they regret what has happened and were apologetic," Mrs. Lacey said.

She said she would appeal to the EOC board for a new hearing.

federal census of the state is taken first. In addition, it says that no members shall be required to run at large.

According to Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee, the bill amounts to a "strong admonition" which the courts hopefully will heed but may ignore.

He said 17 states could be affected by the bill, among them California which along with Indiana and New Jersey are a court order to redistrict.

"I'm quite sure the courts would follow the lead of Congress," Celler said.

But in rural areas, particularly in the Middle West and South, the overwhelming preference is still for the traditional funeral with its public viewing of the body, religious service and public burial.

Auto Is Stolen

Window Vandalism

Youths wielding BB guns shot holes in windows in at least 15 businesses in the Francisco Boulevard - Irwin Street area last night, San Rafael police said. Some windows were punctured with up to five pellets, police reported.

Cities Taking Some Action On Green Belting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cities and towns across the nation, while becoming more and more densely populated, are acting to preserve more open space for recreational use, according to the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Nearly 100 square miles of open land were acquired by 419 communities in the year ended June 30 under a program financed through the department.

The more than 63,000 acres, costing $52.7 million, brought to 230,000 acres the land acquired since the program of matching grants was begun in 1961.

Communities in 39 states received grants in the past fiscal year.

Pennsylvania received the largest number, with 66 grants totaling more than $4.5 million for 19,602 acres.

California received the largest amount in funds — $10.6 million — which represented 54 grants and the acquisition of 9,132 acres.

Television Stolen From Unlocked Home

An intruder entered the unlocked front door at the home of William F. Duff at 8 Glenaire Drive yesterday and carted off a $250 television, $100 radio and a $75 watch from bedrooms, San Rafael police said.

Mrs. Anna M. Duff, gone from the home three hours, discovered the theft at 2:45 p.m.

$9.3 Million Rec Policy Is Viewed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Recreation Commission considered a $9.3 million program today to aid local projects with state and federal money.

About $2.4 million of the money comes from 1964 state park bond act funds.

DESERT

Once caught, the men are returned to their units and a trial by court-martial.

Most deserters serve their sentences in a stockade in Vietnam and then are sent back to their units to complete their one-year tours in the war zone. Sentences served in the stockade are considered "bad time" which doesn't count toward either the 12-month Vietnam service period or the time required for discharge.

The police source said no deserters are known to have escaped from Vietnam. This would require considerable money to get a fake passport and be smuggled out of the country.

South Trying Military Chief

SAIGON (UPI)—For the first time the South Vietnam government today put on trial one of its powerful province chiefs on corruption charges.

Lt. Col. Tran Dinh Vong, 49, and 14 alleged accomplices were led into a special military court in handcuffs as their wives and mothers wept.

Vong, ousted last month as chief of heavily populated coastal Binh Dinh province, was the first of the nation's 44 province chiefs to face such charges—which on conviction can bring the death penalty.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy has extended her trip to Cambodia to 18 days and added Rome to her itinerary, her office announced today.

COMBINED AP & UPI

PORT TAUFIG, Israeli Held Sanai — An Israeli commander to day reported a gradual buildup of Arab forces on the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal.

He estimated there were thousands of Egyptian, Algerian, Kuwaiti and Sudanese soldiers along the tense 107-mile waterway that forms the cease-fire line after the June war.

An Arab force, equipped with large numbers of trunks and artillery pieces, was said to be within 12 miles of the Egyptian port of Suez, where thin columns of gray smoke still rose from oil refineries and storage tanks blasted by Israeli guns three days ago.

The once-bustling city of Suez with its tree-lined Port Ibraham, the city's waterfront quarter, 120 yards across the canal from Israeli guns, appeared deserted.

But the commander, a colonel in charge of Israeli forces in the area, said Egyptian gunners were still there. He said that in their nervousness, they were spraying the Israeli-held east shore with brief and ineffectual bursts of machine gun and cannon fire almost every day.

There were no shooting incidents along the canal this morning but official sources said the Egyptians fired on the east bank twice Thursday, neither time causing any casualties or drawing any retaliatory fire.

The commander said forces on the Egyptian side had been slowly building up since the June cease-fire. The Algerian, the Kuwaitis and the Sudanese soldiers have been identified by their uniforms he added.

Meanwhile, eight Soviet warships arrived today in Alexandria and Port Said in a demonstration of solidarity with Egypt.

Egyptian sources in Cairo called the visit a "good will" one but they expressed hope presence of the Russian ships only a few miles from Israeli positions along the Suez Canal would deter any further Israeli "aggression" in the area.

A military spokesman in Jerusalem said two Arab infiltrators armed with Soviet-made weapons were killed by an Israeli Army patrol in a predawn skirmish today.

Arrival of the Soviet warships coincided with warnings in both Cairo and Jerusalem that peace in the Middle East was far off and with press reports in Beirut, Lebanon, that Russia would supply more missiles to Egypt.

From the United Nations a drafting team of the U.N. Security Council was reported near agreement on a plan aimed at opening the way to a permanent settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The 10 nonpermanent members of the 15-nation council were to put the final touches to a proposal to send a special U.N. representative to the Middle East.

The drafting team consists of six of the 10 elected council members—India, Argentina, Brazil, Nigeria, Ethiopia and Mali.

Delegates predicted that the full 10-member group would firm up a resolution in time for the council to act on it next week.

Mexico's Plea For Benefits To Mankind

WASHINGTON (API) —Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz today urged the world's richer nations to sacrifice profits in the interest of "socially minded investments" benefitting all mankind.

"Mankind must decide whether it is fairer and more convenient to live in opulence surrounded by poor, or among prosperous nations, even if we never reach excessive wealth," Diaz Ordaz said in a speech to a joint session of Congress.

Wealthy countries can wipe out poverty only by abandoning the goal of "the highest profits in the shortest time," he said.

The visiting president received a big ovation from a capacity crowd when he entered the House chamber. Speaker John W. McCormack introduced him as "the distinguished representative of a people for whom we hold high regard and warm friendship."

President Johnson was not present for the speech, due to a commitment to attend dedication ceremonies on Theodore Roosevelt Island in the Potomac.

The Mexican leader and his wife were greeted with a 21-gun salute yesterday and later honored at a gay black-tie White House dinner.

The largely ceremonial visit winds up early Saturday when the two Presidents fly together to El Paso, Tex., for the formal transfer of the Chamizal territory, a long-disputed area of a few acres on the border with Juarez, from the United States to Mexico.

Yesterday afternoon Johnson and Diaz Ordaz received honorary degrees from the Texas Technological College of Lubbock, Tex., in a Rose Garden ceremony. Officials said they believed it was the first time two presidents were so honored at the White House.

Marijuana Trouble For Brewery Heir

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Carl A. Miller, 23, heir of a Milwaukee brewing fortune, was placed on three years probation yesterday and fined $150 for possession of marijuana.

Miller, a College of San Mateo student, is the son of Frederick C. Miller, former president of the Miller Brewing Co. who was killed in a plane crash in 1954.

Indian Chief Ready For Retirement

CHEROKEE, N.C. (UPI)—Jarrett B. Blythe, principal chief of the Cherokee Indians of western North Carolina since 1931, retired recently.

favor of the firing Wednesday.

Cary, while praising Mrs. Lacey as an "excellent" and "very dedicated" worker, said the board believed her disclosures to the press "injudicious."

Asked whether the board would have fired Mrs. Lacey solely on the strength of her affidavit, Cary said: "I don't know. I don't know whether that ever would have come out."

A call for the poverty worker's dismissal was issued last week by Mrs. Stanley R. Frederick of Lagunitas at a meeting of a San Geronimo Valley group surveying poverty in the area.

"She says she's paying $10 a lid (for marijuana) and she gets the money from the economic opportunity council," Mrs. Frederick objected.

Mrs. Lacey, who has been working with the poor in the Fairfax-San Geronimo Valley area, said EOC board members had expressed concern before Wednesday's meeting that she was a "law-breaker and would lose the respect of constituents" as a result of her remarks.

"But most of the persons I work with have told me they regret what has happened and were apologetic," Mrs. Lacey said.

She said she would appeal to the EOC board for a new hearing.

federal census of the state is taken first. In addition, it says that no members shall be required to run at large.

According to Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee, the bill amounts to a "strong admonition" which the courts hopefully will heed but may ignore.

He said 17 states could be affected by the bill, among them California which along with Indiana and New Jersey are a court order to redistrict.

"I'm quite sure the courts would follow the lead of Congress," Celler said.

Marinite Is Seeking Reduction Of Charge

I-J Special Report

SUSANVILLE — A San Rafael woman, accused of the shooting death of her husband near here Oct. 14, asked yesterday for reduction of the charge against her from second degree murder to manslaughter.

Judge Aubrey C. Bieber of the Westwood-Honey Lake Judicial Court said he would rule on the request of Mrs. Jenny McDowell, 27, at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Lassen County Dist. Atty. Harold L. Abbott said he would submit written arguments contesting the reduction by Monday.

A second degree murder conviction carries a jail term of five years to life; manslaughter, one to 10 years.

Mrs. McDowell, of 410 Prospect Drive, is accused of killing her husband, Robert, 35, a building contractor, in a tent during the couple's deer hunting trip 65 miles north of here.

A preliminary hearing on the second degree charge opened yesterday before Bieber. Lassen County Undersheriff Del Gorbet testified Mrs. McDowell told him she shot her husband with an M-1 rifle when he became abusive while drinking.

Gorbet also quoted Mrs. McDowell as saying she had intended merely to shoot her husband in the leg to repel him.

Mrs. McDowell is represented by Mrs. Paula Tennant, a court-appointed attorney from Susanville.

The Pacific coast may have been the first site for conifer forests because it has more different kinds of cone-bearing trees than anywhere else in the world.

Plea Is Today On Marijuana

A 19-year-old transient, Brian Leslie Berry, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of marijuana possession. Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon.

Berry and a companion, Thomas Michael Mullaney, 20, were arrested by Sausalito police after the manager of Del Monte Hotel complained they were trespassing in an unrented apartment. Police said Berry threw a cellophane bag believed to contain marijuana out a window.

NAACP Unit Leader Demands Reagan Slap

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The local chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is calling for prosecution of Gov. Ronald Reagan for publicly releasing a White House message which was delivered to him by mistake.

Ray Taliaferro called on the government to make an arrest. Otherwise, he said a representative of the NAACP would attempt a citizen's arrest.

"The governor is always talking about law and order and crime in the streets," Taliaferro said. "We think the law applies equally to him."

The incident he referred to occurred during a week. President Johnson's appointment secretary sent a message to former Texas Gov. Price Daniel during an unsuccessful effort to have the governors pass a resolution support of Vietnam policy.

In a mixup, the message was given to Reagan and he made the contents public.

Green Belt Area Will Be Maintained As A Preserve

Ross Town Council last night accepted an exclusive easement to an "Open Space - Forest Preserve" in a 12-acre subdivision off Goodhill Road by Kent Woodlands Properties Inc.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the green belt "was a generous offer" which would enable the city to maintain the scenic beauty of the hill.

The green-belt area, about six acres, lies on the west slope of the ridge between Kentfield and Ross. Under provisions of the agreement, structures would be banned and trees couldn't be removed without permission of the city council.

The Ross Town Council Also:

CATV SERVICE — Charged that Tele-Vue Systems has fallen behind on its schedule for installing a community antenna television system and authorized Town Atty. Robert W. Elliott to notify the firm.

ROSS COMMON — Renewed the city's agreement with the Ross School District for maintenance of Ross Common with the city to pay 40 per cent of the costs and the school district 60 per cent.

HILLSIDE LOT — Approved an application by Peter W. Fisher to construct a house on a hillside lot at 445 Lagunitas Road.

GAS TAX BUDGET—Adopted a state gasoline tax revenue budget of $11,164 for street maintenance.

ILLEGAL SIGNS—Authorized Elliott to take whatever action necessary to have Jean's Kitchen, 9 Poplar Drive, remove its advertising sign atop an automobile and its A-frame at the restaurant.

NEXT MEETING—Adjourned until 8 p.m. Nov. 9 at Town Hall.

Banned Sect Group Escapes

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP(— Alice Lenshina and other leaders of the banned Lumpa sect have escaped from the remote camp where they were sent after Lumpa uprisings killed 700 persons in 1964, President Kenneth Kaunda announced today.

Fanatical members of the Lumpa sect waged a "holy war" on the government three years ago, charging Kaunda's United National Independence party was interfering with the sect activities.

Police sources said security at the camp where Mrs. Lenshina, 43, her family and several Lumpa sect lieutenants had been kept was not strict.

Watches Stolen

Three watches valued at a total of $86, a class ring, two empty wallets and two savings account bank books were stolen in a burglary at the William H. Canavan residence, 80 Nelson Avenue, Mill Valley police reported today.

Water Skiing Record Made

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UII) — French adventurer Jean Pierre Marquant, who set one of the world's weird records by hiking across California's Death Valley in the heat of July, claimed another yesterday for water skiing 180 miles from Tahiti to Bora Bora—on one ski.

Federal gendarmes in this French Polynesian center said he made the trip in an unofficial time of seven hours and five minutes, about three hours less than he had anticipated.

Gendarmes said Marquant, 25, was "quite tired" but in fair condition after the rough journey over the choppy Pacific.

Volunteers For Police Duty Sought

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the reserve force is "down to four and we would like to build it up to eight or 10."

The reserves work with the regular police department under the direction of Police Chief John F. Harris, Allen said.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens, residents of Ross, males in good health from 21 to 50 years of age, free of criminal record, able to serve at least eight hours a month, and able to purchase uniform and equipment.

Those accepted will undergo a training program, and upon completion will be sworn in as reserve police officers, Allen reported.

Those interested should write to Chief Harris or Asst. Chief Alexander Mendoza, not telephone, the mayor said.

Strikes Urged If Escalation Of War Made

DETROIT (AP) —A study group at the Conference on Church and Society has urged calling of a general strike, picketing and boycotts if the United States escalates the Vietnam war.

The recommendations were made yesterday in a report prepared by a Vietnam study group of the conference, which was sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

If escalation of the war occurs, the report said, religious leaders in America should call upon "people of faith" to support a day-long general strike. The four-day conference ended yesterday.

Escalation was defined as the use of nuclear weapons, land invasion of North Vietnam, intentional direct military offensive action against Red China, and the bombing of the major Red River dikes in North Vietnam.

Ross Council Delays Any Rentals Decision

With the deadline for outlawing non-conforming rental units approaching, Ross Town Council last night assured owners that the door is ajar for "hardship cases."

The city is scheduled to enforce its ordinance which makes the units illegal next February and the Ross Property Rights Association is seeking to extend the deadline.

AN EXTENSION?

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said there could be variances granted for those who have hardship.

He suggested that the council extend the deadline six month to give owners time to seek variances and the council time to review them.

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones suggested that the owners file for variances from now until February.

The council made no decision, but forwarded both suggestions to Town Atty. Robert W. Elliott and Atty. Julius H. Selinger, representing the owners of 41 parcels involved.

VIEW MATTER

With Selinger and Elliott absent from the meeting, the council and several residents discussed the matter.

Mayor Allen said that each case should be examined separately.

Several residents noted that enforcement would create a hardship for some of the older residents of the town.

Councilmen agreed that there are some "hardship cases" and the variance procedure is available to them.

Allen said rumors have been "going around" that the town plans to demolish the non-conforming buildings in February. "Demolition hasn't been considered," he said.

The council continued the matter until its next meeting at 8 p.m. Nov. 9 at Town Hall.

Explosion Of Atlas Missile

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—An Atlas F missile launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base at 6:10 a.m. PDT exploded shortly after rising from the launching pad, the Air Force said.

Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

The missile was launched toward the Western Test Range in the Pacific Ocean.

There was no further elaboration.

Rome To Crackdown On Traffic Jams

ROME (AP) — Rome's government is going to take another crack at the auto congestion which has turned the Eternal City's narrow streets into an eternal traffic jam.

They will ban automobile parking in a wide center city area from the Tiber to the ancient walls from Dec. 1 through Jan. 15. If the experiment works, the ban will be made permanent.

The three door sedan.
This Volkswagen has a door on the left to let in the driver. (That's one.) A door on the right to let in the passengers. (That's two.) And a door in the back which is like the tailgate of a conventional wagon. (That's the third, and do you need any more than that?)
To look at it, you'd swear our Squareback is a station wagon. But it really isn't.
Why? Well for one thing it doesn't cost like one. For another, it doesn't park like one. (The Squareback is only six inches longer than the bug. But has three times the storage capacity.)
And since it's a Volkswagen you can be pretty sure it'll use about half as much gasoline as the average wagon. (Our Squareback gets up to 27 miles per gallon.)
So if you're trying to decide between a station wagon and a sedan, why not get the best of two worlds? Buy the sedan that looks like a station wagon.

Ross Town Council last night accepted an exclusive easement to an "Open Space - Forest Preserve" in a 12-acre subdivision off Goodhill Road by Kent Woodlands Properties Inc.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the green belt "was a generous offer" which would enable the city to maintain the scenic beauty of the hill.

The green-belt area, about six acres, lies on the west slope of the ridge between Kentfield and Ross. Under provisions of the agreement, structures would be banned and trees couldn't be removed without permission of the city council.

The Ross Town Council Also:

CATV SERVICE — Charged that Tele-Vue Systems has fallen behind on its schedule for installing a community antenna television system and authorized Town Atty. Robert W. Elliott to notify the firm.

ROSS COMMON — Renewed the city's agreement with the Ross School District for maintenance of Ross Common with the city to pay 40 per cent of the costs and the school district 60 per cent.

HILLSIDE LOT — Approved an application by Peter W. Fisher to construct a house on a hillside lot at 445 Lagunitas Road.

GAS TAX BUDGET—Adopted a state gasoline tax revenue budget of $11,164 for street maintenance.

ILLEGAL SIGNS—Authorized Elliott to take whatever action necessary to have Jean's Kitchen, 9 Poplar Drive, remove its advertising sign atop an automobile and its A-frame at the restaurant.

NEXT MEETING—Adjourned until 8 p.m. Nov. 9 at Town Hall.

Banned Sect Group Escapes

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP(— Alice Lenshina and other leaders of the banned Lumpa sect have escaped from the remote camp where they were sent after Lumpa uprisings killed 700 persons in 1964, President Kenneth Kaunda announced today.

The cabinet held an emergency meeting today on the matter.

Fanatical members of the Lumpa sect waged a "holy war" on the government three years ago, charging Kaunda's United National Independence party was interfering with the sect activities.

Police sources said security at the camp where Mrs. Lenshina, 43, her family and several Lumpa sect lieutenants had been kept was not strict.

Water Skiing Record Made

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UII) — French adventurer Jean Pierre Marquant, who set one of the world's weird records by hiking across California's Death Valley in the heat of July, claimed another yesterday for water skiing 180 miles from Tahiti to Bora Bora—on one ski.

Federal gendarmes in this French Polynesian center said he made the trip in an unofficial time of seven hours and five minutes, about three hours less than he had anticipated.

Gendarmes said Marquant, 25, was "quite tired" but in fair condition after the rough journey over the choppy Pacific.

Volunteers For Police Duty Sought

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the reserve force is "down to four and we would like to build it up to eight or 10."

The reserves work with the regular police department under the direction of Police Chief John F. Harris, Allen said.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens, residents of Ross, males in good health from 21 to 50 years of age, free of criminal record, able to serve at least eight hours a month, and able to purchase uniform and equipment.

Those accepted will undergo a training program, and upon completion will be sworn in as reserve police officers, Allen reported.

Those interested should write to Chief Harris or Asst. Chief Alexander Mendoza, not telephone, the mayor said.

Strikes Urged If Escalation Of War Made

DETROIT (AP) —A study group at the Conference on Church and Society has urged calling of a general strike, picketing and boycotts if the United States escalates the Vietnam war.

The recommendations were made yesterday in a report prepared by a Vietnam study group of the conference, which was sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

If escalation of the war occurs, the report said, religious leaders in America should call upon "people of faith" to support a day-long general strike. The four-day conference ended yesterday.

Escalation was defined as the use of nuclear weapons, land invasion of North Vietnam, intentional direct military offensive action against Red China, and the bombing of the major Red River dikes in North Vietnam.

Ross Council Delays Any Rentals Decision

With the deadline for outlawing non-conforming rental units approaching, Ross Town Council last night assured owners that the door is ajar for "hardship cases."

The city is scheduled to enforce its ordinance which makes the units illegal next February and the Ross Property Rights Association is seeking to extend the deadline.

AN EXTENSION?

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said there could be variances granted for those who have hardship.

He suggested that the council extend the deadline six month to give owners time to seek variances and the council time to review them.

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones suggested that the owners file for variances from now until February.

The council made no decision, but forwarded both suggestions to Town Atty. Robert W. Elliott and Atty. Julius H. Selinger, representing the owners of 41 parcels involved.

VIEW MATTER

With Selinger and Elliott absent from the meeting, the council and several residents discussed the matter.

Mayor Allen said that each case should be examined separately.

Several residents noted that enforcement would create a hardship for some of the older residents of the town.

Councilmen agreed that there are some "hardship cases" and the variance procedure is available to them.

Allen said rumors have been "going around" that the town plans to demolish the non-conforming buildings in February. "Demolition hasn't been considered," he said.

The council continued the matter until its next meeting at 8 p.m. Nov. 9 at Town Hall.

Explosion Of Atlas Missile

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—An Atlas F missile launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base at 6:10 a.m. PDT exploded shortly after rising from the launching pad, the Air Force said.

Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

The missile was launched toward the Western Test Range in the Pacific Ocean.

There was no further elaboration.

Rome To Crackdown On Traffic Jams

ROME (AP) — Rome's government is going to take another crack at the auto congestion which has turned the Eternal City's narrow streets into an eternal traffic jam.

They will ban automobile parking in a wide center city area from the Tiber to the ancient walls from Dec. 1 through Jan. 15. If the experiment works, the ban will be made permanent.

The three door sedan.

© VOLKSWAGEN OF AMERICA, INC.

This Volkswagen has a door on the left to let in the driver. (That's one.) A door on the right to let in the passengers. (That's two.) And a door in the back which is like the tailgate of a conventional wagon. (That's the third, and do you need any more than that?)

To look at it, you'd swear our Squareback is a station wagon. But it really isn't.

Why? Well for one thing it doesn't cost like one. For another, it doesn't park like one. (The Squareback is only six inches longer than the bug. But has three times the storage capacity.)

And since it's a Volkswagen you can be pretty sure it'll use about half as much gasoline as the average wagon. (Our Squareback gets up to 27 miles per gallon.)

So if you're trying to decide between a station wagon and a sedan, why not get the best of two worlds? Buy the sedan that looks like a station wagon.

NOT SO VERY OLD

This is not a house of the future, but a building in Chicago's Marina City complex which houses a television station. Warren Ouster Drive Shelved

NORWALK (UPI)—The John Birch Society has shelved its "Impeach Earl Warren" campaign because of lack of support.

Robert Welch, founder and president of the anti-Communist organization, said yesterday night the campaign to impeach the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court was not receiving sufficient support across the nation.

He said the project was dropped so the society could concentrate all its attention on the war in Vietnam. Welch appeared at a fund-raising dinner here.

$375 In Rings Reported Stolen

Rings worth $375, cash totalling $29 and an undetermined amount of costume jewelry were stolen yesterday from the home of Ernest J. Russo of 7 Chickasaw Court, Corte Madera, police reported today.

No Simple Decision Held On Highway 17

The routing of Highway 17, the east-west connection between Highway 101 and West Marin, is so complex that no simple decision is possible, the Marin Citizens Transportation Committee decided last night at a meeting at Civic Center.

Chairman Raymond Ryason of San Anselmo announced that his committee will discuss the Highway 17 routing again on Nov. 30, when the committee meets in Civic Center at 7:30 p.m. Ryason said he hopes to have county planner Rowland Darnell speak to his group on the county's road system and on "Balanced Transportation System" for the county.

Mrs. Anne West reported on a plan proposed by a Novato pool salesman to revamp the Greyhound Bus service in Marin. Edward Marnell of 15 Balra Drive, Novato, has drawn up a plan for improved and speedier bus service by using exclusive express buses for those with monthly commute tickets.

Dirty Taxi Trick

MONOSQUE, France (UPI)—"Your tire is flat," the passenger told taxi driver Joseph Berard. Berard stopped his cab and got out to look. The passenger slid over and drove off leaving Berard stranded several miles from town.

Shotguns, Rifle Taken From Home

Two shotguns, a rifle and household furniture were taken in a daylight burglary Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Clayton, 420 Belle Avenue, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Items taken included a portable typewriter, portable telecision set, portable phonograph, tape recorder and a four-piece silver set, police reported. There was no value listed. The burglary occurred sometime between 8:40 a.m. and 3:10 a.m., police said.

Marin Transit Woes Held Election Issue

Transportation will be an issue in next year's supervisorial election, it appeared from a candidates' night held last night in Mill Valley.

Speaking to about 60 members of the Mill Valley Association of University Women were the three announced candidates for supervisor from the Third District, Margaret Azavedo and Ben A. Farlatti of Tiburon and Michael Wornum of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Azevedo urged that Marinites refrain from adding any more cars to Highway 101 or a second deck to Golden Gate Bridge but rather put funds into public transit systems and studies of new types of public transportation now being developed.

Mrs. Azevedo, who is a county planning commissioner, also discussed growth problems in Marin, saying that a "bonus" system which would give developers added density if their projects were of high quality is the best way to protect the county from poor developments.

Wornum, a Mill Valley councilman, also advocated "sophistacated traffic analysis" which he said could be partly financed with the money now "spent on Cadillac limousines and Sacramento lobbyists" by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Farlatti, owner of Tiburon Lodge, who did not discuss transportation, described Marin as "big business" and said that business can't be run by emotionalism. He accused supervisors of failure to make decisions when confronted by "hot potatoes" and said that decisions must be made even if unfavorable to some segments of the county. He did not specify any "hot potatoes."

He also advocated encouraging tourism and industry to come to Marin to widen the tax base.

Coin Collection Reported Stolen

Disappearance of a collection of 50-cent pieces, including many Kennedy half-dollars, was reported to the Tiburon sheriff's substation yesterday by Mrs. Ethel E. Norand, Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon.

Mrs. Norand, who says the coins were worth over $50, kept them on a shelf in her bedroom closet. The straw bag in which they had been placed was empty except for a Mexican centavo.

Extradition In Girl's Slaying

LIMERICK, Ireland (AP) — A 38-year-old Englishmen, Barry Michael Ashington, was today ordered extradited to Edinburgh on a charge of murdering a girl believed to be a 19-year-old American.

Ashington, also known as Dean Baldwin, was formally accused of assaulting a person believed to be Anita Kathryn Harris of Eureka, Calif., by strangling and murdering her at an Edinburgh municipal camping site between Aug. 31 and Sept. 8.

Ashington, wearing a full beard, a long white sweater, gray check shirt, black tie and gray trousers, smiled as the charge was read out.

Marinites In Ceremony At Presidio

Retirement ceremonies on the main parade ground of the Presidio of San Francisco this afternoon were to honor five Marin residents among a group of 21 leaving Army service.

On hand to receive retirement honors were to be Col. Karl Conner of 574 Blackberry Lane and Lt. Col. Frederick W. Ulrich of 990 Idylberry Road, both Lucas Valley, both of whom completed their military service with Headquarters, Sixth Army.

Also being retired, but not planning to attend the parade, were:

Lt. Col. Mildred L. Faser of 660 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, assigned to Letterman General Hospital; Maj. Corneille L. Church of 29 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, Headquarters Sixth Army, and M/Sgt. Robert J. Foreman of 765 Sun Lane, Novato, Presidio Army Garrison.

Ambulance Operators Held Favoring Keeping Of Sirens

Marin County ambulance operators and law enforcement agencies are almost solidly in favor of retaining sirens and lights for emergency ambulances, according to Timothy M. Jackson, administrative analyst for the county.

The question was raised last Tuesday by Dr. W. Allen Conroy of Corte Madera, who suggested that ambulances be taken off the emergency category because accidents caused by speeding ambulances cause more injuries than they save.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors referred the matter to the administrator's office for investigation.

Jackson disclosed today that he got this concensus from officials of United, Doctor's and Kinney ambulances in the county:

Sirens and lights on emergency ambulances are absolutely necessary in a real emergency, especially on two-way roads like Black Point cutoff. The need for sirens and lights is more acute at night when motorists cannot see ambulances approaching.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and officials of the California Highway Patrol also support the use of sirens and lights, Jackson reported.

Bel Marin Keys Owners Elect

Officers for next year were nominated last night at the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Association meeting.

Nominated were Richard D. Roberts for president; Mrs. William J. Treber for vice president; Mrs. A. M. Telegin for secretary; Allen B. Hutchins for treasurer.

Nominated to the board of directors were A. H. Allen, Carl H. Wandt and Ralph A. White.

Members will meet at 8 p.m. Nov. 30 at the Bell Marin Keys Community Center to elect officers, acting president James C. Hudson reported.

Transportation will be an issue in next year's supervisorial election, it appeared from a candidates' night held last night in Mill Valley.

Speaking to about 60 members of the Mill Valley Association of University Women were the three announced candidates for supervisor from the Third District, Margaret Azavedo and Ben A. Farlatti of Tiburon and Michael Wornum of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Azevedo urged that Marinites refrain from adding any more cars to Highway 101 or a second deck to Golden Gate Bridge but rather put funds into public transit systems and studies of new types of public transportation now being developed.

Mrs. Azevedo, who is a county planning commissioner, also discussed growth problems in Marin, saying that a "bonus" system which would give developers added density if their projects were of high quality is the best way to protect the county from poor developments.

Wornum, a Mill Valley councilman, also advocated "sophistacated traffic analysis" which he said could be partly financed with the money now "spent on Cadillac limousines and Sacramento lobbyists" by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Farlatti, owner of Tiburon Lodge, who did not discuss transportation, described Marin as "big business" and said that business can't be run by emotionalism. He accused supervisors of failure to make decisions when confronted by "hot potatoes" and said that decisions must be made even if unfavorable to some segments of the county. He did not specify any "hot potatoes."

He also advocated encouraging tourism and industry to come to Marin to widen the tax base.

Coin Collection Reported Stolen

Disappearance of a collection of 50-cent pieces, including many Kennedy half-dollars, was reported to the Tiburon sheriff's substation yesterday by Mrs. Ethel E. Norand, Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon.

Mrs. Norand, who says the coins were worth over $50, kept them on a shelf in her bedroom closet. The straw bag in which they had been placed was empty except for a Mexican centavo.

Extradition In Girl's Slaying

LIMERICK, Ireland (AP) — A 38 - year - old Englishmen, Barry Michael Ashington, was today ordered extradited to Edinburgh on a charge of murdering a girl believed to be a 19-year-old American.

Ashington, also known as Dean Baldwin, was formally accused of assaulting a person believed to be Anita Kathryn Harris of Eureka, Calif., by strangling and murdering her at an Edinburgh municipal camping site between Aug. 31 and Sept. 8.

Ashington, wearing a full beard, a long white sweater, gray check shirt, black tie and gray trousers, smiled as the charge was read out.

Marinites In Ceremony At Presidio

Retirement ceremonies on the main parade ground of the Presidio of San Francisco this afternoon were to honor five Marin residents among a group of 21 leaving Army service.

On hand to receive retirement honors were to be Col. Karl Conner of 574 Blackberry Lane and Lt. Col. Frederick W. Ulrich of 990 Idylberry Road, both Lucas Valley, both of whom completed their military service with Headquarters, Sixth Army.

Also being retired, but not planning to attend the parade, were:

Lt. Col. Mildred L. Faser of 660 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, assigned to Letterman General Hospital; Maj. Corneille L. Church of 29 Sonora Way, Corte Madera, Headquarters Sixth Army, and M/Sgt. Robert J. Foreman of 765 Sun Lane, Novato, Presidio Army Garrison.

Old And New

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (UPI)—Tiny George Allen Myers, son of Mrs. and Mrs. George Myers, wore an 111-year-old dress for his christening. The dress was made by the baby's great-great-great grandmother.

Ambulance Operators Held Favoring Keeping Of Sirens

Marin County ambulance operators and law enforcement agencies are almost solidly in favor of retaining sirens and lights for emergency ambulances, according to Timothy M. Jackson, administrative analyst for the county.

The question was raised last Tuesday by Dr. W. Allen Conroy of Corte Madera, who suggested that ambulances be taken off the emergency category because accidents caused by speeding ambulances cause more injuries than they save.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors referred the matter to the administrator's office for investigation.

Jackson disclosed today that he got this concensus from officials of United, Doctor's and Kinney ambulances in the county:

Sirens and lights on emergency ambulances are absolutely necessary in a real emergency, especially on two-way roads like Black Point cutoff. The need for sirens and lights is more acute at night when motorists cannot see ambulances approaching.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and officials of the California Highway Patrol also support the use of sirens and lights, Jackson reported.

Bel Marin Keys Owners Elect

Nominated were Richard D. Roberts for president; Mrs. William J. Treber for vice president; Mrs. A. M. Telegin for secretary; Allen B. Hutchins for treasurer.

Nominated to the board of directors were A. H. Allen, Carl H. Wandt and Ralph A. White.

Moving Day Postponed In Fairfax

Fairfax seventh and eighth grades probably will not move into the new White Hill School until after Christmas holidays, Supt. H. Reginald Hammond reported to Fairfax School District trustees last night.

Completion of the new school was scheduled for Dec. 3, but Hammond reported some delays have been encountered.

The board approved an application for $42,000 in state funds for library materials at the new school. The library will form the instruction center of the five-classroom school, to which seventh and eighth grades will move from Central School.

The delay in the move will also mean that children in crowded classes at Manor and Deer Park schools will not move until after Christmas to Central School, which will become a kindergarten-sixth grade school.

Trustees approved contracting with Modulux, Inc., for coat racks and canopies for four portable classroom buildings which the district will buy from Modulux. The buildings have heretofore been rented. The coat racks and canopies will cost $840, Hammond said.

All trustees were present.

Minor Injuries From Accident

A 19-year-old Mill Valley girl suffered minor injuries yesterday when her car hit the rear of a truck on Highway 101, three miles north of the Novato city limits.

Linda C. McKelvoy of 424 Molino Avenue said she would see her physician for a sore shoulder. The truck driver, John H. Bates of Riverside, was unhurt.

The accident happened in the northbound lanes at 10:50 a.m., the California Highway Patrol said.

Radio Officer Says Message Route Wrong

NEW YORK (AP)—The suspended chief radio officer of the National Governors Conference cruise liner says a White House radiogram that fell into the hands of Gov. Reagan of California was apparently routed by mistake.

The radioman, Charles Berger, denied in a written statement yesterday any conscious error on his part in the mixup aboard the liner Independence on Oct. 18.

'I AM SHOCKED'

"I am shocked," Berger said, "that the ethical makeup of Gov. Reagan and his staff did not prevent them from doing what any decent person who receives someone else's correspondence would do: return it to the person without delay and never breathe a word about it."

Berger was suspended pending investigation when the American Export Isbrandtsen liner, which took 45 governors to the Virgin Islands, returned here last Tuesday.

He said he gave a bellboy copies of two different messages—one for Reagan and one from the White House addressed to former Texas Gov. Price Daniel.

BOTH COPIES

"Apparently Gov. Reagan received both Xeroxed copied messages," Berger said. "How I cannot tell."

The message to Daniel was about tactics to be used in seeking a declaration by the governors in support of the administration's Vietnam policy. The message stiffened Republican opposition to the move, and there was no such declaration.

Berger said in his statement: "I am fully aware of my legal and ethical responsibilities to maintain the secrecy of communications."

Explosion Rips A Union Hall

SPARKS, Nev. (AP)—An explosion blew the second floor office of a Sparks union hall yesterday less than a half hour after a union meeting — and police think it was man caused.

The blast ripped through the Laborers International Union of North America Local 169. One policeman said he heard it a mile away.

Twenty-five firemen searched debris throughout the building, but found nothing. No injuries were reported. There was no fire.

Police Chief Robert Galli said the blast was "probably man-made." But the exact cause was not immediately determined. Officers restricted entry into the area.

Bank Robbers, Shoot, Kill Two Policemen

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two policemen were shot to death today during the robbery of a bank in a violence-scarred suburb. The robbers included a woman armed with a machine gun.

The woman and another man apparently eluded police. Another man believed to have been in the robbery gang was seriously wounded in the gun battle.

Two cars were reported used in the holdup of the Northlake Bank. A car bullet-riddled and bloodstained was reported found in a nearby suburb. Police said they did not know if this car was used in the robbery.

State police were reported pursuing a car, resembling one of the getaway cars, near O'Hare Airport. O'Hare is about six miles north of Northlake, which is about 13 miles west and slightly north of Chicago's Loop.

Northlake long has been known as a suburb of violence. Three years ago a man who ran for village president was badly beaten by thugs wielding baseball bats. By coincidence, a federal grand jury was scheduled to begin deliberations today in an alleged extortion plot involving the Northlake mayor and two aldermen.

The dead policemen were identified as John J. Nagle, 31, a detective sergeant, and Anthony P. Perri, 41, a patrolman.

Another policeman, identified as Ernie Huestadt, was shot. He was taken to Elmhurst Memorial Hospital with head wounds.

Two of the bank windows had been shot out. There was a large pool of blood in the parking lot next to the bank entrance.

The wounded man was taken to Northlake Community Hospital. A spokesman there said he was in critical condition.

All police departments in the area began an intense search for the wounded man's companions. Roads in the area were barricaded.

Shortly before noon there was a report that a suspect was picked up in Lake County, near Waukegan. A spokesman for the sheriff's office there said the man was being questioned.

Navy Bean Soup Is On The Menu

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today's Navy Day and Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., has succeeded in getting Navy bean soup on the Senate menu alongside the traditional Senate bean soup.

Senate restaurant manager Joseph K. Diamond said the Navy bean soup will go on the menu for the first time ever as far as he knows as a result of Percy's Senate-floor appeal last week.

Percy—a Navy lieutenant during World War II—assured the Senate his appeal on behalf of the Navy soup meant no disrespect for the Senate's own famous bean soup.

"Without Senate bean soup to support this body during the long winter session, I shudder to think where the nation might be today," he said.

"But I would hope that for at least this one day there would be room on the menu for two bean soups."

There is.

Festival Honor To Polish Film

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An animated film from Poland has won the Golden Gate Award at the 11th annual San Francisco Film Festival.

Fred Wardenburg and Don Lenzer of Seattle won the Silver Award for the film "Have You Heard of the San Francisco Mime Troop?"

Radio Officer Says Message Route Wrong

NEW YORK (AP)—The suspended chief radio officer of the National Governors Conference cruise liner says a White House radiogram that fell into the hands of Gov. Reagan of California was apparently routed by mistake.

The radioman, Charles Berger, denied in a written statement yesterday any conscious error on his part in the mixup aboard the liner Independence on Oct. 18.

'I AM SHOCKED'

"I am shocked," Berger said, "that the ethical makeup of Gov. Reagan and his staff did not prevent them from doing what any decent person who receives someone else's correspondence would do: return it to the person without delay and never breathe a word about it."

Berger was suspended pending investigation when the American Export Isbrandtsen liner, which took 45 governors to the Virgin Islands, returned here last Tuesday.

He said he gave a bellboy copies of two different messages—one for Reagan and one from the White House addressed to former Texas Gov. Price Daniel.

BOTH COPIES

"Apparently Gov. Reagan received both Xeroxed copied messages," Berger said. "How I cannot tell."

The message to Daniel was about tactics to be used in seeking a declaration by the governors in support of the administration's Vietnam policy. The message stiffened Republican opposition to the move, and there was no such declaration.

Berger said in his statement: "I am fully aware of my legal and ethical responsibilities to maintain the secrecy of communications."

Explosion Rips A Union Hall

SPARKS, Nev. (AP)—An explosion blew the second floor office of a Sparks union hall yesterday less than a half hour after a union meeting — and police think it was man caused.

The blast ripped through the Laborers International Union of North America Local 169. One policeman said he heard it a mile away.

Twenty-five firemen searched debris throughout the building, but found nothing. No injuries were reported. There was no fire.

Police Chief Robert Galli said the blast was "probably man-made." But the exact cause was not immediately determined. Officers restricted entry into the area.

Bank Robbers, Shoot, Kill Two Policemen

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two policemen were shot to death today during the robbery of a bank in a violence-scarred suburb. The robbers included a woman armed with a machine gun.

The woman and another man apparently eluded police. Another man believed to have been in the robbery gang was seriously wounded in the gun battle.

Two cars were reported used in the holdup of the Northlake Bank. A car bullet-riddled and bloodstained was reported found in a nearby suburb. Police said they did not know if this car was used in the robbery.

State police were reported pursuing a car, resembling one of the getaway cars, near O'Hare Airport. O'Hare is about six miles north of Northlake, which is about 13 miles west and slightly north of Chicago's Loop.

Northlake long has been known as a suburb of violence. Three years ago a man who ran for village president was badly beaten by thugs wielding baseball bats. By coincidence, a federal grand jury was scheduled to begin deliberations today in an alleged extortion plot involving the Northlake mayor and two aldermen.

The dead policemen were identified as John J. Nagle, 31, a detective sergeant, and Anthony P. Perri, 41, a patrolman.

Another policeman, identified as Ernie Huestadt, was shot. He was taken to Elmhurst Memorial Hospital with head wounds.

Two of the bank windows had been shot out. There was a large pool of blood in the parking lot next to the bank entrance.

The wounded man was taken to Northlake Community Hospital. A spokesman there said he was in critical condition.

All police departments in the area began an intense search for the wounded man's companions. Roads in the area were barricaded.

Shortly before noon there was a report that a suspect was picked up in Lake County, near Waukegan. A spokesman for the sheriff's office there said the man was being questioned.

Navy Bean Soup Is On The Menu

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today's Navy Day and Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., has succeeded in getting Navy bean soup on the Senate menu alongside the traditional Senate bean soup.

Senate restaurant manager Joseph K. Diamond said the Navy bean soup will go on the menu for the first time ever as far as he knows as a result of Percy's Senate-floor appeal last week.

Percy—a Navy lieutenant during World War II—assured the Senate his appeal on behalf of the Navy soup meant no disrespect for the Senate's own famous bean soup.

"Without Senate bean soup to support this body during the long winter session, I shudder to think where the nation might be today," he said.

"But I would hope that for at least this one day there would be room on the menu for two bean soups."

There is.

Festival Honor To Polish Film

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An animated film from Poland has won the Golden Gate Award at the 11th annual San Francisco Film Festival.

Fred Wardenburg and Don Lenzer of Seattle won the Silver Award for the film "Have You Heard of the San Francisco Mime Troop?"

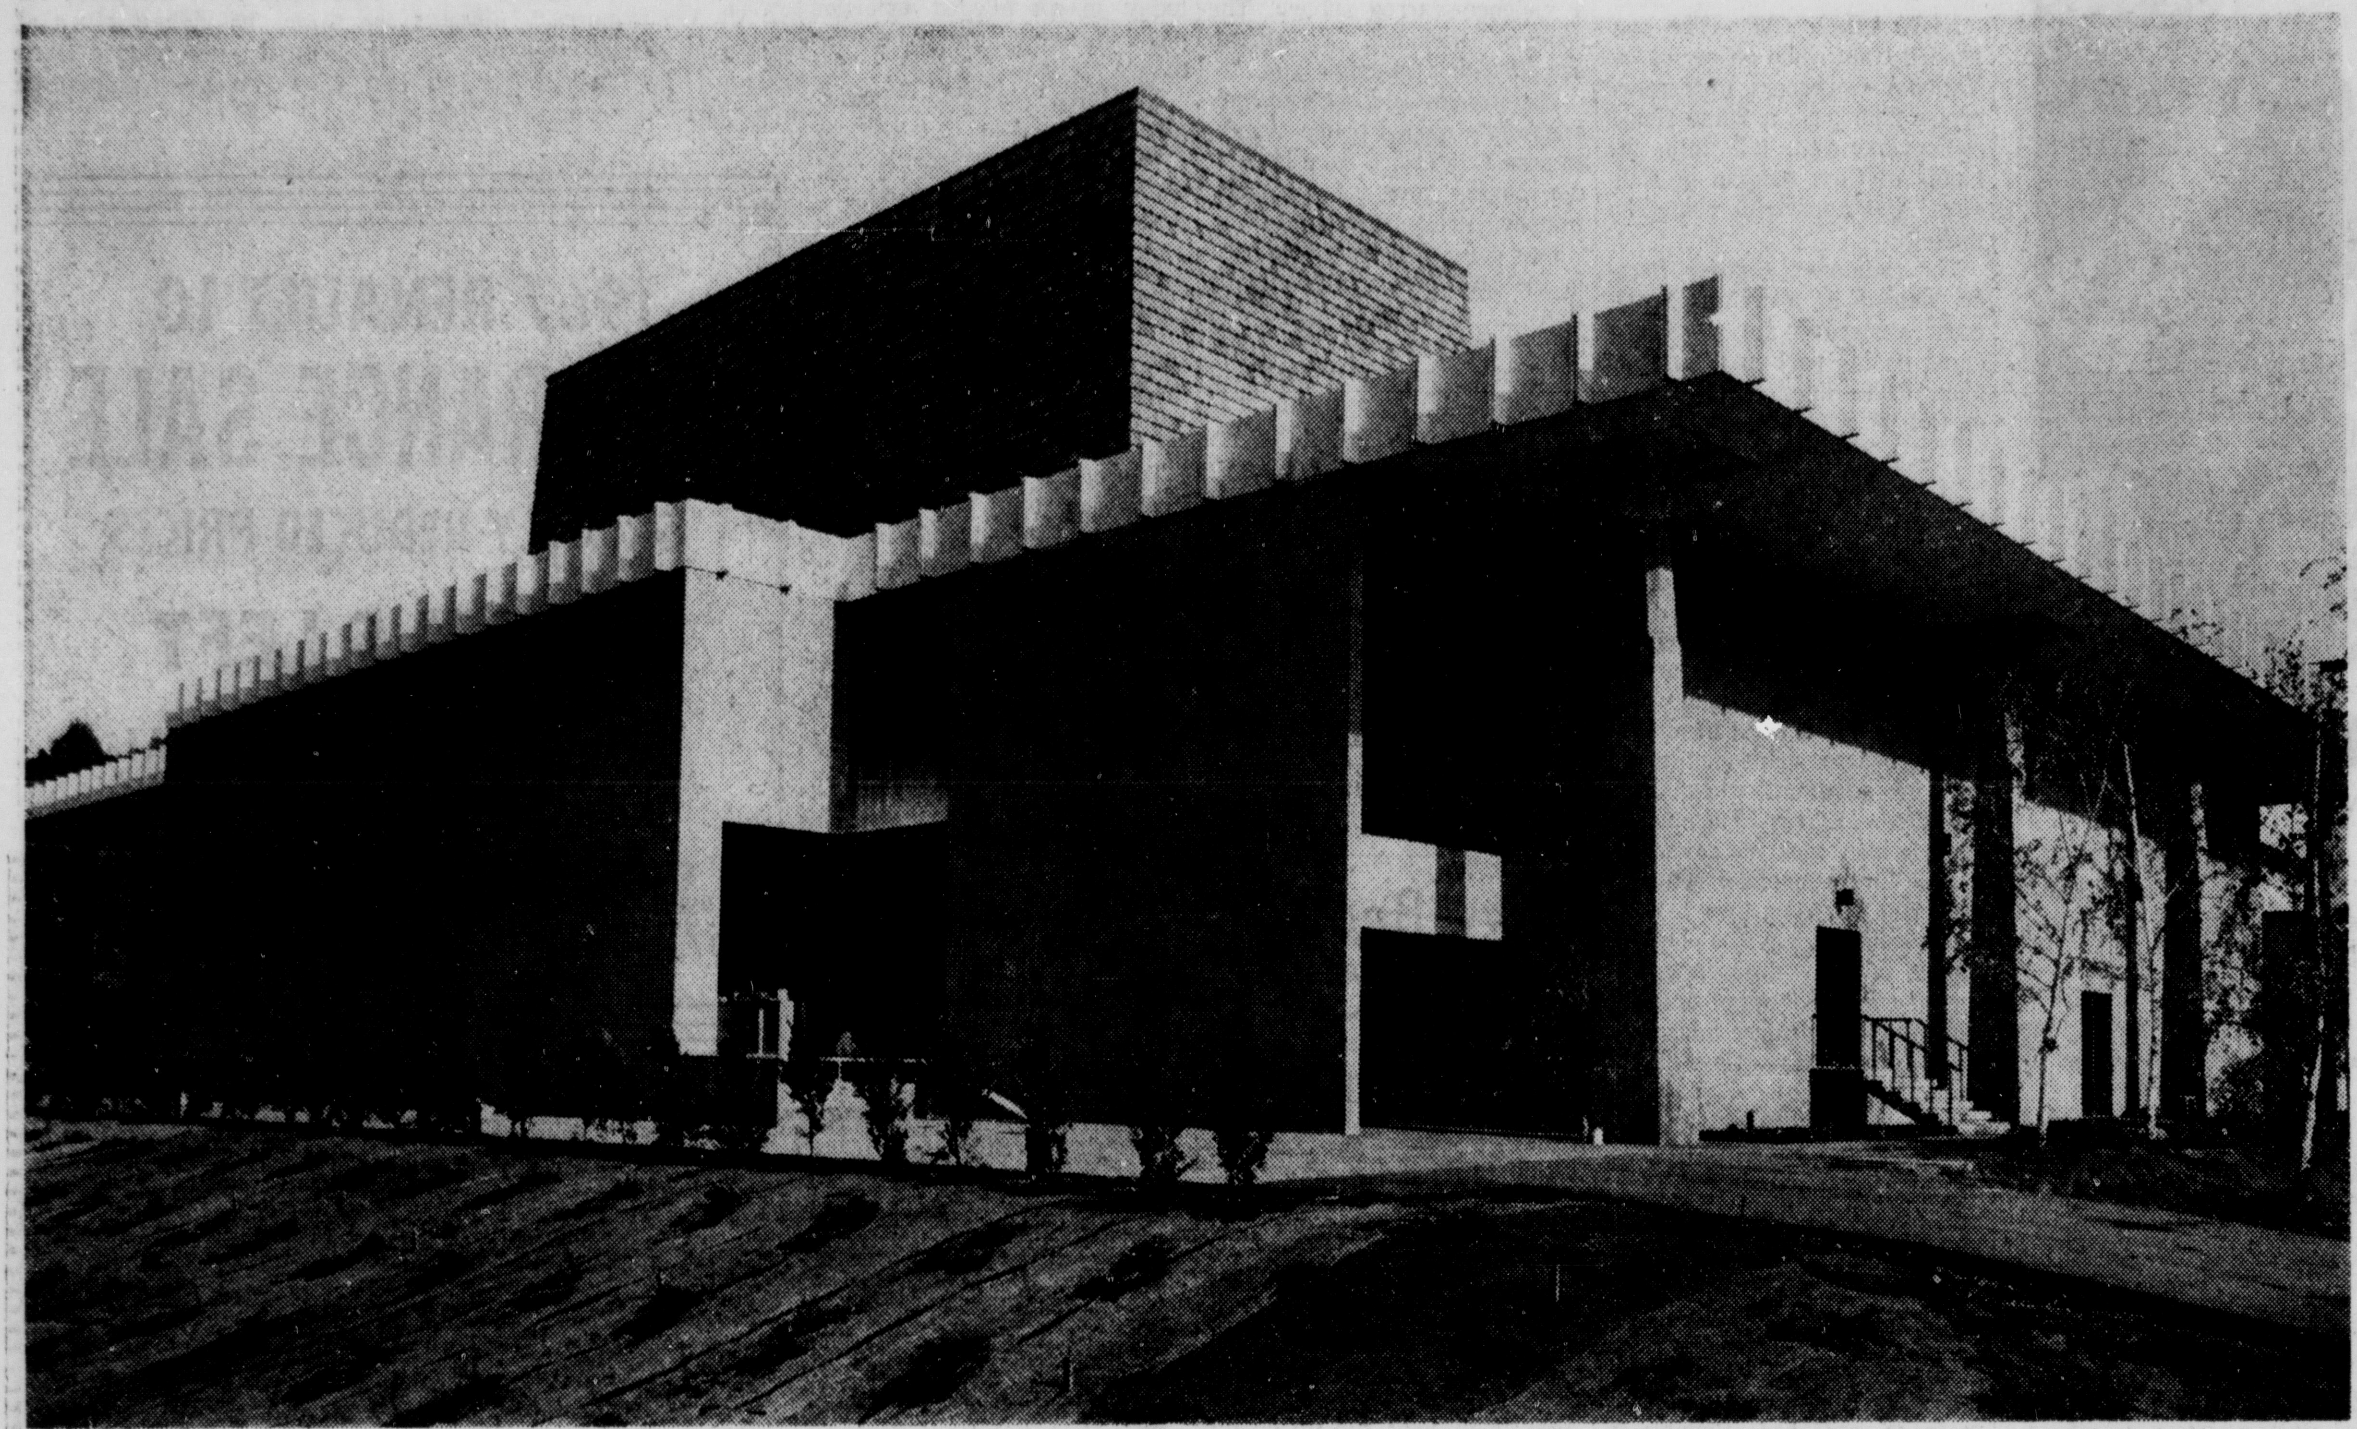
College Of Marin's New Fine Arts Building



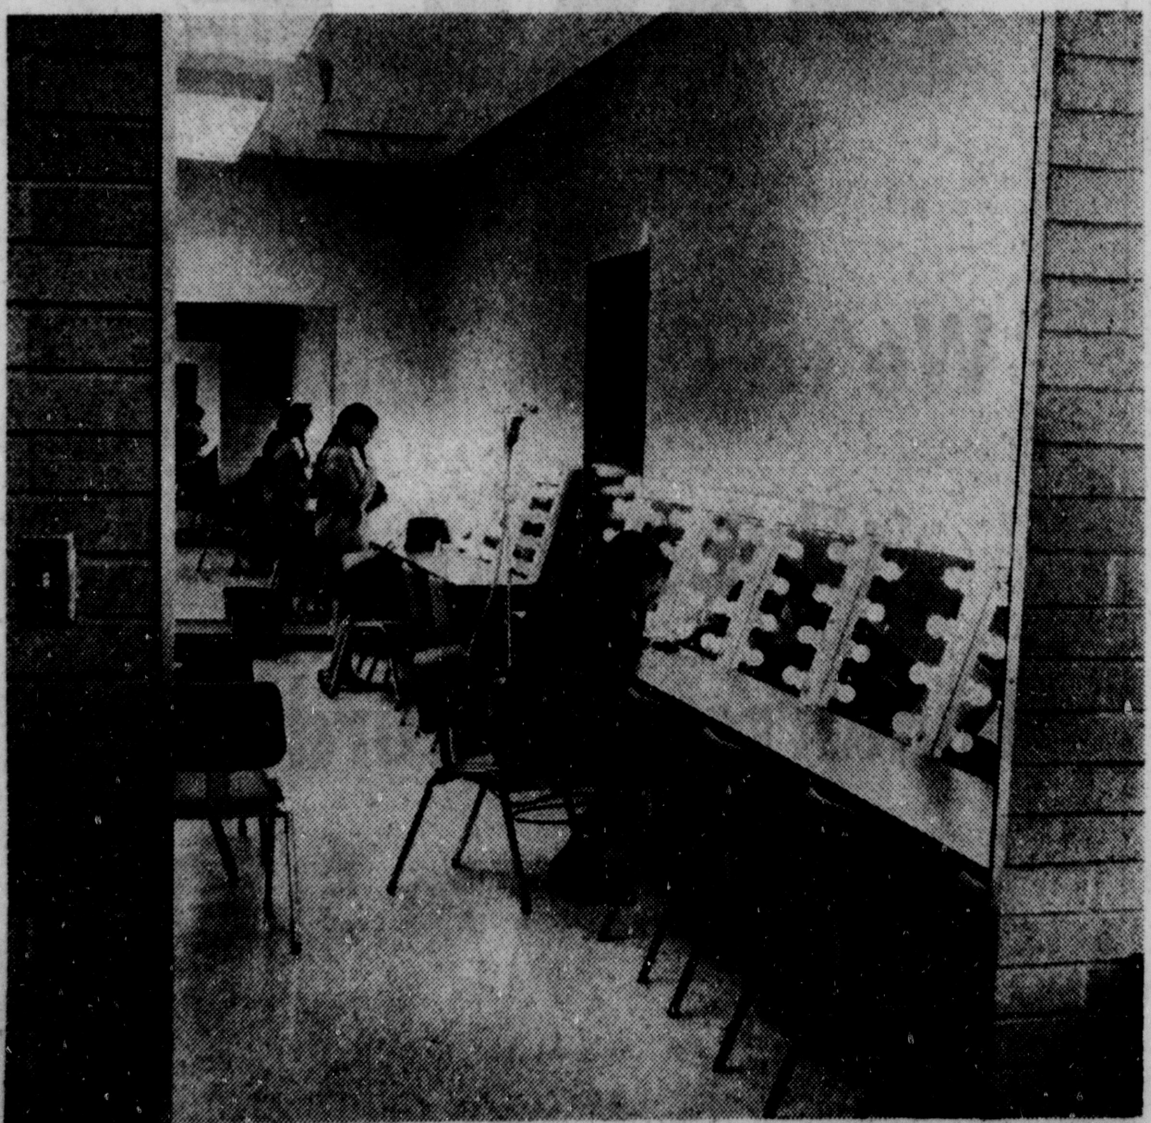
FINE ARTS — Brown ground still surrounds the College of Marin's fine arts center and the sound of the hammer is still heard in the halls, but students are preparing for the first play, rehearsing music in the practice rooms and listening to recordings.

CHOICE — Students learn the fine points of controlling sound and light on stage by using this panel of switches and buttons, communicating through earphones-and-mike headsets.

PRACTICE — Pianos are lined up as if to march to music in a practice room. There also are an instrumental music rehearsal hall, individual practice rooms, a chorus rehearsal room which doubles as an art lecture room and classrooms and offices.

REHEARSAL — Students of drama at the college listen to their peers project in a theater practice room. In addition to the large theater, there is a smaller one for up to 100 persons.

LISTENING — Students can listen together but in privacy at the listing library where tapes and records bring music and drama to the room.



MAKE-UP — Students will crowd the make-up room during productions such as "Caucasion Chalk Circle" by Bertold Brecht, to open next month.

$2,500,000 UMBRELLA

Drama And Music Under One Roof

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Drama and music at College of Marin, for years housed wherever there was space, has new been brought together under one $2,500,000 umbrella.

Students have been using the new fine arts center on the Kentfield campus since September although sections still echo to the sound of the finishing touches of workmen.

One side is devoted to music, the other side to drama. And providing a physical as well as artistic link is a massive 604-seat theater, a showpiece of modern design and the latest equipment.

Control booths look down past steeply sloping seats of blue plush to a wide stage with an orchestra pit which can be raised hydraulically to provide an extended stage apron.

The stage is lit by flexible lighting housed in the theater roof and is rigged on stage for the most ambitious drama production or theatrical concert. The control booths are large enough to accommodate drama classes for study during actual performances.

To one side is a smaller intimate studio theater where an audience of up to 100 can sit in a variety of arrangements. Make-up and dressing room accommodation together with a costume construction laboratory is desi gne dtobecome the envy of any professional theater.

A far cry from the postage-stamp size facilities crammed above a converted classroom which acted as a theater for the college until recently.

On the music side, the new center has an instrumental rehearsal hall for 100 student musicians. John H. Myers, head of the music department, described the acoustics as the "most satisfactory" he had ever encountered.

A chorus rehearsal hall built to seat 114 persons often doubles as an art lecture room. Recording equipment will soon be installed in the two rehearsal rooms as an educational aid.

Leading off from the carpeted corridors are a classroom in which a dozen pianos nestle in pairs, 12 individual practice rooms and a music library where up to 40 students can listen to recorded music in the privacy of headsets.

Other teaching facilities include an assembly room, four lecture classrooms for a total of 174 students, a speech listening laboratory for 16 people and offices for 10 faculty.

The center, the building of which cost $31.39 a square foot to construct, rises up between the existing art buildings which form the walls of the entrance lobby.

This lobby is to become an art gallery. The first show will coincide with the drama department's first production in the new theater, Bertold Brecht's "Caucasian Chalk Circle," Nov. 11 through 17.

Dean Rusk Resignation Is Urged

BERKELEY (AP)—Calling for the "quiet resignation" of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said yesterday that top Democrats should oppose President Johnson in the 1968 presidential primaries unless there is "significant improvement in the Vietnam war picture."

The statement to a gathering of about 1,000 on the University of California Berkeley campus was greeted with standing applause.

A Rusk resignation, he said, would "indicate at least a possibility of change" in the Adminisful benefits might be the closing of the credibility gap and improved chances of a negotiated peace, he added.

McCarthy, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he had no particular opposition candidate to Johnson in mind at this time, but later, in a different context, he remarked: "I'm not so sure Bobby (Kennedy) is going to wait until 1972."

Mass Killer's Pallbearers Number Victim's Relatives

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Six relatives of one of mass killer Leo Held's victims will serve as Held's pallbearers tomorrow out of respect to his family.

Held was the seventh person to die as a result of his 901minute shooting spree Monday, in which he killed six persons and wounded six others. Police ended the rampage when they shot Held, who died of his wounds Wednesday in Lock Haven Hospital.

The pallbearers all are related to the first victim to be buried, Elmer E. Weaver. They also are related to the 40-year-old Held, whose sister is married to Allen Weaver, one of Elmer Weaver's surviving brothers.

Held will be buried in nearby Loganton.

The burial of the victims benga Wednesday with Weaver. Three more funerals were held yesterday and two others are set for today.

The Marin Magazine's popular "Profile of a Marinite" feature returns tomorrow. The first subject in the new series is Novato's Bill Dillon, head of a baseball-minded family. I-J Sports Editor Jim Gilmartin has written the story, climaxed this summer when Dillon managed Novato's Babe Ruth League all-stars into that program's World Series with one of his sons as his star pitcher.
Dairying, once the economic life-line of West Marin, has changed. But it has not disappeared. I-J reporter Theron Newell makes this clear in tomorrow's weekend supplement when he tells the story of two present-day dairying families in western Marin. Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Restaurants Offering Varied Fare For Marinites

The last week has seen several new Marin dineries off to a flying start.

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini, Miss Marin (Pat Twohill), Lyons-Magnus vice president Gary Nachman and local restaurant manager Herta Stender cracked a huge wishbone at opening lunch ceremonies Tuesday at the new Lyons in Northgate's unit three. It was Lyons' 19th in Northern California.

Purveyors and special guests shared Taberna's tables, dance floor and cocktail lounge Tuesday night in San Rafael. Chef Charles Soublet prepared a sumptuous buffet dinner for about 250, champagne flowed and the following day owners Jean Neill, Robert Czyz and Roland Ledtke settled down to the business of hosting everyone else for both lunches and dinners.

The new Refectory Steak House in Greenbrae opened sooner than I anticipated — last Saturday night. Grand opening is tonight and I am told lunches will be served starting next week. Food service will be continuous from 11:30 a.m., with lunch specials added to the regular steaks and lobster menu for the 11:30 to 2 p.m. period.

This is a very interesting place — those tables used to be hatch covers.

AND NOW there is a new little restaurant at Point Reyes Station — Jerry's Cafe at Fifth and B streets, operated by Agnes and Jerry Bunce.

Jerry used to be at Silver Dollar Inn and decided to open his own place. Food service is seven days a week (breakfast, lunch and dinner) from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. except Wednesdays, when closing time is 4 p.m.

Lunches are from 65 cents up. Dinners are from $2 to $3.25, with sole, prawns, New York steaks and several other items on the menu. Wines and beers are served.

IF THAT ISN'T ENOUGH to keep diners-out busy, Northgate Shopping Center will have two more restaurants before the end of the year — both in the fashion mall area.

First of these to open will be Hansa House, a division of Mannings, Inc. established over two years ago with its first restaurant in Phoenix. Since then others have appeared in Anaheim and Salt Lake City. Northgate will be number four and still more are planned in other western locations.

The Northgate restaurant will be where Brothers 2 used to be. Premises are now being extensively remodeled and an opening is projected for Nov. 20. Keith Peters, originally from Ohio and with Mannings a number of years, will be manager.

The name Hansa is taken from the Hanseatic League of the 14th and 15th centuries as it applied to the merchants guild of Sweden — and both the decor and modus operandi of the restaurants are Swedish. Mini-skirted waitresses and mini-trousered busboys will be part of the scenery.

The plan is for self-service except for entrees, salad dressings and desserts. Instead of using the word "smorgasbord," Mannings calls it "family buffet style."

Hansa House will observe a seven-day schedule—lunches and dinners through the week and brunches and dinners on Sundays. Wine and beer will be served.

A NEW COMBINATION restaurant, bakery, soda fountain and Edy's candy store on the Northgate Fashion Mall will appear about Dec. 1.

Gone will be the Mr. C women's wear store and in its place will be The Sandwich Shop. Ownership still remains with Ralph Cechettini, but with a new partner added — Benjamin B. Unger of Oakland, a former restaurant owner. Lunches and dinners will be served and running the operation will be Ron Sheets from the midwest, formerly with the Howard Johnson chain.

Ralph still has Mr. C ladies' wear stores in the East Bay. This one will close in November for a 10-day changeover.

THE BOARDWALK RESTAURANT on the Belvedere Boardwalk has been taken over from Ted and Bing Weitzel by Bill Crofut of San Anselmo, who is well experienced in the restaurant game.

He was chef here when Neville Nowell had it. He opened the kitchen at the Seven Seas in Sausalito and he had the Oakview Club at Terra Linda Meadows for about 18 months.

Chef is Frank Terrell, formerly of the Alta Mira Hotel and the Seven Seas. He's carrying on the menu as it was before, including the king and queen cuts of prime rib, and next week night chef Richard Moscorelli is going to expand the Italian side of the fare.

Look for outside catering later — and also expansion of the dining room facilities somewhere along the line.

MY BEST WISHES to Ronnie Bell, who I understand is now a chef at Franchini's Chateau.

IF IT APPEARS that accordionist Al Stone at Le Chalet Basque, Santa Venetia, has a happier look on his face these days, congratulate him and credit the former Vera Norquist of Corte Madera for the transformation. She and Al were married last Monday.

YOU CAN PINPOINT the changes from standard to daylight savings time and also the reverse by observing the hourly schedule for Sundays at Rubini's in Fairfax.

This weekend it's time to set the clocks back again. Next Sunday Rubini's cocktail period begins at 3 instead of 4 p.m. And Sunday dinners are being changed back to service between 4 and 9 p.m.

BLACK POINT INN has done so well with its Tuesday night spaghetti feeds that another "special" night of the week has been added.

Wednesday night the special fare is meat loaf — entree, salad and dessert for $1.25. And this is a night of the week that entertainer Art Allison performs. His schedule is Wednesdays through Sundays.

WHO SAYS a chef has to be a man?

While men seem to be the only ones to sport the traditional headgear, the ladies far outnumber them at home on the range. And they must be good at it — else why so much store set on mom's home cooking?

Eugene Lackenbach, who has Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael and had Eugene's on downtown Lincoln Avenue before that, has spent years in training women cooks, with excellent results. In fact, he says that June Frye, working for him now and with him for a number of years, has developed a situation of the student outshining the master.

New dinner special at Eugene's these days is a one-pound chopped sirloin steak with mushrooms, salad and potato at $3.45 — a substantial repast that not only satisfies but sticks to the ribs.

NOW ON WINTER SCHEDULE is Oak Tree Inn at San Geronimo, which means dinners five nights a week Wednesdays through Sundays. New on the menu here are two offerings by chef Harry Zimlin, which he affirms are as authentically Russian as you can get anywhere — Russian cabbage rolls and his Beef Stroganoff.

Congratulations to bartender Skipper Schivo at the Oak Tree, by the way, who is celebrating two birthdays this week — his own and completion of two years at the restaurant bar.

There is music Saturdays and Sundays, with singalongs to Banjo Betty's lively music.

JEAN'S KITCHEN in Ross, under its family plan dinners, is giving away jack-o-lanterns to the youngsters over the weekend. And don't hesitate to ask for doggie bags if you can't clean your plate on the spot — it's expected.

Newspaper Helps His Green Thumb

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Patrolman Richard McFarland has a green thumb next to his trigger finger.

He grows tomatoes, green peppers, string beans, radishes, lettuce, cucumbers, cantaloupes and watermelons in his 25 by 40-foot backyard garden. He plans to double the size of his miniature farm soon to make room for corn and potatoes.

McFarland says he learned about farming by "reading a weekly newspaper column about growing things."

Tax Deadline Is On Tuesday

California residents who paid at least $200 in state income tax for 1966 face a new tax deadline Tuesday.

These persons must file a tax estimate form for 1967 and prepay 50 per cent of their 1966 state income tax, according to the state Franchise Tax Board in Sacramento.

Persons who paid at least $200 last year, but did not receive this year's new payment instructions, should mail a check amounting to half their 1966 tax, their name, address and social security number to the franchise board.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Restaurants Offering Varied Fare For Marinites

The last week has seen several new Marin dineries off to a flying start.

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini, Miss Marin (Pat Twohill), Lyons-Magnus vice president Gary Nachman and local restaurant manager Herta Stender cracked a huge wishbone at opening lunch ceremonies Tuesday at the new Lyons in Northgate's unit three. It was Lyons' 19th in Northern California.

Purveyors and special guests shared Taberna's tables, dance floor and cocktail lounge Tuesday night in San Rafael. Chef Charles Soublet prepared a sumptuous buffet dinner for about 250, champagne flowed and the following day owners Jean Neill, Robert Czyz and Roland Ledtke settled down to the business of hosting everyone else for both lunches and dinners.

The new Refectory Steak House in Greenbrae opened sooner than I anticipated — last Saturday night. Grand opening is tonight and I am told lunches will be served starting next week. Food service will be continuous from 11:30 a.m., with lunch specials added to the regular steaks and lobster menu for the 11:30 to 2 p.m. period.

This is a very interesting place — those tables used to be hatch covers.

AND NOW there is a new little restaurant at Point Reyes Station — Jerry's Cafe at Fifth and B streets, operated by Agnes and Jerry Bunce.

Jerry used to be at Silver Dollar Inn and decided to open his own place. Food service is seven days a week (breakfast, lunch and dinner) from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. except Wednesdays, when closing time is 4 p.m.

Lunches are from 65 cents up. Dinners are from $2 to $3.25, with sole, prawns, New York steaks and several other items on the menu. Wines and beers are served.

IF THAT ISN'T ENOUGH to keep diners-out busy, Northgate Shopping Center will have two more restaurants before the end of the year — both in the fashion mall area.

First of these to open will be Hansa House, a division of Mannings, Inc. established over two years ago with its first restaurant in Phoenix. Since then others have appeared in Anaheim and Salt Lake City. Northgate will be number four and still more are planned in other western locations.

The Northgate restaurant will be where Brothers 2 used to be. Premises are now being extensively remodeled and an opening is projected for Nov. 20. Keith Peters, originally from Ohio and with Mannings a number of years, will be manager.

The name Hansa is taken from the Hanseatic League of the 14th and 15th centuries as it applied to the merchants guild of Sweden — and both the decor and modus operandi of the restaurants are Swedish. Mini-skirted waitresses and mini-trousered busboys will be part of the scenery.

The plan is for self-service except for entrees, salad dressings and desserts. Instead of using the word "smorgasbord," Mannings calls it "family buffet style."

Hansa House will observe a seven-day schedule—lunches and dinners through the week and brunches and dinners on Sundays. Wine and beer will be served.

A NEW COMBINATION restaurant, bakery, soda fountain and Edy's candy store on the Northgate Fashion Mall will appear about Dec. 1.

Gone will be the Mr. C women's wear store and in its place will be The Sandwich Shop. Ownership still remains with Ralph Cechettini, but with a new partner added — Benjamin B. Unger of Oakland, a former restaurant owner. Lunches and dinners will be served and running the operation will be Ron Sheets from the midwest, formerly with the Howard Johnson chain.

Ralph still has Mr. C ladies' wear stores in the East Bay. This one will close in November for a 10-day changeover.

Capitol Gold Leaf Feels Inflation

The gold leaf originally cost the state $16,500 to apply when it first was put on in 1927. It was renewed in 1964 at a cost of $80,000.

TROPICANA—Mrs. Charles Capelli has her own banana plantation behind her San Rafael home at 204 Tiburon Street. Mrs. Capelli rates them better than store-bought ones.

Bananas Help Create Tropics In San Rafael

This setting is not in the Caribbean, but in the back yard of a San Rafael home. The tropical atmosphere has been created by Mrs. Charles Capelli of 204 Tiburon Street, who started with a few banana plants she purchased in Los Angeles 10 years ago.

"I had no idea they would multiply so profusely," she said. Three or four plants have turned into a grove of 100 trees, she said.

"The bananas are much tastier than ones at the markets because they are tree-ripened," Mrs. Capelli said. She keeps most of the bananas, giving others to friends.

The turtle was found by the Capellis in Petaluma Creek. "He refuses to leave the swimming pool," Mrs. Capelli said. "If we take him out, he gets right back in."

Mrs. Capelli also collects antiques and is the inventer of a new type of head pillow.

$750 Awarded In Dog's Death

A Fairfax man was awarded $750 by a Marin Municipal Court jury yesterday for the killing of his pure-bred German pointer dog by a neighbor's dog Jan. 13, 1965.

The owner, Robert Guy Hubbert of Bolinas Road, had sued for $4,750 from the neighbor, Allan W. Brady, also of Bolinas Road.

Hubbert charged that Brady's dog, Baron, attacked the pointer, Schope, on Hubbert's property, and the pointer died that night of injuries from the fight. Hubbert claimed Baron was known to attack other dogs and alleged negligent control of the dog by Brady.

First Escape Is Recorded

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The City Prison has logged its first escape since the police department moved to the new Hall of Justice five years ago.

Capt. Peter Conroy said Melvin Douglas Gage, jailed on a burglary charge, disappeared from a processing room where prisoners wait until they are taken to their cells.

Exactly how he did it isn't known, Conroy said, but said Gage may have simply walked out with others who were being released.

Capitol Gold Leaf Feels Inflation

The gold leaf originally cost the state $16,500 to apply when it first was put on in 1927. It was renewed in 1964 at a cost of $80,000.

TROPICANA—Mrs. Charles Capelli has her own banana plantation behind her San Rafael home at 204 Tiburon Street. Mrs. Capelli rates them better than store-bought ones.

Bananas Help Create Tropics In San Rafael

This setting is not in the Caribbean, but in the back yard of a San Rafael home. The tropical atmosphere has been created by Mrs. Charles Capelli of 204 Tiburon Street, who started with a few banana plants she purchased in Los Angeles 10 years ago.

"I had no idea they would multiply so profusely," she said. Three or four plants have turned into a grove of 100 trees, she said.

"The bananas are much tastier than ones at the markets because they are tree-ripened," Mrs. Capelli said. She keeps most of the bananas, giving others to friends.

The turtle was found by the Capellis in Petaluma Creek. "He refuses to leave the swimming pool," Mrs. Capelli said. "If we take him out, he gets right back in."

Mrs. Capelli also collects antiques and is the inventer of a new type of head pillow.

$750 Awarded In Dog's Death

A Fairfax man was awarded $750 by a Marin Municipal Court jury yesterday for the killing of his pure-bred German pointer dog by a neighbor's dog Jan. 13, 1965.

The owner, Robert Guy Hubbert of Bolinas Road, had sued for $4,750 from the neighbor, Allan W. Brady, also of Bolinas Road.

Hubbert charged that Brady's dog, Baron, attacked the pointer, Schope, on Hubbert's property, and the pointer died that night of injuries from the fight. Hubbert claimed Baron was known to attack other dogs and alleged negligent control of the dog by Brady.

First Escape Is Recorded

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The City Prison has logged its first escape since the police department moved to the new Hall of Justice five years ago.

Capt. Peter Conroy said Melvin Douglas Gage, jailed on a burglary charge, disappeared from a processing room where prisoners wait until they are taken to their cells.

Exactly how he did it isn't known, Conroy said, but said Gage may have simply walked out with others who were being released.

The Noncandidates Test Political Wind

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Three leading Republican presidential noncandidates were testing the political winds far from home today.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, stoutly insisting he is "definitely not a presidential candidate," and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, another undeclared campaigner, both planned to kick off busy days in the Midwest with speeches in Chicago.

10-DAY TOUR

Michigan Gov. George Romney, midway through a 10-day nationwide tour in search of presidential support, was in Denver hoping to line up a sorely needed endorsement from Colorado Gov. John A. Love. He also planned to drop in on the Western GOP Governors Conference before moving cross-country to Teterboro, N.J.

Romney flew into Barry Goldwater's stronghold of Phoenix, Ariz., yesterday and told newsmen he felt he could get along if need be without the support of the 1964 GOP standard bearer.

Romney said he would welcome Goldwater's support and would seek it if he becomes a candidate, but added that he was confident he could win the Republican nomination without it.

Goldwater in the past has been critical of Romney for his refusal to support the party ticket in 1964.

In a talk last night in Phoenix, he said he was for Nixon.

Romney also told newsmen he thought Reagan was running for the GOP presidential nomination "and running hard."

"But I know he'll deny that," Romney said. Reagan did.

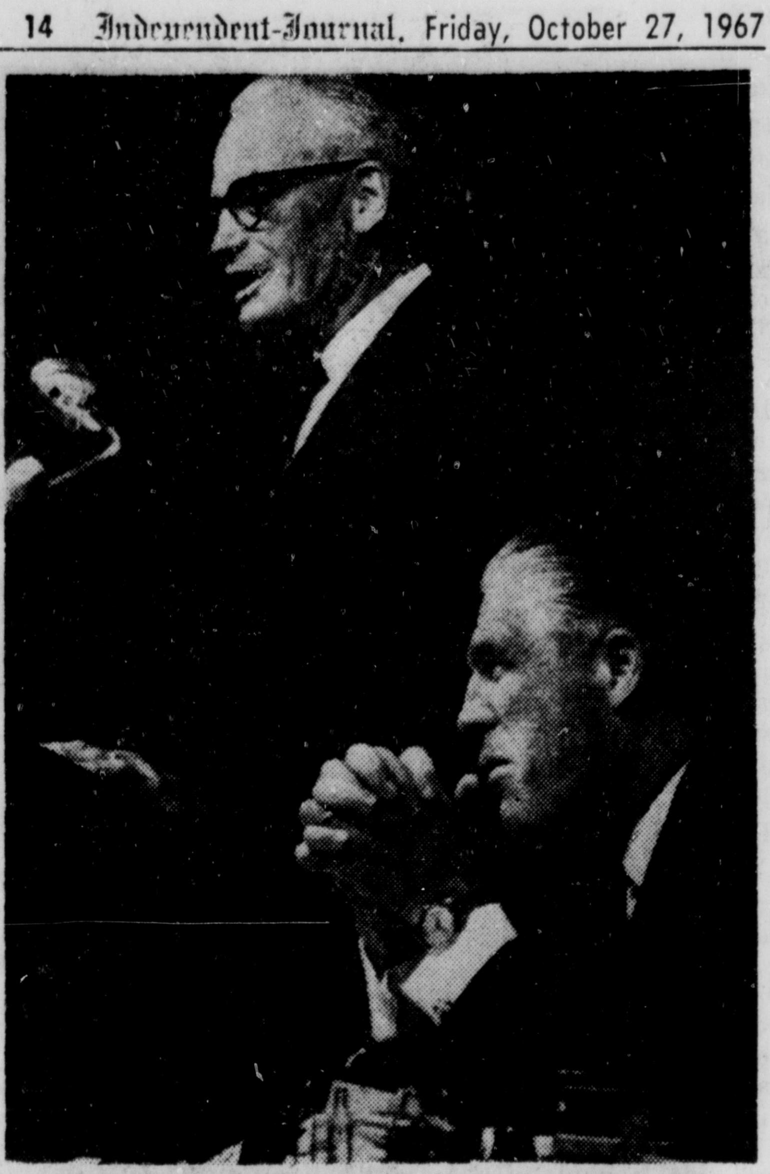
The California governor took time out yesterday from shaking hands and signing autographs at airports and $100-a-plate GOP functions in Manhattan, Kan., Dallas and Houston to categorically deny any presidential ambitions.

BACK HOME

But in their speeches, both Romney and Reagan exhibited a lot more interest in what is going on in Washington than in the statehouse back home.

Romney told a dinner audience the United States "has suffered a disastrous loss of leadership in world affairs" under the Johnson administration.

Reagan told a Dallas luncheon the United States was in a crisis of inflation and riots at home "the longest war in our history against a 16th-rate power" in Vietnam.



NOT A BIT SURPRISED — Michigan Gov. George Romney takes it all in stride as Barry Goldwater tells a $25-a-plate audience in Phoenix, Ariz., is for Richard Nixon for president. Goldwater was master of ceremonies last night at a Republican gathering.

Piece Of Art Is Tossed Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The City Retirement Board has tossed out an abstract wall painting three feet high and four feet wide entitled "Morning Light."

Republicans Reported Making Deal

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC News reported today it had learned there was a "campaign understanding" between former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and California Gov. Reagan and that the two men would not fight each other for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

NBC News Washington correspondent Nancy Dickerson said that the plan is to "support Nixon first.

"If he is beaten fair and square in the first three primaries, then Reagan gets it," she added.

Speaking on the "Today" show, Miss Dickerson said sources in the Republican party claim that many GOP regulars are loyal to Nixon, but that they also are watching with interest the popular support for Reagan.

They realize a direct confrontation between the two men could cause irreparable bitterness, she said.

He Walked Into A pair Of Doors?

LONDON (UPI)—A doctor told the court that an injured policeman had suffered "bilateral, peri-orbital, peripheral haematomas."

The jury looked puzzled.

Driver Hurt In Collision

Mrs. Lucille D. Locati, 54, of 93 Jewell Street, San Rafael, suffered a separated collarbone in a two-car collision at Mission and Belle avenues Wednesday morning.

San Rafael Police reported that a car driven by Dennis John Wright, 17, of 311 C Street, San Rafael, collided at the intersection with a car driven by Mrs. Locati at 10:55 a.m.

Mrs. Locati was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael.

New Look For Grand National

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The 23rd annual Grand National Livestock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo gets underway tonight at the Cow Palace, which will have a new look following its $1.7 million modernization program.

Lagging attendance in recent years has resulted in the addition of performances by entertainment stars to each show during the 10-day run.

Eva Gabor, Jim Nabors, Eddie Albert, Wayne Newton, and the Young Americans will all be there at different times.

Election Day Is Selected For Superrocket Launching

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency has picked Nov. 7—the 50th anniversary of Russia's Bolshevik revolution and election day around the United States—as the target launching date for its first Saturn 5 superrocket.

The 363-foot-tall monster, the type rocket which is to one day propel three Americans astronauts toward the moon, is to hurl an unmanned Apollo moonship 11,400 miles into space in a major test of the new rocket and spacecraft heat shield.

In announcing the date, however, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said that the complexity of the rocket and launch equipment are liable to force delays beyond that time.

"This is a target date," said Maj. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director. "We are in a very complex learning process and we are going to take all the time we need on that first launch."

Space agency spokesmen said status of Saturn 5 hardware and not politics dictated the date.

It will be the first flight test of the Saturn 5's first two stages and the first time America's man-to-the-moon launch complex will be put into operation.

A CO-OP HAS ALL KINDS OF OPINIONS.

We think that everyone is entitled to an opinion. And since a Co-op is "people helping people," if someone wants to express theirs, we'll help. We do all the time. Maybe you've noticed. At many of our Co-op stores there's a "Public Opinion Table" garrisoned by a person fired with the conviction of some point of view. Now everyone doesn't agree with everyone else. Certainly not us. But good for him.

You see, the democratic order of things is important with us. For example, as members of the Co-op we share in the ownership and have a say in the way things are run. That's why as owners and customers we offer honest value and service. And that's why it's a good place to shop even if you're not a member.

Oh, you don't have to be a member to shop at a Co-op. In fact, if you haven't shopped at a Co-op lately, try it. Not only do we have supermarkets, but service stations, snack bars, and prescription drug departments. Plus other services like an auto repair garage and a children's clothing store. So, stop in. It's a friendly place to save money.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Autumn Is Time Of Glittering Ball And Formal Festivities

By MOLLY MARIN

With the approach of the final Saturday in October, Marin tradition calls for staging of the annual Charity Ball of the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary, and members tomorrow night will begin the evening with parties before the dinner dance at the Meadow Club. . . .

Among the hosts and hostesses for festivities at their homes are several of the committee.

Gathering at the home of Nanette and Ken Fuller will be the John Robinsons, David Peughs, Kenneth Wells, John Wards, Neil Fultons, Dirk Van Meurs, Lawrence Carrs and Ralph Circurals.

Donna and Don Kelleher and Claire and Stan Borges will co-host a party at the Kellehers' home in Ross for Messrs. and Mesdames Homer Marston, Jerry Miller, Harold Engle and Wallace Sheehan.

IN MILL VALLEY Debra and David Dooley will be entertaining Messrs. and Mesdames James Christensen, Kimball Palm, James Reese, Roy Simpkin, Robert Lynch, Don Laramunde and Dr. and Mrs. Kleve Johnson.

Valerie and Norman Ciampi will be hosts to Mr. and Mrs. William Asbell, Mr. and Mrs. John Rinehart, and Tony Good and Miss Kathy Van Myers.

Jan and Herb West will entertain Messrs. and Mesdames John Allen, Richard Sands, Kent Seymour, Donald Cottle, Paul Erickson, David Faraday, Leland Sweeney and Raymond Perkins.

A NUMBER OF MARINITES are involved with plans for the "World of Jewels" Ball which will be given by the San Francisco Auxiliary to the Stanford Children's Convalescent Hospital at the Fairmont Hotel tomorrow. Mrs. Elmer Albritton of Kentfield is in charge of costumes and dressing for the production numbers, using Ice Follies costumes, and the costumes from an airline international collection. Mrs. Arthur Dettner of Sausalito and Mrs. George Whitney of Belvedere are among the list of models.

A number of cocktail gatherings before the ball have been planned by auxiliary members and guests. Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Fisher and Mrs. and Mrs. D. H. Gabrielsen of Ross will co-host a pre-ball party at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco, with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Atkins and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Knecht of Ross in the party . . . Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Imhaus and Mr. and Mrs. J. Conrad Abbett of San Rafael are co-hosting a gathering at the Jack Tar Hotel. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Heinecke have invited the Christopher Peacocks of Belvedere and the James F. Reed of San Anselmo to join them for cocktails at their San Anselmo home. Entertaining at their San Rafael home are Mr. and Mrs. Allen S. Feder, whose guests will be Messrs and Mesdames Kenneth Hulme, Robert Birr, C. A. Stevens and Gordon Dunn, all of San Rafael. The George Fays of Mill Valley will attend the ball with the John Wards of Kentfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Skall of Kent Woodlands will be honored at a large pre-ball cocktail affair to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Waterfield and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Albritton of Kentfield, on the 19th floor of the Hartford building in San Francisco.

THE JAMES H. BEHRS will be hosts at a dinner party tonight at 7:30 p.m. at their home in Mill Valley preceding the rehearsal for the Saturday wedding of Lola Clarkson Behr and Gerald Martin Haskins, who will be married at Christ Church in Sausalito. The bride-elect is the daughter of the Peter Howell Behrs of Mill Valley and niece of James Behr.

VISITING THEIR daughter at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. last weekend were the Frank G. Kings of Belvedere. Virginia, a freshman, was hostess to her parents for Parents' Weekend.

A RECEPTION honoring their son, Roger Cunningham Drexler, and his bride, the former Jill Levinsohn, who were married last month in Los Angeles, was hosted Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Drexler at their home in Mill Valley. About 100 guests, mostly neighbors and friends of the young couple attended.

PLANNING TO SPEND Christmas in Hong Kong are Mrs. and Mrs. Alan H. Laidlaw of Tiburon. They will visit their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Laidlaw, and meet their new grandson, Christopher James, born in Hong Kong Sept. 3. The baby's mother is the former Sharon Hueg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hueg of San Anselmo. The Laidlaws, who lived in the Orient for 35 years, where Mr. Laidlaw was in the shipping business and later worked for the U.S. State Department, expect to return to visit Taipei where they have a number of friends.

Past Commodores Will Be Honored At Yacht Club Ball

The oldest yacht club on the Pacific Coast approaches the end of its first century with an innovation. San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere, which will celebrate its centennial year in 1969, will honor past commodores at a Commodores' Ball on Nov. 4 at the clubhouse.

The formal dinner-dance will begin with cocktails served in the Commodores' Room at 7:30 p.m. The dinner dance starts at 8:30 p.m. in the club's dining room. Decorations will follow a nautical motif in silver, gold and blue.

At the request of Commodore Patrick J. Kirrane, a committee from the Women's Auxiliary has been assisting with party plans. Mrs. Paul N. Duggan is chairman; Mesdames J. D. Blatchford, decorations chairman; Robert M. Gunn, Paul De Silva, Phillip West, Ben Hirsch, Howard McGill and Dorothy Shemanski, decoration assistants; Robert G. Potter, invitations; P. M. Meader, posters, and A. Robert Fisher, publicity.

Consul's Wife Is A Ready Hostess

By BETTY FROST

How would you like to move into a new home, then three days later give a large formal reception? Suppose the items to be moved included a large private library, dinner service for 100 guests, priceless family portraits, irreplaceable antique German furniture and mementoes of extended stays in exotic foreign countries?

Looking up from her lists — one for the moving arrangements and one for the planned party, the charming wife of the German Consul General flashed a smile, "We are old hands at this sort of thing," said Mrs. Siegfried Von Nostitz.

In early November Consul General and Mrs. Von Nostitz will move from the home on the Belvedere hillside, where they have lived for four years, to a new house on Belvedere's West Shore. Three days later they will honor the conductor and cast of the opera "Tristan und Isolde" at a reception to which members of San Francisco's consular corps and other guests from the Bay Area will be invited.

FOUR YEARS AGO when the Consul General was assigned to San Francisco, his wife began to look for a suitable home. "We require a large living room and a formal dining room" said the handsome gray haired woman. After looking at a number of homes in San Francisco, they came to Belvedere. Here they have entertained many visiting countrymen.

"Our guests feel more relaxed in the country setting," said the hostess. "We frequently have German visitors who have come to this country to attend to business in New York or Washington who come to us for the weekend because they have heard so much about the beauty of the Bay Area."

German diplomats have a special housing problem, Mrs. Von Nestit confided. "My husband reminds me that having lost two wars, each time the consulate was taken away. That means each time in each country," so that West German diplomats all over the world must "make do" in semi-permanent quarters. Consul General Von Nostitz has offices in the International Building in San Francisco, and commutes like any American businessman.

For the demanding consular social schedule, now at its height, with receptions, dinners, luncheons and fashion shows on her date book, Mrs. Von Nostitz has a wardrobe of suitable dresses made by her own couturiere in Munich.

"She has my measurements and she knows my tastes," said the tall, slim woman.

GISELA VON NOSTITZ grew up on her family's estate in the province of Hessen. Later she studied at Weimar and became a kindergarten teacher in Frankfort. There is sadness in her voice as she tells of family members caught in East Germany. Those who were able to get out had to start their lives anew in West Germany with nothing.

Her husband's diplomatic career began in New York where he was an attache. During the war they were in Berne, Switzerland. Their first assignment in the post-war period was to Turkey. Later they were recalled to Germany and spent two fascinating, if perilous, years in Algeria during the civil war.

"When Algeria became independent we had to leave, because diplomatic relations were broken off," said Mrs. Von Nostitz. "Perhaps as a reward for those difficult

Autumn Is Time Of Glittering Ball And Formal Festivities

By MOLLY MARIN

With the approach of the final Saturday in October, Marin tradition calls for staging of the annual Charity Ball of the Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary, and members tomorrow night will begin the evening with parties before the dinner dance at the Meadow Club. . . .

Among the hosts and hostesses for festivities at their homes are several of the committee.

Donna and Don Kelleher and Claire and Stan Borges will cohost a party at the Kellehers' home in Ross for Messrs. and Mesdames Homer Marston, Jerry Miller, Harold Engle and Wallace Sheehan.

IN MILL VALLEY Debra and David Dooley will be entertaining Messrs. and Mesdames James Christensen, Kimball Palm, James Reese, Roy Simpkin, Robert Lynch, Don Laramunde and Dr. and Mrs. Kleve Johnson.

Valerie and Norman Ciampi will be hosts to Mr. and Mrs. William Asbell, Mr. and Mrs. John Rinehart, and Tony Good and Miss Kathy Van Myers.

Jan and Herb West will entertain Messrs. and Mesdames John Allen, Richard Sands, Kent Seymour, Donald Cottle, Paul Erickson, David Faraday, Leland Sweeney and Raymond Perkins.

A NUMBER OF MARINITES are involved with plans for the "World of Jewels" Ball which will be given by the San Francisco Auxiliary to the Stanford Children's Convalescent Hospital at the Fairmont Hotel tomorrow. Mrs. Elmer Albritton of Kentfield is in charge of costumes and dressing for the production numbers, using Ice Follies costumes, and the costumes from an airline international collection. Mrs. Arthur Dettner of Sausalito and Mrs. George Whitney of Belvedere are among the list of models.

A number of cocktail gatherings before the ball have been planned by auxiliary members and guests. Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Fisher and Mrs. and Mrs. D. H. Gabrielsen of Ross will co-host a pre-ball party at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco, with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Atkins and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Knecht of Ross in the party . . . Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Imhaus and Mr. and Mrs. J. Conrad Abbett of San Rafael are co-hosting a gathering at the Jack Tar Hotel. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Heinecke have invited the Christopher Peacocks of Belvedere and the James F. Reed of San Anselmo to join them for cocktails at their San Anselmo home. Entertaining at their San Rafael home are Mr. and Mrs. Allen S. Feder, whose guests will be Messrs and Mesdames Kenneth Hulme, Robert Birr, C. A. Stevens and Gordon Dunn, all of San Rafael. The George Fays of Mill Valley will attend the ball with the John Wards of Kentfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Skall of Kent Woodlands will be honored at a large pre-ball cocktail affair to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Waterfield and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Albritton of Kentfield, on the 19th floor of the Hartford building in San Francisco.

THE JAMES H. BEHRS will be hosts at a dinner party tonight at 7:30 p.m. at their home in Mill Valley preceding the rehearsal for the Saturday wedding of Lola Clarkson Behr and Gerald Martin Haskins, who will be married at Christ Church in Sausalito. The bride-elect is the daughter of the Peter Howell Behrs of Mill Valley and niece of James Behr.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Dominating Wives And Spanking Husbands Are Cause For Concern

DEAR HELEN:

My husband spanks me often. He always precedes it with a big, loving kiss and says, "This will hurt me worse than it does you." Then he whales the daylights out of me.

It's my opinion it hurts me the most, and I should know! We always have a nice period of making up afterwards, but why does he proclaim his love, then wallop me?

He won't spank our children. He insists that I do, while he watches. Is this "chain of discipline" or something, with spankings handed down from him to me to the kids? — MRS. M.

DEAR MRS. M:

I'd say "discipline" has little to do with it. These spankings are your husband's little diversion: if you continue with them, you're as warped as he is — and heaven help your kids! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

We've laughed or sighed with you over pills, pampered playboys, petting problems and perverted personalities, but your answer to the topless husband was too big to buy.

I pull off my shirt when I come home. My wife sees me as a man. My wife collects antiques and wears slacks. I see her as a woman. If I can take her female ways, she can stand seeing the hair on my chest, and that's the way it is at our house. Got anything to say aabout it? — PAUL

DEAR PAUL:

If your wife is happy, and you are happy, that makes three of us. — H.

PERSONAL TO "ASTONISHED AND ASHAMED": A "female cross-country hitch hiker" who registers "shock" at propositions is either naive or writing fiction. I'd suspect the latter, for if all your luggage was stolen, as you say, how then could that wild story be concocted in a "Fleabag motel room" — ON A TYPEWRITER? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Much has been written about the domination of the American wife. It's so insidious that most men don't realize it's a takeover until she's standing on his neck. He's too busy making a living.

Then he wakes up and realizes they are driving the kind of car she wants; raising the children her way; taking her choice of vacation; letting her choose his clothes; and he can't remember the last time she made a concession to his point of view. For her, it's all "I," even though she says "We." And somehow he's so tired he just buckles under.

But there's one bright spot. People on the outside are quick to detect signs of domination by a mate. As a result they shower their affection upon the dominated one and tolerate the "bossy" partner.

If a man can't get a 50-50 thing going for him at home, at least he'll win out over his wife when it comes to making and keeping friends.

Here's a suggestion to married women: if mutual friends seem to prefer your husband to you, take stock of yourselves. Maybe you aren't aware of how bossy you've become. — DOMINATED HUSBAND

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter has been out of school four years, well educated and capable, yet she never holds a job longer than two months. There's always something wrong, so she quits. Your advice? — CONFUSED PARENTS.

DEAR PARENTS:

Withdraw support and perhaps she won't be so choosy. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Community Day Program Friday

World Community Day will be observed by the Nova-Loma Council of the churchwomen united at the All Saints Lutheran Church in Novato on Friday starting at 10 a.m. with a coffee.

The church women sew, and make health kits, school bags and sewing sets as part of the offering.

Mrs. Sam Young is president of the council and Mrs. Richard C. Koch is chairman for the World Community Day.

years we were sent to San Francisco," said the blue-eyed lady. "We never know how much longer we will stay at any post."

They have two children. Their daughter, Dagmar, was married to a University of California professor, Carl Guthke, in Belvedere two years ago. She and her husband now live in Toronto. Their son is in Munich. He is studying for his law examinations.

"We are always interested in young people," she said, "and particularly in the opportunities now offered for exchange students to live in various countries. We will be very happy to receive any German students who are in Marin County under any of the exchange programs."

FOR RELAXATION Mrs. Von Nostitz enjoys working in the garden. She and her husband play golf, often at the Mill Valley Golf Course. "While we enjoy golf, we are not too good at the game. My husband says we are 'old beginners'." The Consul General has written several books on international topics, and is now working on a new book about Algeria and the experiences of a diplomat there during the historic conflict between the French and the Algerians.

The hostess pointed out some of the things which they had acquired in their travels — carpets, silver bowls, and a copper brazier from Turkey, a wall hanging from Persia, paintings and an antique sideboard brought from Germany. . . . "What," we asked "will you take back from San Francisco?"

"A seascape painted by a friend in Berkeley, many books, some dedicated to Consul General Von Nostitz by friends on the faculties of Stanford University and the University of California. We will also take back our memories of friendships and the message that Americans want only to help people," said the diplomat's wife.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Dominating Wives And Spanking Husbands Are Cause For Concern

DEAR HELEN:

My husband spanks me often. He always precedes it with a big, loving kiss and says, "This will hurt me worse than it does you." Then he whales the daylights out of me.

It's my opinion it hurts me the most, and I should know! We always have a nice period of making up afterwards, but why does he proclaim his love, then wallop me?

He won't spank our children. He insists that I do, while he watches. Is this "chain of discipline" or something, with spankings handed down from him to me to the kids? — MRS. M.

DEAR MRS. M:

I'd say "discipline" has little to do with it. These spankings are your husband's little diversion: if you continue with them, you're as warped as he is — and heaven help your kids! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

We've laughed or sighed with you over pills, pampered playboys, petting problems and perverted personalities, but your answer to the topless husband was too big to buy.

I pull off my shirt when I come home. My wife sees me as a man. My wife collects antiques and wears slacks. I see her as a woman. If I can take her female ways, she can stand seeing the hair on my chest, and that's the way it is at our house. Got anything to say aabout it? — PAUL

DEAR PAUL:

If your wife is happy, and you are happy, that makes three of us. — H.

PERSONAL TO "ASTONISHED AND ASHAMED": A "female cross-country hitch hiker" who registers "shock" at propositions is either naive or writing fiction. I'd suspect the latter, for if all your luggage was stolen, as you say, how then could that wild story be concocted in a "Fleabag motel room" — ON A TYPEWRITER? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Much has been written about the domination of the American wife. It's so insidious that most men don't realize it's a takeover until she's standing on his neck. He's too busy making a living.

Then he wakes up and realizes they are driving the kind of car she wants; raising the children her way; taking her choice of vacation; letting her choose his clothes; and he can't remember the last time she made a concession to his point of view. For her, it's all "I," even though she says "We." And somehow he's so tired he just buckles under.

But there's one bright spot. People on the outside are quick to detect signs of domination by a mate. As a result they shower their affection upon the dominated one and tolerate the "bossy" partner.

If a man can't get a 50-50 thing going for him at home, at least he'll win out over his wife when it comes to making and keeping friends.

Here's a suggestion to married women: if mutual friends seem to prefer your husband to you, take stock of yourselves. Maybe you aren't aware of how bossy you've become. — DOMINATED HUSBAND

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter has been out of school four years, well educated and capable, yet she never holds a job longer than two months. There's always something wrong, so she quits. Your advice? — CONFUSED PARENTS.

DEAR PARENTS:

Withdraw support and perhaps she won't be so choosy. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Community Day Program Friday

World Community Day will be observed by the Nova-Loma Council of the churchwomen united at the All Saints Lutheran Church in Novato on Friday starting at 10 a.m. with a coffee.

The church women sew, and make health kits, school bags and sewing sets as part of the offering.

Mrs. Sam Young is president of the council and Mrs. Richard C. Koch is chairman for the World Community Day.

years we were sent to San Francisco," said the blue-eyed lady. "We never know how much longer we will stay at any post."

They have two children. Their daughter, Dagmar, was married to a University of California professor, Carl Guthke, in Belvedere two years ago. She and her husband now live in Toronto. Their son is in Munich. He is studying for his law examinations.

"We are always interested in young people," she said, "and particularly in the opportunities now offered for exchange students to live in various countries. We will be very happy to receive any German students who are in Marin County under any of the exchange programs."

FOR RELAXATION Mrs. Von Nostitz enjoys working in the garden. She and her husband play golf, often at the Mill Valley Golf Course. "While we enjoy golf, we are not too good at the game. My husband says we are 'old beginners'." The Consul General has written several books on international topics, and is now working on a new book about Algeria and the experiences of a diplomat there during the historic conflict between the French and the Algerians.

The hostess pointed out some of the things which they had acquired in their travels — carpets, silver bowls, and a copper brazier from Turkey, a wall hanging from Persia, paintings and an antique sideboard brought from Germany. . . . "What," we asked "will you take back from San Francisco?"

"A seascape painted by a friend in Berkeley, many books, some dedicated to Consul General Von Nostitz by friends on the faculties of Stanford University and the University of California. We will also take back our memories of friendships and the message that Americans want only to help people," said the diplomat's wife.

Susan Woods Recites Vows With Ronald W. Ringen

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Woods of Mill Valley, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren J. Ringen of Strawberry.

Gary Ringen of Strawberry served his brother as best man, and ushers were his brothers Tod and Kip Ringen of Strawberry and Earl Hamlow of Rohnert Park.

A reception was held at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. On their return from a wedding trip to Catalina Island, the couple will live in an apartment in Tennessee Valley.

Susan and Ronald are graduates of Tamalpais High School. She is cashier at Thrifty Drugs in Corte Madera, and he is employed with his father-in-law in Mill Valley.

The bride has a brother, William Woods Jr. of San Mateo, and is the granddaughter of Mrs. Raymond Christian of Daly City. The bridegroom has a sister Kathleen Ringen, and another brother, Ricky Ringen of Strawberry, and he is the grandson of Mrs. Evelyn Ringen Kick of San Francisco.

Think Mink

Until a few short seasons ago, mink was the undisputed status symbol and its style was always the same—whether its affluent owner was tall, short, thin or matronly plump. It is no longer regarded as a status symbol but its popularity has increased because of its warmth, light weight, and because of the very nature of the fur. It can be shaped and fashioned into countless styles. Mink also wears better than most other furs.

ELIZABETH Solinsky became the bride of Dr. Martin Terplan in a garden wedding at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Solinsky III of Kent Woodlands. She recited her vows wearing an antique lace and net gown worn by her grandmother.

Imler-Drumright Vows Exchanged

The wedding of Evelyn Gisela Drumright of Larkspur to John Daniel Imler took place on Oct. 14 at the Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley. The Rev. Harold G. Johnson officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride chose an evory peau de soie gown with Chantilly sleeves and long train. Her attendants, Micheline Whitworth of Larkspur, maid of honor, and Shari Eichstaet and Judy Barnes of Larkspur, bridesmaids, wore light blue peau de soie dresses with Chantilly lace.

John Sheets of San Rafael served as best man, and the ushers were the bride's brother, Michael Drumright of Concordia College, Oakland, and Sam King, serving with the Navy aboard the Enterprise.

Suds Cutlery Trays

Those divided plastic cutlery trays are handy helpers to organize kitchen gadget or silverware drawers, but also can be a hindrance to sanitary eating if left off your periodic clean-up list. Make it a habit to empty these trays of their contents occasionally. Shake out crumbs and other debris. Then wash in hot soap or detergent suds, rinse, and dry well.

Linda Ambrose Is Engaged To Wed Stephen R. Larsen

Mrs. Stanley Shores of Phoenix, Ariz, and W. L. Ambrose of Mill Valley announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Darlene Ambrose of San Francisco, to Stephen R. Larsen.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Larsen of Lancaster, Pa.

A member on her father's side of the California pioneer Locke family, the bride-elect attended San Francisco State College and holds a degree in English and the humanities from Arizona State University. She is employed with P & O Lines in San Francisco.

She is the sister of Warren Ambrose of Stanford and Arthur and Lars Ambrose of Phoenix.

The future bridegroom expects to be graduated from Arizona State University in June. He is the brother of Terry Larsen, a student of Arizona State, and Kris Larsen of Lancaster.

Suds Cutlery Trays

Those divided plastic cutlery trays are handy helpers to organize kitchen gadget or silverware drawers, but also can be a hindrance to sanitary eating if left off your periodic clean-up list. Make it a habit to empty these trays of their contents occasionally. Shake out crumbs and other debris. Then wash in hot soap or detergent suds, rinse, and dry well.

LINDA AMBROSE

Mrs. Stanley Shores of Phoenix, Ariz, and W. L. Ambrose of Mill Valley announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Darlene Ambrose of San Francisco, to Stephen R. Larsen.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Larsen of Lancaster, Pa.

A member on her father's side of the California pioneer Locke family, the bride-elect attended San Francisco State College and holds a degree in English and the humanities from Arizona State University. She is employed with P & O Lines in San Francisco.

She is the sister of Warren Ambrose of Stanford and Arthur and Lars Ambrose of Phoenix.

The future bridegroom expects to be graduated from Arizona State University in June. He is the brother of Terry Larsen, a student of Arizona State, and Kris Larsen of Lancaster.

After Three Months, A Realignment Pact

After three months of study and discussion, Larkspur School District board announced last night it had reached agreement with the Reed School district over a realignment of the district bounary at East Corte Madera.

Paradise Drive will in future form the boundary line between the two districts if the county superintendent of schools office and the board of supervisors approve the action.

Reed School District had requested Larkspur to re-draw the line which until now has cut through Mariner Green town houses, a relatively new complex.

Supt. Milton S. Cohen of Larkspur said today the 18 children affected have so far been granted inter-district agreement transfers to allow them to attend Reed School. The agreements will not be needed when the realignment becomes legal in about five months.

Larkspur School District also:

GRANT — Made application for a $44,827 federal grant to establish a district library and instructional material center to be housed at Henry C. Hall School.

AGREEMENT — Entered into an agreement with Kentfield School District for the formation of an inter-district class for nine educationally handicapped children.

STUDENTS — Made arrangements with the San Francisco State College for the employment of three student teachers in the district.

DRUGS — Heard of the meeting on drug abuse to be sponsored jointly by the Parent-Teacher associations of the district Nov. 8 at San Clemente School at 7:30 p.m.

COMMITTEE — Were told Cohen had been appointed to the nominating committee for new officers of the California Association of School Administrators.

'Cop Haters' Help Rescue A Policeman

OAKLAND (UPI)—Two hippies and a business executive joined forces today to rescue an Oakland police officer being beaten by a man whose car he had stopped.

Patrolman Robert Coffman, 23, pulled the car over for speeding and its driver, Robert Kennedy, 21, an Oakland machinist, jumped out and began swinging.

The policeman was losing when two passing hippies and Allen King, a San Francisco savings and loan executive, came to his aid.

The helpful hippies refused to give their names. They told Coffman: "We hate cops. But we hated worse to see you take a beating."

Restaurant, Medical Center Plans Are Shown In Fairfax

Preliminary plans for a medical center, apartments and restaurant on Olema Road were shown to the Fairfax Planning Commission last night by Bob Dill of Sonoma.

The location is in a planned unit development zone. Dill presented his plans for informal discussion, and the commission set a special meeting fpr Nov. 9 at 8 p.m. to act on them.

The Fairfax planning commissioners unanimously approved a permit for a book store above Coffee Unlimited at 11 Bolinas Road, to be operated by John D. Arms and George Skiff Ford and deal principally in paperbacks.

Commissioners felt doubtful, however, that Reginald Brood should be allowed to conduct an automobile door handle importing business in his home at 83 Live Oak Street. Brood withdrew his application for a conditional zoning permit, saying he would find another location to store the door handles.

He imports the decorative handles from Australia and sells them to automotive firms that install them on cars the owners want to dress up. Brood said his is the only such business in the United States.

Kenneth E. Niles' application for a use permit for a commercial building at 141 and 145 Bolinas Road was withdrawn to await decision on possible location of a Fairfax Civic Center there. The land is now zoned commercial but is recommended in the city's new general plan for either the civic center or residential use.

The commission unanimously recommended city council adoption of the city-county planning council plan.

A second special meeting was set for Nov. 16 at 8 p.m. to adopt non commercial and circulation portions of the general plan. Commissioner Martin Zernicke was absent.

The life expectancy of an Allied combat pilot on the Western Front in World War I was reckoned to be from two to three weeks.

Rights Executive Position On Tap

The Marin Human Rights Commission will meet in special session Monday night to wrestle with the problem of how to fill the post of executive director, and what his responsibilities should be.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. in Room 400 of the Civic Center, with chairman James Quiett presiding.

The tenure of past executive directors has been short lived. Robert B. Brauer quit on July 31 last year, after nine months. His successor, Gene T. Orro, resigned last Sept. 13 after six weeks of duty.

County Administrator Alan Bruce and Thomas F. Campanella, his assistant, will attend the meeting to discuss the executive director's job description, qualifications and duties.

TV REVIEW

Call Don Knotts For Any Rating

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Don Knotts, perhaps the most popular supporting actor produced by a television series, turned up last night as the star of a one-hour variety broadcast on CBS-TV.

Knotts, who first came to light as the shaky comedy companion of Louis Nye and Tom Poston on the old Steve Allen show—and then gained great popularity as the deputy sheriff on the Andy Griffith series—was joined by Griffith, Juliet Prowse and Roger Williams, a pianist.

NOT SPECIALS

This was one of CBS-TVs money-in-the-bank hours that are called "specials" but really aren't much more than some big stars in a standard comedy-variety format. CBS-TV couldn't care less what you call it because it is virtually a certainty to finish right up near the top of the ratings.

As I recall, last season Griffith had an almost identically sure-fire so-called "special" with Knotts as guest, and I believe that when the ratings came out Griffith's series and his "special" were the No. 1 and No. 2 programs. Griffith may well be the most popular star on television at the moment. And he is about as much of a country boy as Dean Martin.

OUT OF DATE

Compared with what is going on in movies and on the legitimate stage, television's standard variety shows are about as up to date in attitude as a primitive tribal ritual. But if there is anything people hate to change, it is an old habit. And Aaron Ruben, who produced and wrote Thursday's hour, is a man who has long made his living off this fact, and was not about to try to alter things.

Griffith played his country boy bit to the hilt. Miss Prowse did her usual stuff. Williams, an enormously successful, enormously facile piano player whose music is immediately gone with the wind, played his usual zippy stuff and smiled.

And Knotts—well, he just kills me, no matter what he does. He was very funny as a conventioneer who is shy when invited on to a nightclub stage by a performer, and then gets carried away by the song and dance and won't leave.

The rest of the hour wasn't much, but it doesn't matter. The ratings will be terrific. And if the whole thing was as basically pointless and useless—and profitable—as, say, a nursery school for children, well, who can argue with the apparent desire for glorified babysitting services of all types?

Prince Phillip Called On Carpet

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (AP) —Prince Philip, who suggested Wednesday that British industry suffered from bad management, today got a challenge from a works boss to "try the factory floor" for himself.

"Put on a pair of overalls, blacken your hands and work on a shop floor for six months," invited Bill Kirk, chairman of the Lawdon Manufacturing Co. at Wolverhampton.

Kirk said in a statement to local newspapers that the prince had never done a day's work in his life and would only learn about industry by joining the workers himself.

Arraignment On Forgery

Gilbert Schultz, 50, of San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of forgery. Plea entry was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Schultz allegedly had checks in his possession in Novato Aug. 18 which were stolen from Town-Tex Fabrics Co., San Francisco. Novato police said the checks were taken from the car of Robert T. Porta in San Francisco, a co-owner of the firm.

One check was presented by Schultz and a co-defendant Raymond Edward Amiotte, 42, address unknown, at Lee Bros. Value World market in Novato for $15 worth of groceries, and $78 in change was obtained, police said.

Amiotte is still at large.

Arraignment Is Held On Car Theft

Arraignment of Dennis F. Harrington, 18, of San Francisco, on a car theft complaint was held in Marin Municipal Court yesterday. Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon.

The first shelters used by early settlers in America were made of brush, reeds, and turf in the shape of a cone, and were referred to as "English Wigwams."

Quadruplets Reported Good

TOLEDO, Spain, (AP) — Four girls born to Mrs. Eugenio Palomo Vazquez yesterday were reported healthy and ready to take their first food today.

The quadruplets are in incubators in a Toledo hospital. The 27-year-old mother was reported feeling fine.

She and her husband have three other children. They live in a one-room house, and provincial officials have started a subscription fund for their benefit.

Humphrey Beings Three-Nation Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey embarked today on a three-nation Asian tour that includes witnessing the inauguration of the newly elected South Vietnamese government in Saigon next Tuesday.

TV REVIEW

Call Don Knotts For Any Rating

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Don Knotts, perhaps the most popular supporting actor produced by a television series, turned up last night as the star of a one-hour variety broadcast on CBS-TV.

Knotts, who first came to light as the shaky comedy companion of Louis Nye and Tom Poston on the old Steve Allen show—and then gained great popularity as the deputy sheriff on the Andy Griffith series—was joined by Griffith, Juliet Prowse and Roger Williams, a pianist.

NOT SPECIALS

This was one of CBS-TVs money-in-the-bank hours that are called "specials" but really aren't much more than some big stars in a standard comedy-variety format. CBS-TV couldn't care less what you call it because it is virtually a certainty to finish right up near the top of the ratings.

As I recall, last season Griffith had an almost identically sure-fire so-called "special" with Knotts as guest, and I believe that when the ratings came out Griffith's series and his "special" were the No. 1 and No. 2 programs. Griffith may well be the most popular star on television at the moment. And he is about as much of a country boy as Dean Martin.

OUT OF DATE

Compared with what is going on in movies and on the legitimate stage, television's standard variety shows are about as up to date in attitude as a primitive tribal ritual. But if there is anything people hate to change, it is an old habit. And Aaron Ruben, who produced and wrote Thursday's hour, is a man who has long made his living off this fact, and was not about to try to alter things.

Griffith played his country boy bit to the hilt. Miss Prowse did her usual stuff. Williams, an enormously successful, enormously facile piano player whose music is immediately gone with the wind, played his usual zippy stuff and smiled. And Knotts—well, he just kills me, no matter what he does. He was very funny as a conventioneer who is shy when invited on to a nightclub stage by a performer, and then gets carried away by the song and dance and won't leave.

The rest of the hour wasn't much, but it doesn't matter. The ratings will be terrific. And if the whole thing was as basically pointless and useless—and profitable—as, say, a nursery school for children, well, who can argue with the apparent desire for glorified babysitting services of all types?

Prince Phillip Called On Carpet

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (AP) —Prince Philip, who suggested Wednesday that British industry suffered from bad management, today got a challenge from a works boss to "try the factory floor" for himself.

"Put on a pair of overalls, blacken your hands and work on a shop floor for six months," invited Bill Kirk, chairman of the Lawdon Manufacturing Co. at Wolverhampton.

Kirk said in a statement to local newspapers that the prince had never done a day's work in his life and would only learn about industry by joining the workers himself.

Arraignment On Forgery

Gilbert Schultz, 50, of San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of forgery. Plea entry was scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Schultz allegedly had checks in his possession in Novato Aug. 18 which were stolen from Town-Tex Fabrics Co., San Francisco. Novato police said the checks were taken from the car of Robert T. Porta in San Francisco, a co-owner of the firm.

One check was presented by Schultz and a co-defendant Raymond Edward Amiotte, 42, address unknown, at Lee Bros. Value World market in Novato for $15 worth of groceries, and $78 in change was obtained, police said.

Amiotte is still at large.

Arraignment Is Held On Car Theft

Arraignment of Dennis F. Harrington, 18, of San Francisco, on a car theft complaint was held in Marin Municipal Court yesterday. Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon.

"Now, to bring us up to date on today's history lesson, we switch to Douglas Edwards with CBS news . . ."

The first shelters used by early settlers in America were made of brush, reeds, and turf in the shape of a cone, and were referred to as "English Wigwams."

Quadruplets Reported Good

TOLEDO, Spain, (AP) — Four girls born to Mrs. Eugenio Palomo Vazquez yesterday were reported healthy and ready to take their first food today.

The quadruplets are in incubators in a Toledo hospital. The 27-year-old mother was reported feeling fine.

She and her husband have three other children. They live in a one-room house, and provincial officials have started a subscription fund for their benefit.

Humphrey Beings Three-Nation Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey embarked today on a three-nation Asian tour that includes witnessing the inauguration of the newly elected South Vietnamese government in Saigon next Tuesday.

MARIN FILM FARE

'The Long Duel' At The Rafael

By LES DARD

RAFAEL THEATER

Howard plays a British captain in India, an idealist who resents the mistreatment of the Indians by his British superiors and colleagues. Brynner plays a sultan of a tribe of nomads, determined to fight to recover lands wrongfully taken from them by the British.

A fugitive by circumstance, Brynner and his tribesmen want to avoid bloodshed, working toward the time when their army is strong enough to do battle. But not all British think like Howard; they hound the Indians and force fighting.

In the end, little is settled and nothing won — but the British captain and Indian sultan have developed an abiding respect for each other.

Action scenes are especially well done.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Here's a first class double bill:

"Two for the Road" stars Audrey Hepburn and Albert Finney in what is sometimes comedy and sometimes quite wistful. They meet hitchhiking across France, fall in love and marry.

"Caprice," featuring Doris Day and Richard Harris, is a slick tale about a ring of industrial spies, with action moving from Switzerland to Paris to Los Angeles.

NORTHGATE THEATER

Held over again is "The Endless Summer," an unusual surfing film that has pleased wide audiences throughout the country.

There's no beach party nonsense here. It's the best look at the serious surfer yet.

NOVATO THEATER

SEQUOIA THEATER

James Bond is back, in "You Only Live Twice." Playing Ian Fleming's hyperthyroidic hero again is Sean Connery — and there's as much action, intrigue and pulchritude as ever.

101 DRIVE-IN

George C. Scott delivers a memorable performance as a lovable con man in "The Flim-Flam Man," now on screen.

The story evolves around an AWOL young soldier who takes up with the old scoundrel and agrees to learn his trade. The older man almost convinces him that greed — not love — is what makes the world go round.

LARK THEATER

Melodrama, comedy, fantasy and satire — they're all part of "King of Hearts," which sets out to show that war is absurd, and makes the point effectively.

The fun is infectious.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Still delighting audiences, and held over again, is "The Taming of the Shrew." It's the latest venture of superstars Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton.

And it's Shakespeare as you like it.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Also remaining is the superb drama, "The Sand Pebbles," about another time of tension for Americans when China was disposing of "the foreign devils."

Steve McQueen plays a young engineer with loyalty only to himself and his engines — until he becomes involved. Richard Crenna performs well as the captain caught in one tight situation after another.

MOTOR MOVIES

The young crowd will likely gets its fill of screeching tires and tough talk in the current double bill: "The Wild Rebels" and "Hell on Wheels."

Art Institute Will Exhibit At Dominican

A collection of drawings exhibited in the U.S. Pavillion at Expo 67 will show at Daminican College in San Rafael from Monday until Nov. 10.

The drawings, by instructors and graduate students of the San Francisco Art Institute, are in pencil, ink, gouache and acrylic. Show hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays at the San Marco Art Gallery at the college.

Excavation Slides

Members of the Northwestern California Archaeological Society will discuss and see slides of the recent excavation of an Indian cemetery in Tiburon at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Room 100 of Novato High School.

Marin Arts Quartet Sets Season

The Marin Arts Quartet has announced its schedule of 1967-68 series of concerts to be presented at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

The chamber group will perform three concerts during its twelfth season, each on Sunday at 3 p.m. Dates will be Nov. 12, Jan. 14 and March 3.

Pianist Robaline Meacham and soprano Gwen Curatilo will be guest artists. Works will include the Quartet No. 1 of Kirke Mecham, premiered by the quartet two years ago, and Quartet No. 3 of Darius Milhaud, composed in 1916 but not released for public performance until recently.

Profs Ignore No Union Plea

POMONA, (AP) — California state college professors moved ahead today with plans to unionize, despite a trustees' 14-2 vote that they would not bargain collectively with the faculty.

But while turning thumbs down yesterday on the collective bargaining request, trustees recommended faculty pay increases averaging nearly 17 per cent yearly and proposed a $243-million budget for 1968-69.

The trustees, meeting the past two days at Cal Poly Pomona, said they would continue their policy of dealing with faculty organized in the academic senates on the 18 campuses of the state college system.

'My Three Angels' Tryouts Are Set

The Terra Linda Players will hold tryouts at 2 p.m. Nov. 5 and 8 p.m. Nov. 6 at the Church in Ignacio for the play "My Three Angels."

The cast will have seven men and three women. The comedy will be directed by Richard Sparapany.

Pollution Talk

Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District will hear recommendations on possible changes in incineration and industrial waste regulations at 10 a.m. Wednesday at 1480 Mission Street, San Francisco.

Previews Set For Fry Play

Performances tonight, tomorrow and Sunday will preview the opening Nov. 3 of the Festival Theater production of "The Lady's Not For Burning."

The production, at the San Anselmo theater, will be directed by A. J. Esta. The play, by Christopher Fry, has been produced in London and New York.

"The Lady's Not For Burning" will be presented Friday and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. through Dec. 10. The theater is at Kensington Road and Bolinas Avenue, San Anselmo.

Dominican Sets Two Workshops

Drama and opera workshops of Dominican College in San Rafael will produce a play by Edna St. Vincent Millay and scenes from operas at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Angelico Hall.

The fantasy play "Aria Da Capo" will be augmented by scenes from "Carmen," "Faust", and "Marriage of Figaro."

Final Play Round Is This Weekend

The final performance by the Cove Players of the comedy, "Catch Me If You Can", will be at 9 p.m. today and tomorrow at 41 Main Street, Tiburon.

MARIN FILM FARE

'The Long Duel' At The Rafael

By LES DARD

Here's a look at the current film fare available on Marin screens this weekend:

RAFAEL THEATER

Howard plays a British captain in India, an idealist who resents the mistreatment of the Indians by his British superiors and colleagues. Brynner plays a sultan of a tribe of nomads, determined to fight to recover lands wrongfully taken from them by the British.

A fugitive by circumstance, Brynner and his tribesmen want to avoid bloodshed, working toward the time when their army is strong enough to do battle. But not all British think like Howard; they hound the Indians and force fighting.

In the end, little is settled and nothing won — but the British captain and Indian sultan have developed an abiding respect for each other.

Action scenes are especially well done.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Here's a first class double bill:

"Two for the Road" stars Audrey Hepburn and Albert Finney in what is sometimes comedy and sometimes quite wistful. They meet hitchhiking across France, fall in love and marry.

"Caprice," featuring Doris Day and Richard Harris, is a slick tale about a ring of industrial spies, with action moving from Switzerland to Paris to Los Angeles.

NORTHGATE THEATER

Held over again is "The Endless Summer," an unusual surfing film that has pleased wide audiences throughout the country.

There's no beach party nonsense here. It's the best look at the serious surfer yet.

NOVATO THEATER

SEQUOIA THEATER

James Bond is back, in "You Only Live Twice." Playing Ian Fleming's hyperthyroidic hero again is Sean Connery — and there's as much action, intrigue and pulchritude as ever.

101 DRIVE-IN

George C. Scott delivers a memorable performance as a lovable con man in "The Flim-Flam Man," now on screen.

The story evolves around an AWOL young soldier who takes up with the old scoundrel and agrees to learn his trade. The older man almost convinces him that greed — not love — is what makes the world go round.

LARK THEATER

Melodrama, comedy, fantasy and satire — they're all part of "King of Hearts," which sets out to show that war is absurd, and makes the point effectively.

Alan Bates plays a World War I Scottish soldier assigned to neutralize explosives left by the Germans in an abandoned town. Bates inadvertently sets free the inmates of an insane asylum, who eventually crown him their king.

The fun is infectious.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Still delighting audiences, and held over again, is "The Taming of the Shrew." It's the latest venture of superstars Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton.

And it's Shakespeare as you like it.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Also remaining is the superb drama, "The Sand Pebbles," about another time of tension for Americans when China was disposing of "the foreign devils."

Steve McQueen plays a young engineer with loyalty only to himself and his engines — until he becomes involved. Richard Crenna performs well as the captain caught in one tight situation after another.

MOTOR MOVIES

The young crowd will likely gets its fill of screeching tires and tough talk in the current double bill: "The Wild Rebels" and "Hell on Wheels."

Art Institute Will Exhibit At Dominican

A collection of drawings exhibited in the U.S. Pavillion at Expo 67 will show at Daminican College in San Rafael from Monday until Nov. 10.

The drawings, by instructors and graduate students of the San Francisco Art Institute, are in pencil, ink, gouache and acrylic. Show hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays at the San Marco Art Gallery at the college.

Excavation Slides

Members of the Northwestern California Archaeological Society will discuss and see slides of the recent excavation of an Indian cemetery in Tiburon at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Room 100 of Novato High School.

Marin Arts Quartet Sets Season

The Marin Arts Quartet has announced its schedule of 1967-68 series of concerts to be presented at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

The chamber group will perform three concerts during its twelfth season, each on Sunday at 3 p.m. Dates will be Nov. 12, Jan. 14 and March 3.

Pianist Robaline Meacham and soprano Gwen Curatilo will be guest artists. Works will include the Quartet No. 1 of Kirke Mecham, premiered by the quartet two years ago, and Quartet No. 3 of Darius Milhaud, composed in 1916 but not released for public performance until recently.

Profs Ignore No Union Plea

POMONA, (AP) — California state college professors moved ahead today with plans to unionize, despite a trustees' 14-2 vote that they would not bargain collectively with the faculty.

But while turning thumbs down yesterday on the collective bargaining request, trustees recommended faculty pay increases averaging nearly 17 per cent yearly and proposed a $243-million budget for 1968-69.

The trustees, meeting the past two days at Cal Poly Pomona, said they would continue their policy of dealing with faculty organized in the academic senates on the 18 campuses of the state college system.

'My Three Angels' Tryouts Are Set

The Terra Linda Players will hold tryouts at 2 p.m. Nov. 5 and 8 p.m. Nov. 6 at the Church in Ignacio for the play "My Three Angels."

The cast will have seven men and three women. The comedy will be directed by Richard Sparapany.

Pollution Talk

Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District will hear recommendations on possible changes in incineration and industrial waste regulations at 10 a.m. Wednesday at 1480 Mission Street, San Francisco.

Previews Set For Fry Play

Performances tonight, tomorrow and Sunday will preview the opening Nov. 3 of the Festival Theater production of "The Lady's Not For Burning."

The production, at the San Anselmo theater, will be directed by A. J. Esta. The play, by Christopher Fry, has been produced in London and New York.

"The Lady's Not For Burning" will be presented Friday and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 7:30 p.m. through Dec. 10. The theater is at Kensington Road and Bolinas Avenue, San Anselmo.

Dominican Sets Two Workshops

Drama and opera workshops of Dominican College in San Rafael will produce a play by Edna St. Vincent Millay and scenes from operas at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Angelico Hall.

The fantasy play "Aria Da Capo" will be augmented by scenes from "Carmen," "Faust", and "Marriage of Figaro."

Final Play Round Is This Weekend

The final performance by the Cove Players of the comedy, "Catch Me If You Can", will be at 9 p.m. today and tomorrow at 41 Main Street, Tiburon.

Wrecked Car Is Impounded

A wrecked automobile driven off the road into a vacant lot adjacent to 88 Round Hill Road, Tiburon, was ordered towed away and impounded by the sheriff's department yesterday.

The automobile, registered to Carlos Barnes, 1752 Sutter Street, San Francisco, was backed off a steep driveway into the empty lot by Barnes Wednesday afternoon, sheriff's deputies said. Barnes apparently unhurt, was taken to a bus by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bodian of 88 Round Hill Road, whom he had approached about employment as a gardener.

James Reed, a contractor working in the area, told deputies in Tiburon yesterday that the car was a potential hazard for young children playing in the neighborhood, and officer Victor L. Carrara ordered the car impounded.

Nervous Burglars Flee, Set Off Alarm In Store

An off-duty sheriff's deputy driving nearby saw the two men fleeing the Drake Avenue store when the alarm sounded at 5:40 a.m. They escaped in the darkness, although on-duty deputies arrived within two minutes.

The pair, who apparently entered through a roof vent, had collected four cartons of cigarettes and 31 rolls of pennies in a paper sack.

They came to grief when trying to sneak out of the building. They set a ladder on the checkout counter to climb through a vent, but the ladder fell over and the sack dropped.

Vietnam Cadets View The Fighting

By DON BRANNING

Six red berets were to be seen about the campus at San Rafael Military Academy today, their young wearers walking beneath the big trees.

They are boys from the Highland Junior Military Academy at Pleku in the Vietnamese highlands. The U.S. 4th Infantry Division has its headquarters near Pleiku, where there has been much fighting, and the Army chose them to make a trip to the United States.

Their names are Nguyen Van Nam, 14; Ksor In, 16, Van Hong Doi, 17; Y Lai, 16; Ha Van Vinh, 15, and Kim My To, 18. With them is their instructor 1st Lt. Tran Xuan Phu, who was in combat with the regular Vietnamese Army until he was assigned to the Highland military academy two years ago.

It is the boys who say they hate the Viet Cong, but it is Lieutenant Tran Xuan Phu, very small and delicate by our standars, who has the sad eyes.

"He says he detests the Viet Cong," said Lt. Tran Xuan Phu, speaking for Kim My To, whose eyes flashed angrily. The boy's father was killed in the war.

"Yes, they have seen some of the war," said the lieutenant. "They have seen many, many dead civilians." The boys nodded excitedly — many, many dead civilians. The military academy is near Pleiku and they have heard the artillery.

Tran Xuan Phu observed:

"Of the anti-war people in the United States, they say that very many people do not know yet of the situation in Vietnam. They say these people are influenced by the Communists. They say these people make themselves in opposition to the U.S., but sooner or later they will know who is right.

"They say they do not know what they think of the war, because it is a political problem and too high for them."

Kim My To, the one with angry eyes, interrupted Tran Xuan Phu with somehting in Vietnamese.

"He says how many husbands have lost their wives and how many wives have lost their husbands, and now many parents have lost their children."

The cadets from Vietnam, who arrived at Travis Air Force Base Monday from Saigon, will stay at the San Rafael Military Academy another couple of weeks, and will visit military academies in North Hollywood and Carlsbad before returning home.

The war in Vietnam was going on before any of Tran Xuan Phu's young charges were born, but two of them are near the time when they must fulfill their military obligation in the Vietnamese Army.

"But I think the war will be over soon," said Tran Xuan Phu, whose eyes have the sadness. "That is my opinion." The attention of the boys wandered as he talked, and they laughed and chattered among themselves in a strange country.

Middle School Site Session Is Set Monday

The Mill Valley Middle School Committee will meet with architects and other consultants Monday morning to study possible building locations and program needs if the middle school is built on the Alto-Edna Maguire School site.

School district board members have also been invited, Supt. James A. Collins said. The meeting will be at 8:45 a.m. at the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office in Corte Madera.

Consultants present will include Aubrey Hahn, dean of education at San Francisco State College, and representatives from the state Bureau of School Planning.

The middle school committee comprises several teachers in the district. It is not the joint city council-school district committee formed recently to study middle school sites.

Hippie Home Hearing Set

Hearing is set for 10 a.m. Dec. 27 in San Francisco Municipal Court for Rev. E. Larry Beggs of Mill Valley, charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency for allegedly sheltering runaways at Huckleberry's for Runaways in San Francisco.

A mother of a 13-year-old boy complained to police that her son was at the church-supported institution and refused to come home. Her complaint brought a police raid last Friday and charges against Beggs and two others at the center, located at 1 Broderick Street.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported that Beggs' hearing would be today.

Novato School Bidder Claims Error In Cost

The low bidder for construction of a San Marin high school in Novato last night asked permission to withdraw his bid because of an error in the figures.

James G. Bunker, superintendent of the Novato Unified School District, said today that the district is checking with the office of the Marin County Counsel on the legality of allowing the bid to be withdrawn. Trustees will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the district office to consider legal advice and the next move in this second bidding round.

TOO HIGH

On Oct. 16 the board rejected all bids for construction of the school on San Marin Drive and Novato Boulevard becuase they were all higher than the $1,654,583 state allocation for base bid.

E. C. Anderson of San Francisco, representing the construction firm of the same name, last night explained to trustees at a special meeting that his bid of $1,559,000, the lowest of five, was not correct.

Anderson told the board that a $44,000 figure which should have been added was subtracted which, with the margin of profit, would make about a $90,000 error in the bid, Bunker said.

WITHIN RANGE

Bunker noted that the second lowest bid, from Royce Hall Co. of Napa, $1,651,453 was still within the state's required maximum and said he was confident that this bidding would bring award of a contract.

Other bids were from Rapp Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, $1,799,000; James E. Roberts, Oakland, $1,762,800; Pacific Coast Builders, San Francisco, $1,766,000.

Retirement Policy Out

The six employees of the Las Gallinas Sanitary District will not get a retirement plan but may be considered for salary raises before the end of the year.

This was the decision reached last night by the district directors, headed by chairman William E. Brook. The Directors decided that, instead of an expensive retirement plan, it would be less expensive to consider other benefits like salary raises.

Mrs. Helne Foulkes, district secretary, said the directors also accepted the sewer system at Twelve Oak Hill Subdivision No. 6, by Marin Master Builders, and discussed the possible future annexation of 300 acres adjacent to Marinwood Unit 7 to the sanitary district.

Christmas Party

The San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce yesterday agreed to cooperate with the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission in sponsoring a children's Christmas party. Films will be shown in city hall and a Santa Claus will be present, William A. Thewhella, chamber manager said. Date of the affair has not yet been set.

Consultant For Novato Plan Viewed

Novato's new planning director, Mark Phillip David, conferred with the city's downtown planning committee yesterday afternoon on the possibility of hiring a consultant to study the downtown area.

They discussed a downtown study in two phases: study of the economic base for the city's businesses, the businesses relate to the city's and county's potential buyers, and recommendations on the physical plan for the downtown, City Mgr. J. Julien Baget reported.

The downtown committee will meet at 4 p.m. Thursday in Baget's office to talk with a constultant on the economic side of a possible study, Baget said. Identity of the consultant still was unknown today, he said.

Any consultant recommended by the committee to the city council for a downtown study would be chosen by interview and references, not competitive bidding, Baget said.

Deputies Probe Two Burglaries

Two burglaries were reported today by sheriff's officers.

Atlas Metal and Machinery Co. reported Wednesday that someone pried a hasp off a rear gate at American Distilling Co., Sausalito, then entered the building and stole a 300-pound copper drum worth $100 and oxygen bottles.

Also taken were tools and a ladder, deputies said.

Richard E. Levinson, 2106 Shelter Bay, Alto, told officers Wednesday his car parked at Tamalpais High School was entered by prying a window. Stolen was a stereophonic set, he said.

SIXTH DEATH IN WEEK

Another Golden Gate Bridge Fatal Leap

The fifth siicide from the Golden Gate Bridge this week yesterday claimed the life of a 59-year-old Burlingame woman.

Mrs. Dorothy DeCleene Jochin of Burlingame was the sixth to die in falls from the span this week. One of the victims, bridge painter Lee R. Patrick of San Anselmo, fell to his death when a scaffold gave way and his safety line snapped.

Ironically, Mrs. Jochim just over a year ago worked for a month as a volunteer telephone counselor with Peninsula Suicide Prevention Inc., a group organized to try to curb the suicide rate.

SEES BODY

Two Coast Guardsmen saw her body plummet to the rocks below the Marin end of the bridge at 10:23 a.m. yesterday. It was picked up minutes later by a Coast Guard cutter.

She had left her auto at Vista Point. In it was her purse, containing $19.

On a table in her Burlingame home, police found a note with instructions to notify a relative and University of California Medical Society, to which Mrs. Jochim had willed her body.

On Wednesday, besides Patrick's fatal fall, William Lyon, 51, of San Francisco, a former Fairfax resident, leaped to his death from the bridge.

On Tuesday, leaps from the span took the lives of Gardner Acton Dailey, 72, San Francisco architect who designed the Marin Art and Garden Center, and John Michael Harte, 42, a San Francisco roofer.

SEAMAN DIES

On Sunday, Louis A. Roben, 57, a San Francisco seaman, died in a suicide plunge from the bridge.

Figures on the total of suicides from the Golden Gate Bridge since it opened 30 years ago are inaccurate, since the bodies of some suspected suicides were never recovered. But the toll is believed to be about 330.

As arrangements for bridge painter Patrick's funeral were made today, his death brought a new demand from San Francisco Local 4 of the Painters Union for firing of James Adam, bridge general manager.

Morris Evenson, union secretary, charged that Adam had refused to discuss safety measures with the union.

Mac Kirkham of Pacifica, San Mateo County, a co-worker with Patrick, declared, "If we had modern equipment, Patrick would be alive." He said bridge directors appropriated money freely for second-deck studies but refused to buy safer scaffolding for workers.

Funeral for Patrick will be at 8 p.m. Sunday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael, where friends may call after noon tomorrow.

Special Session Set On Building

Trustees of the Tomales High School District will meet in special session at 8 p.m. Monday at the school to review bids and award a contract for construction of a new high school.

Site for the new school is on Tomales Road about a half mile from the present school, which has been condemned. Voters on Sept. 19 approved $1.1 bond issued for school construction.

Slide Area Developers Are Sued

A developer and contractors of Loma Robles properties on San Anselmo's Red Hill, site of storm landslides last January, today were sued in Marin Superior Court for an alleged $450,000 loan default.

The plaintiff Continental Martgage Investors, charge that negligence — by developer Norman T. Gilroy and Associates of Mill Valley, and co-defendants Harding, Miller, Lawson and Associates, San Rafael soil engineers involved in the apartment project, and Brown-Ely Co. Contractors, San Rafael, construction grading — was responsible for the landslides.

On Nov. 11, 1965, Meadowbrook Developers Inc. of Novato negotiated a $773,150 loan from Occidental Capital Co., according to the suit, and on Dec. 10, 1965, Occidental assigned Meadowbrook's promissory note for the loan to Continental.

It states that on Dec. 31, 1965, Gilroy sold Meadowbrook his interest in Loma Robles and Gilroy was to develop the finished lots for Meadowbrook.

Between Decembre of 1965 and July 1, 1967, according to the complaint, Continental distributed $450,000 to the development. It charges that Meadowbrook is in default of the note, is now totally insolvent, and the Jan. 21 landslides rendered Loma Robles properties "unmarketable and economically worthless."

Meadowbrook is not named as a defendant in the suit.

Wrecked Car Is Impounded

A wrecked automobile driven off the road into a vacant lot adjacent to 88 Round Hill Road, Tiburon, was ordered towed away and impounded by the sheriff's department yesterday.

The automobile, registered to Carlos Barnes, 1752 Sutter Street, San Francisco, was backed off a steep driveway into the empty lot by Barnes Wednesday afternoon, sheriff's deputies said. Barnes apparently unhurt, was taken to a bus by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bodian of 88 Round Hill Road, whom he had approached about employment as a gardener.

James Reed, a contractor working in the area, told deputies in Tiburon yesterday that the car was a potential hazard for young children playing in the neighborhood, and officer Victor L. Carrara ordered the car impounded.

Nervous Burglars Flee, Set Off Alarm In Store

An off-duty sheriff's deputy driving nearby saw the two men fleeing the Drake Avenue store when the alarm sounded at 5:40 a.m. They escaped in the darkness, although on-duty deputies arrived within two minutes.

The pair, who apparently entered through a roof vent, had collected four cartons of cigarettes and 31 rolls of pennies in a paper sack.

They came to grief when trying to sneak out of the building. They set a ladder on the checkout counter to climb through a vent, but the ladder fell over and the sack dropped.

ONCE UPON A TIME

There was this old house, on a nice level lot, close to the bus and walking distance to schools and shops. The present owner has lived there for a long time, her children are grown and she wants to move North to live closer to her family. She's planning on leaving on the 1st of February. In the meantime the house has been remodeled in fine taste, with a large bright kitchen and carpet and drapes. 2 bedrooms, laundry room, basement and separate garage. Let us show you what a nice home you can get for $20,000.

ONCE UPON A TIME

There was this old house, on a nice level lot, close to the bus and walking distance to schools and shops. The present owner has lived there for a long time, her children are grown and she wants to move North to live closer to her family. She's planning on leaving on the 1st of February. In the meantime the house has been remodeled in fine taste, with a large bright kitchen and carpet and drapes. 2 bedrooms, laundry room, basement and separate garage. Let us show you what a nice home you can get for $20,000.

MIDSUMMER DREAM

Elegant decor and owner's TLC have transformed this Glenwood tri-level into a dream of well-appointed living. From the Sonoma stone garden walls to the deep pile carpeting, window coverings and expensive wallpapers within, the house bespeaks quality. 4 bedrooms, 3 baths, larhe family room are all arranged in a most efficient floor plan, and the separate dining room and pretty kitchen make meal planning and serving a pleasure.

NON-CLICHE

Striking architecture distinguishes this 3-bedroom, 2-bath, family room home with its soaring windows that look out over tennis and swim club. A warm, copper-hooded fireplace dominates the sunken living room, and there's a separate dining room. The master suite is nicely located in its own wing.

$45,950

FRESH GREENS . . .

In the form of orange, lemon and grapefruit trees provide delectable color and cooling shade for the wide, brick patio of this 3-bedroom, 2½ bath ranch in the Dominican area. Large, gracious rooms enhance this meticulously maintained house with quality extras like 2 elegant fireplaces, walk-in closets, 2 dining rooms — formal and informal — and utility room

EXECUTIVE CAR
'67 BUICK SPECIAL
$2695

Here's a little Special Deluxe 4-Dr. that we've used here at our company during the past eight months. It was used almost exclusively as a personal car by our used car sales manager.

Just over 6,000 miles but you'd never know it had any miles at all when you look at it. Light green mist with matching full vinyl interior. Fully equipped including automatic, V-8 engine, radio, heater, power steering, etc.

Never licensed so you would be the first and only owner of record. This car carries the full 5-year or 50,000-mile General Motors new-car guarantee even though it has 6,000 miles.

Sticker price on the window is $3209. Kelly Blue Book shows a used vehicle of like model and equipment should sell for $2810 without any guarantee. We'll sell this car for only $2695 with the full new-car guarantee.

EXECUTIVE CAR '67 BUICK SPECIAL $2695

Here's a little Special Deluxe 4-Dr. that we've used here at our company during the past eight months. It was used almost exclusively as a personal car by our used car sales manager.

Just over 6,000 miles but you'd never know it had any miles at all when you look at it. Light green mist with matching full vinyl interior. Fully equipped including automatic, V-8 engine, radio, heater, power steering, etc.

Never licensed so you would be the first and only owner of record. This car carries the full 5-year or 50,000-mile General Motors new-car guarantee even though it has 6,000 miles.

Sticker price on the window is $3209. Kelly Blue Book shows a used vehicle of like model and equipment should sell for $2810 without any guarantee. We'll sell this car for only $2695 with the full new-car guarantee.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the State Highway Engineer, Room 5101, Public Works Building, Sacramento, California, until 2 o'clock p.m. on November 8, 1967, at which time they will be publicly opened and read in the Assembly Room of said building, for landscape planting on State highway in accordance with the specifications therefor, to which special reference is made, as follows:

Marin County, in and near Corte Madera and Larkspur, between 0.4-mile south and 0.8-mile north of Tamalpais Drive Overcrossing (04-Mrn-101-7.0/8.2) about 1.2 miles in length, which includes about 11 acres of roadside areas to be prepared and planted, and an irrigation system to be installed.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein.

Plans, specifications, and proposal forms to be used for bidding on this project can only be obtained at the office of the State Highway Engineer, Public Works Building, Sacramento, California.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the State Highway Engineer at Sacramento, at the offices of the District Engineers at Los Angeles and San Francisco, and at the office of the District Engineer of the district in which the work is situated.

No bid will be considered unless it is made on a blank form furnished by the State Highway Engineer and is made in accordance with the provisions of the Standard Specifications and special provisions. Each bidder must be licensed as required by law.

The holidays upon which the holiday wage rate listed below shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification or type of workman concerned.

Copies of all collective bargaining agreements relating to the work are on file and available for inspection in the office of the Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Labor Statistics and research.

Attention is directed to Section 7-1.01G of the Standard Specifications providing for employment of apprentices on the work. Every such apprentice shall be paid the standard wage paid to apprentices under the regulations of the trade at which he is employed. Information relative to employment of apprentices shall be obtained from the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, who is the Administrative Officer of the California Apprenticeship Council.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 1770 of the Labor Code of the State of California, the Department of Public Works has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages for straight time, overtime, Saturday, Sunday and holiday work in the county in which the work is to be done to be as follows:

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the State Highway Engineer, Room 5101, Public Works Building, Sacramento, California, until 2 o'clock p.m. on November 8, 1967, at which time they will be publicly opened and read in the Assembly Room of said building, for landscape planting on State highway in accordance with the specifications therefor, to which special reference is made, as follows:

Marin County, in and near Corte Madera and Larkspur, between 0.4-mile south and 0.8-mile north of Tamalpais Drive Overcrossing (04-Mrn-101-7.0/8.2) about 1.2 miles in length, which includes about 11 acres of roadside areas to be prepared and planted, and an irrigation system to be installed.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein.

Plans, specifications, and proposal forms to be used for bidding on this project can only be obtained at the office of the State Highway Engineer, Public Works Building, Sacramento, California.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the State Highway Engineer at Sacramento, at the offices of the District Engineers at Los Angeles and San Francisco, and at the office of the District Engineer of the district in which the work is situated.

No bid will be considered unless it is made on a blank form furnished by the State Highway Engineer and is made in accordance with the provisions of the Standard Specifications and special provisions. Each bidder must be licensed as required by law.

The holidays upon which the holiday wage rate listed below shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification or type of workman concerned.

Copies of all collective bargaining agreements relating to the work are on file and available for inspection in the office of the Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Labor Statistics and research.

Attention is directed to Section 7-1.01G of the Standard Specifications providing for employment of apprentices on the work. Every such apprentice shall be paid the standard wage paid to apprentices under the regulations of the trade at which he is employed. Information relative to employment of apprentices shall be obtained from the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, who is the Administrative Officer of the California Apprenticeship Council.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 1770 of the Labor Code of the State of California, the Department of Public Works has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages for straight time, overtime, Saturday, Sunday and holiday work in the county in which the work is to be done to be as follows:

Arraignment On Injury Accident

Leonidas Valladeres, 46, of San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of drunken driving stemming from an accident that injured himself and two others.

He pleaded innocent and preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 14. Valladeres' car was involved in a collision with one driven on Highway 101 north of the Ignacio overpass Sept. 2 by David Ernest Emmons, 48, of San Bruno. Valladeres and two passengers, Rosalipina Arce de Medina, 33, and Antonia Valladeres, 46, were injured. bylzsa

Suspension Of Term On Having Drug And Needle

Bruce A. Tucker of Novato, convicted Oct. 3 of illegal possession of the drug methedrine and a hypodermic needle, was given a suspended term at California Youth Authority yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. also placed him on three years probation on condition he serve 90 days in county jail. Execution of the sentence was delayed, however, pending outcome of Tucker's appeal of the conviction to Marin Superior Court.

Tucker and Deborah H. Russell, 19, of San Francisco, were found guilty of having the items in a car on Highway 101 Sept. 1. Miss Russell has been granted a new trial.

Reviving Agency Will Be Discussed

Proposals to continue a regional Bay Area conservation agency, after disbanding of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission in 1969, will be considered by the commission on Thrusday.

Commissioners will meet at 2 p.m. in Room 1194 of the state building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Business and industry donate $1.5 million annually to 4-H clubs.

Bridge Now Built On Opinions Surrounding Stonehedge Mystery

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (SS) — Britain's Stone Age Mount Polamar—Stonehenge—was built so that ancient sun worshippers could predict when their god would be eclipsed.

Stonehenge is a circular pattern of large stones in southern England that includes 56 in the outer ring. The stones are laid out in a scheme that obviously has meaning but there is no agreement as to what that is.

The theory that Stonehenge served as astronomical observatory has been advanced by astronomers since early in this century but archaeologists have not found the astronomical thinking convincing.

Now, however, Dr. Fred Hoyle, director of England's new Institute for Theoretical Astronomy at the University of Cambridge, has built a bridge between the two sciences, presenting evidence that eliminated many of the archaeologists' reasons for disagreement. He reported at the autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences here.

Archaeologists have generally attacked such theories on the grounds that Stone Age man lacked the sophistication to figure out the theoretical basis of such a complex observatory.

Dr. Hoyle suggests that they didn't start with a theory, but with a pragmatic wooden model that they could change as its defects became obvious. Only when the observatory evolved and actually worked did they make it permanent.

Dr. Hoyle believes that the outer part of Stonehenge — the 56 circular markers — was built a little after 3000 B.C., and that the center structure for predicting solar and lunar eclipses was built several hundred years later.

The great stone monoliths at the center of Stonehenge were put in place after a long, painstaking test by trial and error using wooden posts.

The first wooden model tested could have resulted from the insight of a Stone Age genius equivalent to this century's Albert Einstein, Dr. Hoyle believes.

One of the most recent and ardent exponents of Stonehenge as an astronomical observatory is Dr. Gerald Hawkins of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass. He also suggested that the large stone markers were placed in a pattern for predicting solar and lunar eclipses, but thought the ancient men had worked out the proper positions theoretically.

Dr. Hoyle suggested, rather, that the pattern of Stonehenge was worked out as a field experiment by very observant men who noted that every year the sun's position in the sky was the same at the same time, such as mid-summer or mid-winter.

To measure such position accurately, they would have had to use relatively long distances for sighting, such as a circle about 100 yards in diameter, which is the size of Stonehenge. Many of the stones, however, seem to be slightly out of place for accurate measurements of solar and lunar positions.

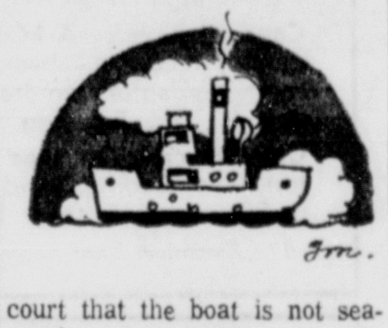
Dr. Hoyle has found that 19 of the 23 positions that seem to be out of line would be correct if they were lined up for observing not the actual date of mid-summer, but for two other observations: one during the week the sun approached its solstice and one as it moved back again. The average of these two observations would give a more accurate astronomical position than a single sighting at the time of solstice.

After several years of such observations, Dr. Hoyle speculates, the Einstein-of-his-time would have noticed that solar eclipses occurred only when the sun, earth and moon were lined up. The group then added the markers necessary to predict solar eclipses, first using wooden posts and then replacing them with the immovable stones so that later generations could not move them out of line.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Rights Of The Seaman



Since the early 1800's Congress has passed many laws to protect seamen. One law required that a ship be "seaworthy" and that the owner guarantee that its gear, hull, appliances, and the like be fit for the voyage. At first the law sought only to protcet cargo. It now protects seamen and passengers.

It is not enough, under the law, that the owner may have tried hard to keep his ship in good condition. He simply must do so regardless of anything. He guarantees the ship's fitness for its intended voyage. Seamen get great protection no matter whether they had themselves been careless, or helped to bring about an accident, or even had assumed some risks. Such factors, of course, may reduce the damages recoverable.

The seaworthiness guarantee goes beyond the voyage at sea. The courts have recently extended it to longshoremen on the docks. In a recent case, a longshoreman was loading cargo when a ship's door shut too soon and the cargo's full weight dropped on him. He sued the owner, claiming that the ship was unseaworthy. The court ruled for him, saying that the owner's warranty covered the loading of a vessel.

The guarantee applies at sea or in port. It imposes a liability, whether or not the owner is at fault, to protect any person doing seamen's work.

Ship passengers also receive wide protection. The shipowner, as a common carrier, must use great care to protect passengers. He also has a contract for transportation to which the courts will hold him. Common carriers are subject to much governmental regulation on all parts of the ship — lifeboats, railings, gangways, mechanical operation, and fire protection. Failure to conform to these regulations may well indicate to a court that the boat is not seaworthy.

Private boat owners have no such duty or care to those who ride on their boats, even those who may ride for business purposes or who pay their fare. The private boat owner owes a duty not to be negligent but the rule of "seaworthiness" does not apply. Non-paying "guests" on his boat have even less protection. Under California law the operator ought not to be drunk, or wilfully or wantonly negligent. Although his boat cannot be a hidden trap, he has no affirmative duty to make his boat safe for his non-paying riders.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Speech, Hearing Clinic Joins Research, Work

Special to the I-J

SANTA BARBARA — A training program at the University of California at Santa Barbara may help replenish the dwindling supply of clincians in speech and hearing rehabilitation.

With support from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the UCSB Speech and Hearing Center has begun a project combining Scholarly research wtih field experience.

Some adults who have lost their speech because of strokes or accidents or who lack larynxes will be included in the study which will also focus on the speech and hearing problems of the cerebral palsied child.

Mexicans Get Dental Aid From Student

Special to the I-J

SAN FRANCISCO — Sleeping on the hard floor of one of the tumbledown orphanages in which he administered free dental care this summer didn't faze Albert Landucci, student body president of the School of Dentistry at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center.

Landucci worked in Celaya, Central Mexico, as an unpaid member of Amigos Anonymous, a volunteer student organization which has established many self-help projects in Mexico during the past six summers.

With the help of two UC Medical Center nurses, this fifth year orthodontic student examined and cleaned the teeth of more than 1,000 children — many of whom had never been to a dentist before.

"The kids were a little shy at first, but the novelty of having a strange gringo poking around inside their mouths seemed to tickle a lot of them," Landucci said. "What really won them over was when we'd call a recess and play football."

He saw thousands of cavities but only two fillings. Besides a lack of proper dental hygiene and care, the high cavity rate was due to the rampant soft-drink "addiction" in the town, he said.

To tackle this problem, the volunteer nurses applied cavity-preventive fluoride directly to the young patients' teeth.

They also trained Mexican nurses in the technique. "This was the crux of our project — to have local people carry on the programs we started together," Landucci concluded.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Arthritis Often Is Improved Regardless Of Treatment Used

VAN DELLEN

Rheumatoid arthritis often improves, regardless of treatment. Several years ago a group of Chicago physicians treated 100 arthritic patients with injections of a harmless salt solution. Fifty in the series obtained dramatic relief; not cure, just temporary improvement.

This is understandable because in its natural state, arthritis comes and goes, especially when the joints are not abused.

One woman in the group could not walk. Within two weeks she gave up the wheelchair and shortly thereafter threw away her cane.

This is difficult to explain because there was nothing in the saline solution to account for the change.

Improvement might have been psychological or perhaps the sting of the needle stimulated the adrenal gland leading to an increased secretion of cortisone.

Physicians know that rheumatoid arthritis is a disease of unknown cause and of unpredictable behavior, for which we have no cure.

THE FIRST attack may clear spontaneously and never return. A recurrence may do the same or be followed by continous joint activity.

Victims of only one attack are not included in reported statistics and, consequently, we do not know how often spontaneous improvement takes place.

I am not trying to underestimate the crippling effects of arthritis; but trying to dispel the belief that no one ever recovers after they develop the disease.

In one large clinic approximately 50 per cent showed improvement during a 10-year study. In another investigation 60 per cent improved after 2 years.

REST, aspirin, gold salts, and indomethacin, or a steroid, afford relief of pain. Physical therapy is of value when certain joints are involved.

Anyone with active arthritis should protect the diseased joints so that the limbs will not be deformed when the inflamatory process tends to recede.

BLOOD PRESSURE

V. G. H. writes: Please explain what the readings are in high blood pressure. I am 51 years old and would like to know what mine should be. Also what does one number over the other mean?

REPLY

The upper reading (systolic) denotes the pressure in the arteries during the contraction of the heart. It varies from 100 to 150mm. mercury. The lower figure (diastolic) is the pressure in the arteries between beats. It varies from 60 to 100.

BRONCHITIS

R. O'L. writes: Do the mycins help chronic bronchitis?

REPLY

Only when bronchitis is caused by bacteria that can be destroyed by these antibiotics. This can be determined ahead of time by obtaining secretions from the area and sending them to the laboratory for sensitivity tests.

GREASY LESIONS

Mrs. N. writes: One of my three youngsters has seborrheic eczema, which is being treated. Is there danger that the other two children will catch it?

REPLY

This condition is not contagious but is so common that the other two youngsters may develop it on their own.

THICK HAIR

K. F. writes: The hair on my scalp grows so thick and fast I can hardly keep it under control. Does this indicate some body disturbance?

REPLY

No. Most men would be happy to have this complaint.

Today's Health Hint — Antibiotics are not effective in colds or flu.

Scientists Are Checking Antibodies

Special to the I-J

A research program designed to answer this question is being supported by a grant of $88,639 to the UCLA Medical School from the John A. Hartford Foundation of New York.

Hyperthyroidism is especially common among women. Eye complications from the disorder are often disfiguring and dangerous. The new investigation is centered on a unique substance found in the blood of patients with the disease called the long-acting thyroid stimulator (LATS.)

Recent studies have indicated LATS is an antibody. Antibodies normally serve as a defense mechanism against invading viruses, bacteria, and transplanted foreign tissue.

Occasionally something goes awry so that antibodies may significantly damage a body organ not preceived as "self."

Bridge Now Built On Opinions Surrounding Stonehedge Mystery

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (SS) — Britain's Stone Age Mount Polamar—Stonehenge—was built so that ancient sun worshippers could predict when their god would be eclipsed.

Stonehenge is a circular pattern of large stones in southern England that includes 56 in the outer ring. The stones are laid out in a scheme that obviously has meaning but there is no agreement as to what that is.

The theory that Stonehenge served as astronomical observatory has been advanced by astronomers since early in this century but archaeologists have not found the astronomical thinking convincing.

Now, however, Dr. Fred Hoyle, director of England's new Institute for Theoretical Astronomy at the University of Cambridge, has built a bridge between the two sciences, presenting evidence that eliminated many of the archaeologists' reasons for disagreement. He reported at the autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences here.

Archaeologists have generally attacked such theories on the grounds that Stone Age man lacked the sophistication to figure out the theoretical basis of such a complex observatory.

Dr. Hoyle suggests that they didn't start with a theory, but with a pragmatic wooden model that they could change as its defects became obvious. Only when the observatory evolved and actually worked did they make it permanent.

Dr. Hoyle believes that the outer part of Stonehenge — the 56 circular markers — was built a little after 3000 B.C., and that the center structure for predicting solar and lunar eclipses was built several hundred years later.

The great stone monoliths at the center of Stonehenge were put in place after a long, painstaking test by trial and error using wooden posts.

The first wooden model tested could have resulted from the insight of a Stone Age genius equivalent to this century's Albert Einstein, Dr. Hoyle believes.

One of the most recent and ardent exponents of Stonehenge as an astronomical observatory is Dr. Gerald Hawkins of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass. He also suggested that the large stone markers were placed in a pattern for predicting solar and lunar eclipses, but thought the ancient men had worked out the proper positions theoretically.

Dr. Hoyle suggested, rather, that the pattern of Stonehenge was worked out as a field experiment by very observant men who noted that every year the sun's position in the sky was the same at the same time, such as mid-summer or mid-winter.

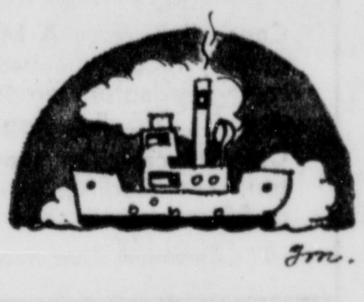
To measure such position accurately, they would have had to use relatively long distances for sighting, such as a circle about 100 yards in diameter, which is the size of Stonehenge. Many of the stones, however, seem to be slightly out of place for accurate measurements of solar and lunar positions.

Dr. Hoyle has found that 19 of the 23 positions that seem to be out of line would be correct if they were lined up for observing not the actual date of mid-summer, but for two other observations: one during the week the sun approached its solstice and one as it moved back again. The average of these two observations would give a more accurate astronomical position than a single sighting at the time of solstice.

After several years of such observations, Dr. Hoyle speculates, the Einstein-of-his-time would have noticed that solar eclipses occurred only when the sun, earth and moon were lined up. The group then added the markers necessary to predict solar eclipses, first using wooden posts and then replacing them with the immovable stones so that later generations could not move them out of line.

LAW IN ACTION
From the State Bar Of California

Rights Of The Seaman



Since the early 1800's Congress has passed many laws to protect seamen. One law required that a ship be "seaworthy" and that the owner guarantee that its gear, hull, appliances, and the like be fit for the voyage. At first the law sought only to protcet cargo. It now protects seamen and passengers.

It is not enough, under the law, that the owner may have tried hard to keep his ship in good condition. He simply must do so regardless of anything. He guarantees the ship's fitness for its intended voyage. Seamen get great protection no matter whether they had themselves been careless, or helped to bring about an accident, or even had assumed some risks. Such factors, of course, may reduce the damages recoverable.

The seaworthiness guarantee goes beyond the voyage at sea. The courts have recently extended it to longshoremen on the docks. In a recent case, a longshoreman was loading cargo when a ship's door shut too soon and the cargo's full weight dropped on him. He sued the owner, claiming that the ship was unseaworthy. The court ruled for him, saying that the owner's warranty covered the loading of a vessel.

The guarantee applies at sea or in port. It imposes a liability, whether or not the owner is at fault, to protect any person doing seamen's work.

Ship passengers also receive wide protection. The shipowner, as a common carrier, must use great care to protect passengers. He also has a contract for transportation to which the courts will hold him. Common carriers are subject to much governmental regulation on all parts of the ship — lifeboats, railings, gangways, mechanical operation, and fire protection. Failure to conform to these regulations may well indicate to a court that the boat is not seaworthy.

Private boat owners have no such duty or care to those who ride on their boats, even those who may ride for business purposes or who pay their fare. The private boat owner owes a duty not to be negligent but the rule of "seaworthiness" does not apply. Non-paying "guests" on his boat have even less protection. Under California law the operator ought not to be drunk, or wilfully or wantonly negligent. Although his boat cannot be a hidden trap, he has no affirmative duty to make his boat safe for his non-paying riders.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Speech, Hearing Clinic Joins Research, Work

Special to the I-J

SANTA BARBARA — A training program at the University of California at Santa Barbara may help replenish the dwindling supply of clincians in speech and hearing rehabilitation.

With support from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the UCSB Speech and Hearing Center has begun a project combining Scholarly research wtih field experience.

Some adults who have lost their speech because of strokes or accidents or who lack larynxes will be included in the study which will also focus on the speech and hearing problems of the cerebral palsied child.

Mexicans Get Dental Aid From Student

Special to the I-J

SAN FRANCISCO — Sleeping on the hard floor of one of the tumbledown orphanages in which he administered free dental care this summer didn't faze Albert Landucci, student body president of the School of Dentistry at the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center.

Landucci worked in Celaya, Central Mexico, as an unpaid member of Amigos Anonymous, a volunteer student organization which has established many self-help projects in Mexico during the past six summers.

With the help of two UC Medical Center nurses, this fifth year orthodontic student examined and cleaned the teeth of more than 1,000 children — many of whom had never been to a dentist before.

"The kids were a little shy at first, but the novelty of having a strange gringo poking around inside their mouths seemed to tickle a lot of them," Landucci said. "What really won them over was when we'd call a recess and play football."

He saw thousands of cavities but only two fillings. Besides a lack of proper dental hygiene and care, the high cavity rate was due to the rampant soft-drink "addiction" in the town, he said.

To tackle this problem, the volunteer nurses applied cavity-preventive fluoride directly to the young patients' teeth.

They also trained Mexican nurses in the technique. "This was the crux of our project — to have local people carry on the programs we started together," Landucci concluded.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Rheumatoid arthritis often improves, regardless of treatment. Several years ago a group of Chicago physicians treated 100 arthritic patients with injections of a harmless salt solution. Fifty in the series obtained dramatic relief; not cure, just temporary improvement.

This is understandable because in its natural state, arthritis comes and goes, especially when the joints are not abused.

One woman in the group could not walk. Within two weeks she gave up the wheelchair and shortly thereafter threw away her cane.

This is difficult to explain because there was nothing in the saline solution to account for the change.

Improvement might have been psychological or perhaps the sting of the needle stimulated the adrenal gland leading to an increased secretion of cortisone.

Physicians know that rheumatoid arthritis is a disease of unknown cause and of unpredictable behavior, for which we have no cure.

THE FIRST attack may clear spontaneously and never return. A recurrence may do the same or be followed by continous joint activity.

Victims of only one attack are not included in reported statistics and, consequently, we do not know how often spontaneous improvement takes place.

I am not trying to underestimate the crippling effects of arthritis; but trying to dispel the belief that no one ever recovers after they develop the disease.

In one large clinic approximately 50 per cent showed improvement during a 10-year study. In another investigation 60 per cent improved after 2 years.

REST, aspirin, gold salts, and indomethacin, or a steroid, afford relief of pain. Physical therapy is of value when certain joints are involved.

Anyone with active arthritis should protect the diseased joints so that the limbs will not be deformed when the inflamatory process tends to recede.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer question on medical topics if stanped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

V. G. H. writes: Please explain what the readings are in high blood pressure. I am 51 years old and would like to know what mine should be. Also what does one number over the other mean?

REPLY

The upper reading (systolic) denotes the pressure in the arteries during the contraction of the heart. It varies from 100 to 150mm. mercury. The lower figure (diastolic) is the pressure in the arteries between beats. It varies from 60 to 100.

BRONCHITIS

R. O'L. writes: Do the mycins help chronic bronchitis?

REPLY

Only when bronchitis is caused by bacteria that can be destroyed by these antibiotics. This can be determined ahead of time by obtaining secretions from the area and sending them to the laboratory for sensitivity tests.

GREASY LESIONS

Mrs. N. writes: One of my three youngsters has seborrheic eczema, which is being treated. Is there danger that the other two children will catch it?

REPLY

This condition is not contagious but is so common that the other two youngsters may develop it on their own.

THICK HAIR

K. F. writes: The hair on my scalp grows so thick and fast I can hardly keep it under control. Does this indicate some body disturbance?

REPLY

No. Most men would be happy to have this complaint.

Today's Health Hint — Antibiotics are not effective in colds or flu.

Scientists Are Checking Antibodies

Special to the I-J

A research program designed to answer this question is being supported by a grant of $88,639 to the UCLA Medical School from the John A. Hartford Foundation of New York.

Hyperthyroidism is especially common among women. Eye complications from the disorder are often disfiguring and dangerous. The new investigation is centered on a unique substance found in the blood of patients with the disease called the long-acting thyroid stimulator (LATS.)

Recent studies have indicated LATS is an antibody. Antibodies normally serve as a defense mechanism against invading viruses, bacteria, and transplanted foreign tissue.

Occasionally something goes awry so that antibodies may significantly damage a body organ not preceived as "self."

Two-Sided Flag

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UPI)—Paraguay is the only country having different designs on each side of its flag. The red, white and blue flag has the coat of arms on one side, and a lion and the Spanish words "Peace and Justice" on the other.

Arraignment On Injury Accident

Leonidas Valladeres, 46, of San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint of drunken driving stemming from an accident that injured himself and two others.

He pleaded innocent and preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Nov. 14. Valladeres' car was involved in a collision with one driven on Highway 101 north of the Ignacio overpass Sept. 2 by David Ernest Emmons, 48, of San Bruno. Valladeres and two passengers, Rosalipina Arce de Medina, 33, and Antonia Valladeres, 46, were injured.

Suspension Of Term On Having Drug And Needle

Bruce A. Tucker of Novato, convicted Oct. 3 of illegal possession of the drug methedrine and a hypodermic needle, was given a suspended term at California Youth Authority yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. also placed him on three years probation on condition he serve 90 days in county jail. Execution of the sentence was delayed, however, pending outcome of Tucker's appeal of the conviction to Marin Superior Court.

Tucker and Deborah H. Russell, 19, of San Francisco, were found guilty of having the items in a car on Highway 101 Sept. 1. Miss Russell has been granted a new trial.

Reviving Agency Will Be Discussed

Proposals to continue a regional Bay Area conservation agency, after disbanding of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission in 1969, will be considered by the commission on Thrusday.

Commissioners will meet at 2 p.m. in Room 1194 of the state building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Schollander Talks Retirement—After Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Don Schollander doesn't expect to burn as bright in 1968 as he did in 1964, but he has served notice he plans to retire in a blaze of glory after leading U. S. swimmers to four gold medals last night in the Pre-Olympics

The Yale University student, who won four gold medals in the '64 Olympics at Tokyo, captured his second and third golds in the second day of swimming at these Olympic trials.

He outdueled Russia's Leonid Iliechov in the 200-meter freestyle and then anchored the winning U. S. team in the 400-meter freestyle relays after grabbing the 100-meter freestyle Wednesday.

Carl Robie of Philadelphia in the 100-meter butterfly and Jane Barkman of Wayne, Pa., in the women's 100-meter freestyle gave the United States its other two golds for the day.

EXPECTED

"We won what we expected," U. S. coaches Sherman Chavoor and Don Gambril said, conceding victories by Holland's Ada Kok in the 100-meter butterfly and East Germany's Sabine Steinbach and Frank Wiegand in the 200-meter backstroke and 200-meter individual medley, respectively.

But both the coaches and Schollander left no doubts that next year's Olympics here will be tough.

"It will be difficult, but not impossible, for someone to win four gold medals next year in swimming," Schollander said, "but it won't be me.

"Since I've been 12 years old, I've been planning retirement after 1968 because then I'll be out of school and practice will be tough." But he plans to go out big.

"I figure that by then I'll be down to :52.5 in the 100 freestyle," he said after his fast finish in 1:59.0 in the 200 that beat Iliechov by two-tenths of a second, "but many could conceivably break the 100-meter record here."

Ken Walsh of the United States currently holds the mark of :52.6 and Schollander's time Wednesday was :54.5.

"I think Iliechov and the rest of the Russians will be very tough in '68," Schollander said.

Schollander, of Saratoga, Calif., teamed with Robie, Peter Williams of Pittsburgh and Andy Strenk of Fullerton, Calif., for a relay time of 3:49.1 to beat Mexico, the only other entry.

Robie won his race in 58.9 as he outswam two Russians and won by four-tenths of a second. Miss Barkman was clocked in 1:01.0, two seconds ahead of Linda Gustavson of Santa Clara.

Wiegand's time was 2:20.5, enough to beat Hans Ljungberg of Sweden and third-place Williams. Miss Steinbach finished ahead of Kendis Moore of Phoenix, Ariz., in a time of 2:32.8 to Miss Moore's 2:33.9.

Miss Kok, won the 100-meter butterfly Wednesday, easily won her event in 2:24.8, but like all other times, it was far off her world record of 2:21.0. Patty Caretto of Whittier, Calif., took third.

TO FINALS

James Wellington of Philadelphia advanced to the Saturday's final in the light welterweight boxing class by stopping Alfredo Morales of Mexico in the third round. Martin Bersewsky of the United States was outpointed by Mario Casati of Italy in the middleweight class and Arthur Redden of the United States was outpointed by Dank Poznyak of Russia in the light-heavyweight division.

The organizing committee ruled that all losers in the semi-final bouts would receive bronze medals.

Other winners Thursday night were France in the Equestrian, Russia in water polo and Hungary in sabre fencing.

Russia's victory in water polo gave the Soviets a runaway lead of 26 gold medals, 14 silver and 15 bronze. The second place United States had 13, 16 and 12.

Nine golds are up for grabs today in swimming, one in cycling and one in fencing.

JIM GILMARTIN

Italian Golfers Beat The World

MAMA, MIA—A bunch of the boys were sitting around the Marin Country Club a few weeks ago, twiddling their putters and making with the small talk. Half of the boys' names ended in the letter "i" and one of them, Sil DeMaestri, said: "Let's play a golf tournament—the Italians against the World."

Well, the challenge was accepted and they started choosing up sides. DeMaestri rounded up 21 of his fellow countrymen and the rest of the World matched that number.

Last Sunday they squared off in a best-ball twosome tourney and guess who won? Would you believe the Pasture Pool Paisani? The score was seven matches to four.

A Couple Of Ringers?

Weider? Reese? I think the paisani picked up a couple of ringers.

BIG AL—Al Endris, baseball coach at Redwood High School, has been honored by the Sports Trail Century Club, an organization sponsored by the Bike Division of the Kendall Company.

Endriss was named an honorary member of the Century Club for his record of 191 baseball victories. The club is open to all college and high school coaches whose teams have won 100 or more contests in any sport. It was originated 20 years ago by high school coach William Matthei of Milwaukee who asked that Sports Trail honor outstanding coaches ". . . because their efforts result in good citizens."

Quite A Fishy Haul

SOMETHING FISHY—Art Flower of San Rafael and Lawrence B. Higbie of Ross scored a piscatorial jackpot last week on a trip out of Rancho Buena Vista, south of LaPaz, Mexico.

Higbie was the big winner with a 154-pound sailfish and three Dolphin.

SAY PEPI, PLEASE—Pepi Gramshammer, internationally-known professional ski racer, will make a guest appearance at Stan's Sports Shop, San Rafael, next Wednesday. The 34-year-old Austrian ace, instructor at Vail, Colo., will hold a junior racing clinic in the afternoon and an adult equipment seminar in the evening.

WISE GUYS—Since the Kansas City franchise shifted to Oakland last week I've been approached by at least a dozen wise guys who've asked: "Well, now are you going to be an Athletic supporter?"

There must be a snappy answer for that but I can't think of one at the moment.

NHL Head Isn't Worried About Loop's Attendance

TORONTO (AP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said yesterday he is not worried about sagging attendances or corporate juggling among clubs in the league's new West Division.

Campbell said 50 per cent attendance at some games between expansion teams was expected by league officials.

"For five years, arenas in the old section operated at 92 to 97 per cent for hockey," the NHL president said. "But all along I've felt that the new cities would do well if they drew 50 per cent of capacity.

"Minneapolis (home of the Minnesota North Stars) looks particularly strong. Their second-game crowds are better than any in the new division, and they've been sold out for two weeks for the Chicago game tomorrow (Saturday)."

The annual break-even point for the 12 teams in the league is $1 million per club, Campbell said. On this gauge, a team needs to bank about $27,000 from each of 37 home games to balance receipts against expenses.

"Any team that can draw between 8,000 and 10,000 fans a night will be in excellent Fewer than 4,000 paid to watch the Pittsburgh Penguins defeat the California Seals Wednesday night at Pittsburgh.

Another expansion team, the Philadelphia Flyers, has had a switch in ownership. Ed Snider, a lawyer, has replaced building contractor Jerry Wolman as majority owner of the Flyers.

"We're not at all embarrassed by the change," Campbell said.

"Wolman has not been involved in the hockey picture since about June 5, and we're satisfied Snider will be a sound NHL partner."

Hippy Halloween In Women's Golf

It was a hippy Halloween "Laugh In" for the Fairfax Meadow Club Women's Golf Club yesterday with the hippest foursome in the best first and second ball foresome tourney turning out to be Mesdames W. E. Burch, A. R. Sauter, John E. Cann and Philip McNamara.

The foursome had a score of 124 to come in first.

Other results:

Mesdames Niels Schultz, Robert Ingram, John McGee, and Richard Ham, 126; James McKinnon, H. G. Marchant, H. E. Martens and Clifton Morrill, 126; George Kerrigan, William Smart, Hodge Davidson and Alex Jean, 131.

Young Steve Spray In Sahara Golf Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The name Steve Spray may not register as a household fixture for television golf viewers but he was the young fellow, age 26, from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who led the way today into the third round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament.

The handsome, 6-foot-1 Spray—who takes a lot of kidding from his name—has been a pro only since March of 1965. He took the play away yesterday from defending champion Jack Nicklaus and other close contenders including Bob Goalby and Frank Beard.

PICTURE

The picture going into the third round at the 7,069-yard, par 36-35 — 71 Paradise Valley Country Club course was:

Spray, with 69-64—133, held a two-stroke lead over Goalby, 68-67—135 and youthful Terry Dill 67-68—135.

Tied at 137 were Nicklaus, 68-69, Beard, 67-70, and Kenny Still, 67-70.

Palmer, who had to shoot at least 68 to remain in the running, shot a 68 and qualified for the last two rounds. He beat the 145 cutoff score by one stroke.

PLEASED

Palmer was pleasantly pleased that he survived the cut. He had been quoted by the Las Vegas betting fraternity as 2-1 to fail to make the cut and a 300-1 shot to win the tournament.

Coming to the final hole of the afternoon, he asked the home professional, Charlie Teal, if 144 would qualify him. Teal said yes and Palmer holed a 12-foot putt for a birdie three and had his 144.

Nicklaus had a 35-34 — 69 and called his round "sloppy." Thanks to good play with his chip shots, Jack's round included two eagle threes. A three wood on No. 6 left him a putt of only 2½-feet and a five iron on No. 17 left him with an eight footer. He sank both putts.

Palmer three-putted three greens on the last nine to settle for a 36, after scoring a 32 on the first nine.

Schoendienst Signs New Card Pact

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Red Schoendienst signed a new one-year contract at an estimated $45,000 as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today.

August A. Busch Jr., president of the world champion Cardinals, said he was happy to have Schoendienst back again. In reply to a question, he said it was the team's policy to offer one-year contracts.

General Manager Stan Musial said, "it is a very good contract. The Cardinals had a great season and we're all happy about it."

RICHER PLAYER

Schoendienst, who led the Cardinals to the National League pennant and a world championship in his third year as manager, said he was happy with the contract. But in reply to a question he said, "I did make more as a player than as a manager."

The soft-spoken Schoendienst led the Cardinals to a 10½ game margin over the San Francisco Giants, their nearest rival in the National League. The ing the regular season, then pounded the Red Sox in the seventh game of the World Series for the championship.

Schoendienst's patience with his young pitching staff, his conversion of Mike Shannon from right field to third base and his work with Orlando Cepeda at first base were cited as reasons the Cardinals rolled to victory.

In his first two seasons at the helm, Schoendienst led the Cardinals to seventh in 1965 and sixth in 1966. He was a coach with the Redbirds under the late Johnny Keane in 1963 and 1964.

Walt Silva Wins Billiards Event

Sausalito tavern owner Walt Silva strikes again.

He had another high game this week but it wasn't at a bowling alley.

Silva scored a high game of 24 to top the men's field in the handicap leagues of Sausalito Town and Country Billiards this week.

High series honors went to Fred Carey with 43.

Finley Makes The Scene

Wanderer No More, He Says

OAKLAND (UPI) — Charles Finley, whose transplanted Oakland Athletics took longer to reach the promised land than a pioneer wagon train, viewed his new home yesterday and said he was a wanderer no more.

The colorful A's owner told 300 cheering fans and city officials at Oakland International Airport that he would make his home in the Oakland area and also would move his insurance business here.

"It's great to feel welcome again," Finley said. "This is the size crowd I've been seeing for seven years in the ball park."

FIVE PLAYERS

Five Athletics' players—Jim Gosger, Mike Hershberger, Rick Monday, John Donalson and Ernie Fazio—were among the airport greeters. They wore recently purchased white loafers, the same color as the baseball spikes worn by the Kansas City club last year.

Finley expressed delight that American League club owners had approved the final leg of the Athletics' transcontinental journey. The A's moved from Philadelphia to Kansas City in 1955.

Later at a news conference, Finley said the Athletics would be active in the trading market and promised there will be innovations to kindle fan interest.

SCOREBOARD

He said he will install an exploding scoreboard at the Oakland Coliseum, where he has signed a multi-year contract, will bring Charlie O the mule to California to promote the A's, and will start night games during the week at 7 p.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday.

Finley said the Athletics will continue to wear their gold and green uniforms through the first month of the season. Then the fans will be polled to see if the club keeps its off-color apparel or switches to more conventional garb.

"If advocating colorful uniforms makes me a kook, then I guess I'm a 24-carat kook," Finley said.

Oakland Oaks Have Hopes For 'Double'

SAN JOSE (AP) — The Oakland Oaks, who gave the Indiana Pacers their first American Basketball Association licking 118-114 last night, play the Eastern Division leaders again tonight at 8:15 in San Jose Civic Auditorium.

Andy Anderson, Oaks guard from Canisius, topped the scorers with 30 points. He scored 24 in the second half in a late Oakland rally that won for the Oaks, leading the Western Division with a 3-1 record.

Levern Tart hit 25 and Mel Peterson scored 20 for Oakland. Jim Hadnot played a strong game on the boards.

For Jack Fleck Wrong Iron Right

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Golfer Jack Fleck came to the 169-yard eighth hole at Paradise Valley Country Club yesterday in the Sahara invitational Tournament and thought about using a 4 iron.

He changed his mind and used a 5 iron and skulled the ball which hit about 20 feet short of the pin. The result: The ball dribbled on and dropped in for a hole-in-one.

It was Fleck's second hole-in-one in a month. He had an ace in the Atlanta Open.

Schollander Talks Retirement—After Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Don Schollander doesn't expect to burn as bright in 1968 as he did in 1964, but he has served notice he plans to retire in a blaze of glory after leading U. S. swimmers to four gold medals last night in the Pre-Olympics

The Yale University student, who won four gold medals in the '64 Olympics at Tokyo, captured his second and third golds in the second day of swimming at these Olympic trials.

He outdueled Russia's Leonid Iliechov in the 200-meter freestyle and then anchored the winning U. S. team in the 400-meter freestyle relays after grabbing the 100-meter freestyle Wednesday.

Carl Robie of Philadelphia in the 100-meter butterfly and Jane Barkman of Wayne, Pa., in the women's 100-meter freestyle gave the United States its other two golds for the day.

EXPECTED

"We won what we expected," U. S. coaches Sherman Chavoor and Don Gambril said, conceding victories by Holland's Ada Kok in the 100-meter butterfly and East Germany's Sabine Steinbach and Frank Wiegand in the 200-meter backstroke and 200-meter individual medley, respectively.

But both the coaches and Schollander left no doubts that next year's Olympics here will be tough.

"It will be difficult, but not impossible, for someone to win four gold medals next year in swimming," Schollander said, "but it won't be me.

"Since I've been 12 years old, I've been planning retirement after 1968 because then I'll be out of school and practice will be tough." But he plans to go out big.

"I figure that by then I'll be down to :52.5 in the 100 freestyle," he said after his fast finish in 1:59.0 in the 200 that beat Iliechov by two-tenths of a second, "but many could conceivably break the 100-meter record here."

Ken Walsh of the United States currently holds the mark of :52.6 and Schollander's time Wednesday was :54.5.

"I think Iliechov and the rest of the Russians will be very tough in '68," Schollander said.

Schollander, of Saratoga, Calif., teamed with Robie, Peter Williams of Pittsburgh and Andy Strenk of Fullerton, Calif., for a relay time of 3:49.1 to beat Mexico, the only other entry.

Robie won his race in 58.9 as he outswam two Russians and won by four-tenths of a second. Miss Barkman was clocked in 1:01.0, two seconds ahead of Linda Gustavson of Santa Clara.

Wiegand's time was 2:20.5, enough to beat Hans Ljungberg of Sweden and third-place Williams. Miss Steinbach finished ahead of Kendis Moore of Phoenix, Ariz., in a time of 2:32.8 to Miss Moore's 2:33.9.

Miss Kok, won the 100-meter butterfly Wednesday, easily won her event in 2:24.8, but like all other times, it was far off her world record of 2:21.0. Patty Caretto of Whittier, Calif., took third.

TO FINALS

James Wellington of Philadelphia advanced to the Saturday's final in the light welterweight boxing class by stopping Alfredo Morales of Mexico in the third round. Martin Bersewsky of the United States was outpointed by Mario Casati of Italy in the middleweight class and Arthur Redden of the United States was outpointed by Dank Poznyak of Russia in the light-heavyweight division.

The organizing committee ruled that all losers in the semi-final bouts would receive bronze medals.

Other winners Thursday night were France in the Equestrian, Russia in water polo and Hungary in sabre fencing.

Russia's victory in water polo gave the Soviets a runaway lead of 26 gold medals, 14 silver and 15 bronze. The second place United States had 13, 16 and 12.

Nine golds are up for grabs today in swimming, one in cycling and one in fencing.

JIM GILMARTIN

Italian Golfers Beat The World

MAMA, MIA—A bunch of the boys were sitting around the Marin Country Club a few weeks ago, twiddling their putters and making with the small talk. Half of the boys' names ended in the letter "i" and one of them, Sil DeMaestri, said: "Let's play a golf tournament—the Italians against the World."

Well, the challenge was accepted and they started choosing up sides. DeMaestri rounded up 21 of his fellow countrymen and the rest of the World matched that number.

Last Sunday they squared off in a best-ball twosome tourney and guess who won? Would you believe the Pasture Pool Paisani? The score was seven matches to four.

A Couple Of Ringers?

Weider? Reese? I think the paisani picked up a couple of ringers.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Golfer Jack Fleck came to the 169-yard eighth hole at Paradise Valley Country Club yesterday in the Sahara invitational Tournament and thought about using a 4 iron.

He changed his mind and used a 5 iron and skulled the ball which hit about 20 feet short of the pin. The result: The ball dribbled on and dropped in for a hole-in-one.

It was Fleck's second hole-in-one in a month. He had an ace in the Atlanta Open.

NEW YORK — The National Professional Soccer League will use a two-out-of-three game series to determine its championship next season instead of the two-game series used this season, Commissioner Ken Macker announced yesterday.

The league also announced it would retain the point system used in determining standings with each winning team getting six points, while a tie is worth three points and one point is given for each goal up to a maximum of three for each team.

49er Kopay To Return To Lineup

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Sonny Randle, who has a pulled leg muscle, nonetheless will start for the San Francisco 49ers Sunday against Detroit at Kezar Stadium.

Coach Jack Christiansen listed his starting lineup yesterday and included all of his walking wounded except defensive tackle Charlie Krueger, who has a knee sprain. He'll be replaced by Charlie Johnson.

But because of the wear and tear on the running backs, almost all of whom are hurting, the Prospectors may replace injured special team speedster Wayne Swinford with Dave Kopay, who has recovered from a knee operation.

Part of the mystery of the 49er's 5-1 success so far was solved when league statistics this week showed the Prospectors second only to Green Bay in yards given up.

Warriors Vs. Bullets

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors, aglow after whomping Cincinnati 116-106 Tuesday night, take on the Baltimore Bullets tonight at 8:30 in their lucky playground, Oakland Arena.

Bill Sharman's cagers have won six out of seven at Oakland in the last two seasons and they hope the charm holds long enough to jump above the .500 season record.

Three banged-up Warriors are reported healing. Jimmy King's back hurt him Tuesday, but offers his 37 points against the Royals as proof of improvement. Fred Hetzel's aching toe is better, and Jeff Mullins' busted nose is on the mend.

Records Fall As Redwood Runners Win

Redwood High School's cross country team took over first place in Marin County Athletic League standings yesterday after defeating Tamalpais High 18-38 in a blazing day of records.

The Redwood varsity team had three boys crack the Redwood High School course record. Winner Wayne Horiuchi was clocked in 10 minutes, 21 seconds and was followed by Kevin Pusser, 10:21.5, and Tom Worth, 10:30. The old record for the two-mile course was 10:36.

Redwood's junior varsity team won against the Tam jayvees, 18-45, led by Jim Lewis' 11:26, and the Tam frosh came back to trip the Redwood frosh, 19-39 behind Scott Palmer's 11:36.5, a frosh record for the Redwood track.

SAN RAFAEL'S harriers downed Drake, 26-29, in a Marin County Athletic League cross country meet at San Rafael yesterday.

Peter Thomson Nears Victory In Aussie Golf

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Peter Thomson made victory in the Australian Open Golf Tournament near certainty in the third round today when he boosted his lead over the second man to seven strokes.

Thomson, playing in high wind, went round the 6,702-yard, par 73 Commonwealth Club course in 71 for a 54-hole total of 209, after two opening rounds of 69.

Nearest to him is Harry Berwick, also an Australian, who matched Thomson's 71 for an aggregate of 216. Berwick is an amateur.

Bert Yancey of Philadelphia, also fired a 71 but his 221 total gives him little chance. The final 18 holes will be played tomorrow.

Prep Football Coach Leads Team To 50 Straight Wins

MIDDLETOWN, Del. (AP)—Bill Billings felt like a missionary when he came to Middletown High School in 1962. He turned out to be a real savior.

The Cavaliers had won only 14 games in the 10 years before Billings became head football coach. Since he's been here they have not lost.

Middletown has a 50-game winning streak, the longest scholastic string in the nation. It's only the sixth school in the history of prep football to win 50 or more in a row.

"People don't think we can lose—but we can," the 42-year-old Billings said as he dispatched one of his physical education classes to the playing field.

BILL BILLINGS
What a record

PRESSURE

"I don't think the streak puts any pressure on the kids, just on me," he said. "They thoroughly enjoy it. I worry about every one. I sweat before every game. That's the way it is."

Billings, who was a 130-pound fullback at Catawba College, is now one of the most successful high school coaches in America. His lifetime mark is 145-16-3.

His first job was in his hometown of Wilmington, N.C., where he started Roman Gabriel, now the Los Angeles Rams' quarterback, on his football career. That was junior high, and Billings' record was 18-1.

He then moved to Edenton, N.C., High School, where his mark was 77-15-3 in eight years. Seven of those years saw Edenton in the Class AA state playoffs, and the team won four championships.

MOVES

"I just decided to leave and take the best job available," Billings said. "I saw an ad for this job in the Raleigh paper. But I decided I didn't want to come here.

"Then I met 10 or 15 people at a luncheon here. They were sincere, and said if they had one winning season they would be tickled. Of course the pay was better here. I made up my mind I was coming. I almost felt like a missionary.

"That first year we were underdogs every game, even though we kept winning. The second year they still didn't believe it."

Billings said townspeople "don't yell as much" as they once did, but "deep down they're excited and proud."

The coach noted that it's hard to get worked up over a team that has not been tested in its first five games this season. The Cavaliers have scored 200 points to their opponents' 12.

SMALLEST

Billings notes that most of the losses suffered by his teams were to bigger schools. Middletown, with some 500 students, is the smallest school in the Diamond State Conference.

"And most of my teams have been the smallest, too," said Billings, who stands only 5-foot-5 himself.

He relies on "fast, hard-hitting" teams. The present team's "biggest asset" is shifty Johnny Branner, a 5-foot-8, 150-pound halfback who has scored 14 touchdowns in five games.

Billings said, "Boys have got to be enthusiastic. If I've got any philosophy, it's to keep drudgery out. Drudgery and hard work are two different things."

AMERICAN 500

International Flavor Added

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (AP)—Qualifying for the American 500 stock car race took on an international flavor today with two foreign Grand Prix drivers trying for places in the 44-car field.

It's the first American stock car experience for Jimmy Clark, two time world champion from Scotland, and Lodovico Scarfiotti of Italy. Also on hand is Giampiere Biscaldi of Italy.

They were to be joined today by Jochen Rindt of Austria who plans to team with Clark in a Holman and Moody Ford.

Wednesday and Thursday runs settled the first 16 places for Sunday's race at the one-mile North Carolina Speedway and eight more places were to be determined today.

A. J. Foyt, three-time Indianapolis winner, put his Ford in the 10th position with an average of 116.523 m.p.h.

Starting positions 11 through 16 went to Buddy Baker, Dodge, 116.391; Jim Paschal, Plymouth, 116.316; Donnie Allison, Ford, 116.147; Darel Dieringer, Dodge, 116.063; G. C. Spencer, Plymouth, 115.227; and Bobby Isaac, Dodge, 115.218.

St. Vincent's Eleven Blanks Cadet Jayvees

Sagging Seals To Take On Maple Leafs

DETROIT (AP)—The California Seals took an 8-2 lacing last night from the Detroit Red Wings and venture against the Toronto Maple Leafs tomorrow night after losing four straight.

The Seals showed almost no offense in suffering the first rout by an established East Division club over an expansion team in the West Division of the National Hockey League.

Bill Hicke scored California's first goal while Detroit was two men short in the second period. Ron Boehm counted the second Seals score with just 1:02 to play.

A crowd of 10,624 Detroit fans watched the Red Wings score in every period with Dean Prentice scoring twice and assisting on two more goals. The Wings jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first period when Gary Gorgman scored on a power play at 3:36 and Tod Hampson knocked in a rebound at 15:22.

First period—1, Detroit, Bergman 1 (Jarrett, Howe) 3:36. 2, Detroit, Hampson 2 (Crashley, Prentice) 15:22. Penalties—Baun 0:21; R. Harris 2:06; Crashley 5:04; Young 7:10; Bergman 18:24.

Second period—3, California, Hicke 5 (Baun, Cahan) 12:11. 4, Detroit, Prentice 4 (Hampson, Smith) 14:42. 5, Detroit, Howe 3 (Jarrett, Young) 19:37. Penalties—Howe, Major, 7:56; Bergman 10:29.

Third period—6, Detroit, Delvecchio 1 (Howe, Young) 1:33. 7, Detroit, Prentice 5 (Talbot, Hampson) 8:56. 8, Detroit, Smith 1 (Prentice, Hampson) 12:08. 9, Detroit, Howe 4 (Marshall, Delvecchio) 18:04. 10, California, Boehm 2 (Douglas) 18:58. Penalties—Lemieux 3:32.

Southern Cal Has Easy Time

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California's Trojans, holding the No. 1 spot in the nation's collegiate football ranking, battle to avoid an upset tomorrow when they meet the young Oregon Ducks in Los Angeles.

Having downed such foes as Notre Dame, Texas, Michigan State and Washington in compiling their 6-0 record, the Trojans rate far and away favorites for the meeting with Oregon which has won but one.

Led by O. J. Simpson, the nation's leading rusher with 987 yards, the Trojans lead the Pacific-8 in total offense with an average of 383 yards per game. They also lead in total defense by allowing foes an average of 201.

PASS DEFENSE

Despite their 1-5 record, the Ducks lead the league in pass defense with a secondary lead by Jim Smith, one of the best pass defenders.

UCLA, voted No. 2 in the nation by The Associated Press, draws a bye this week while Stanford's Indians travel East to battle the Army at West Point.

Others in the Pacific-8 all meet in conference games with Washington hoping to rebound against stubborn California and Washington State going against the surprising Oregon State Beavers at Corvallis.

Oregon State pulled the big upset last weekend by downing Purdue and dropping the Boilermakers from the undefeated list.

SWITCHES

The weekend could find some switches in statistical leaders. California's Barry Bronk leads passers with 59 completions while Jerry Henderson of Washington State has 55. Both will be throwing a lot in the bids of their teams for upsets.

Quarterback Steve Preece and Oregon State's tough defense wrecked Purdue and going into this weekend's action the Beavers, Washington Huskies and California Bears have each lost but once in the conference so can't be counted out of the running despite the eminence of USC and UCLA.

Outside the conference, independent San Jose State entertains traditional rival, University of the Pacific. The Spartans of SJS laced New Mexico 52-14 last weekend, their largest winning margin since 1960.

Cal Bears To Face Huskies

BERKELEY (AP)—Five California Bears will break into the starting lineup tomorrow against Washington in an effort to make it three straight over the Huskies in the Pacific-8 Conference. The game, in Cal's stadium, starts at 1:30 p.m.

PROMOTIONS

The other four earned their new roles against Syracuse last week, and in this week's drills. They are Steve Schulz, replacing Dennis Bugbee at defensive tackle; Eric Kastner for Jim Coleman at defensive back, and Paul Williams and Don McGaffie for tailback Gary Fowler and fullback Lloyd Reist.

Williams alone sped 116 yards against Syracuse last week, almost equaling the 130 average the Orange had allowed opponents this fall.

Coach Ray Willsey's Bear hopes, however, would seem to rest on quarterback Barry Bronks' arm, the Huskies front five having been stingy on the ground. Bronk has completed 59 of 131 passes for 666 yards and two touchdowns.

OFFENSE LEADERS

Against him will be sophomore Tom Manke, who has quarterbacked Washington to four victories and is the Huskies' best rusher as well as passer and naturally, total offense leader.

Coach Jim Owens of the Huskies, hoping to reduce Cal's 26-23-3 lead in their long rivalry, plans to try a five-man backfield—using a flanker instead of split end to gain a fifth ball carrier while retaining his five receivers.

"Then I met 10 or 15 people at a luncheon here. They were sincere, and said if they had one winning season they would be tickled. Of course the pay was better here. I made up my mind I was coming. I almost felt like a missionary.

"That first year we were underdogs every game, even though we kept winning. The second year they still didn't believe it."

Billings said townspeople "don't yell as much" as they once did, but "deep down they're excited and proud."

The coach noted that it's hard to get worked up over a team that has not been tested in its first five games this season. The Cavaliers have scored 200 points to their opponents' 12.

SMALLEST

Billings notes that most of the losses suffered by his teams were to bigger schools. Middletown, with some 500 students, is the smallest school in the Diamond State Conference.

"And most of my teams have been the smallest, too," said Billings, who stands only 5-foot-5 himself.

He relies on "fast, hard-hitting" teams. The present team's "biggest asset" is shifty Johnny Branner, a 5-foot-8, 150-pound halfback who has scored 14 touchdowns in five games.

Billings said, "Boys have got to be enthusiastic. If I've got any philosophy, it's to keep drudgery out. Drudgery and hard work are two different things."

AMERICAN 500

International Flavor Added

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. (AP)—Qualifying for the American 500 stock car race took on an international flavor today with two foreign Grand Prix drivers trying for places in the 44-car field.

It's the first American stock car experience for Jimmy Clark, two time world champion from Scotland, and Lodovico Scarfiotti of Italy. Also on hand is Giampiere Biscaldi of Italy.

They were to be joined today by Jochen Rindt of Austria who plans to team with Clark in a Holman and Moody Ford.

Wednesday and Thursday runs settled the first 16 places for Sunday's race at the one-mile North Carolina Speedway and eight more places were to be determined today.

A. J. Foyt, three-time Indianapolis winner, put his Ford in the 10th position with an average of 116.523 m.p.h.

Starting positions 11 through 16 went to Buddy Baker, Dodge, 116.391; Jim Paschal, Plymouth, 116.316; Donnie Allison, Ford, 116.147; Darel Dieringer, Dodge, 116.063; G. C. Spencer, Plymouth, 115.227; and Bobby Isaac, Dodge, 115.218.

St. Vincent's Eleven Blanks Cadet Jayvees

Sagging Seals To Take On Maple Leafs

DETROIT (AP)—The California Seals took an 8-2 lacing last night from the Detroit Red Wings and venture against the Toronto Maple Leafs tomorrow night after losing four straight.

The Seals showed almost no offense in suffering the first rout by an established East Division club over an expansion team in the West Division of the National Hockey League.

Bill Hicke scored California's first goal while Detroit was two men short in the second period. Ron Boehm counted the second Seals score with just 1:02 to play.

A crowd of 10,624 Detroit fans watched the Red Wings score in every period with Dean Prentice scoring twice and assisting on two more goals. The Wings jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first period when Gary Gorgman scored on a power play at 3:36 and Tod Hampson knocked in a rebound at 15:22.

First period—1, Detroit, Bergman 1 (Jarrett, Howe) 3:36. 2, Detroit, Hampson 2 (Crashley, Prentice) 15:22. Penalties—Baun 0:21; R. Harris 2:06; Crashley 5:04; Young 7:10; Bergman 18:24.

Second period—3, California, Hicke 5 (Baun, Cahan) 12:11. 4, Detroit, Prentice 4 (Hampson, Smith) 14:42. 5, Detroit, Howe 3 (Jarrett, Young) 19:37. Penalties—Howe, Major, 7:56; Bergman 10:29.

Third period—6, Detroit, Delvecchio 1 (Howe, Young) 1:33. 7, Detroit, Prentice 5 (Talbot, Hampson) 8:56. 8, Detroit, Smith 1 (Prentice, Hampson) 12:08. 9, Detroit, Howe 4 (Marshall, Delvecchio) 18:04. 10, California, Boehm 2 (Douglas) 18:58. Penalties—Lemieux 3:32.

Ex-Gridder Dies

GRANTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Wayne Underwood who played with the old Cleveland Rams of the National Football League, died yesterday at Calhoun County High School where he was head of the physical education department. He was 53.

WEST COAST GRID

Southern Cal Has Easy Time

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California's Trojans, holding the No. 1 spot in the nation's collegiate football ranking, battle to avoid an upset tomorrow when they meet the young Oregon Ducks in Los Angeles.

Having downed such foes as Notre Dame, Texas, Michigan State and Washington in compiling their 6-0 record, the Trojans rate far and away favorites for the meeting with Oregon which has won but one.

Led by O. J. Simpson, the nation's leading rusher with 987 yards, the Trojans lead the Pacific-8 in total offense with an average of 383 yards per game. They also lead in total defense by allowing foes an average of 201.

PASS DEFENSE

Despite their 1-5 record, the Ducks lead the league in pass defense with a secondary lead by Jim Smith, one of the best pass defenders.

UCLA, voted No. 2 in the nation by The Associated Press, draws a bye this week while Stanford's Indians travel East to battle the Army at West Point.

Others in the Pacific-8 all meet in conference games with Washington hoping to rebound against stubborn California and Washington State going against the surprising Oregon State Beavers at Corvallis.

Oregon State pulled the big upset last weekend by downing Purdue and dropping the Boilermakers from the undefeated list.

SWITCHES

The weekend could find some switches in statistical leaders. California's Barry Bronk leads passers with 59 completions while Jerry Henderson of Washington State has 55. Both will be throwing a lot in the bids of their teams for upsets.

Quarterback Steve Preece and Oregon State's tough defense wrecked Purdue and going into this weekend's action the Beavers, Washington Huskies and California Bears have each lost but once in the conference so can't be counted out of the running despite the eminence of USC and UCLA.

Outside the conference, independent San Jose State entertains traditional rival, University of the Pacific. The Spartans of SJS laced New Mexico 52-14 last weekend, their largest winning margin since 1960.

Cal Bears To Face Huskies

BERKELEY (AP)—Five California Bears will break into the starting lineup tomorrow against Washington in an effort to make it three straight over the Huskies in the Pacific-8 Conference. The game, in Cal's stadium, starts at 1:30 p.m.

PROMOTIONS

The other four earned their new roles against Syracuse last week, and in this week's drills. They are Steve Schulz, replacing Dennis Bugbee at defensive tackle; Eric Kastner for Jim Coleman at defensive back, and Paul Williams and Don McGaffie for tailback Gary Fowler and fullback Lloyd Reist.

Williams alone sped 116 yards against Syracuse last week, almost equaling the 130 average the Orange had allowed opponents this fall.

Coach Ray Willsey's Bear hopes, however, would seem to rest on quarterback Barry Bronks' arm, the Huskies front five having been stingy on the ground. Bronk has completed 59 of 131 passes for 666 yards and two touchdowns.

OFFENSE LEADERS

Against him will be sophomore Tom Manke, who has quarterbacked Washington to four victories and is the Huskies' best rusher as well as passer and naturally, total offense leader.

Coach Jim Owens of the Huskies, hoping to reduce Cal's 26-23-3 lead in their long rivalry, plans to try a five-man backfield—using a flanker instead of split end to gain a fifth ball carrier while retaining his five receivers.

Greenbrae Man Lands Mighty Big Salmon: A 49-Pounder

STEVENS

Isn't it the Chinese who coined the phrase, "One picture is worth a thousand words?" At any rate, here's a picture that must be worth almost a thousand words"? At any rate, here's grinning gent named George H. Matsumoto, of Greenbrae.

George is holding up, for all the world to see, a salmon — a beauty weighing 49 pounds, 15 ounces. Along with the picture of George and his fish are some words from angler Matsumoto, which make interesting reading so here they are:

"Dear Mr. Stevens, Independent-Journal.

"As an ardent reader of your column, I thought you might be interested in the enclosed picture. I read in yesterday's (Oct. 19) issue about the lady who landed the big king, so I realize my catch is not newsworthy, but you may like to know the particulars regarding the catch.

"A friend and I went out after salmon on Sunday, Oct. 8, off Stinson Beach. Running time from Corte Madera Creek where I live, to the area was eactly one hour. At about 11 a.m. I landed an 18-pounder and shortly thereafter I thought I had hooked a halibut as I could feel nothing but weight. Aftetr pumping the fish it came to the surface. What a jolt when I saw what I had hooked — the size of him! My friend promptly reeled in his line, but left the sinker and baited hook hang over the side. In my excitement I killed the motor, so I began to play my catch. About five minutes later, there was a tremendous splashing and knocks against the boat. A salmon had struck the drifting bait on the surface. Not a very big one but a keeper. I was too busy playing my big one to bother, though.

"I managed to land the big one with an assist by my friend and a large net. The fish was weighed that afternoon at the Marin Boat House; it measured 49 inches and had a girth (after cleaning) of 30 inches."

ANGLERS FROM both sides of the bay near the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge have been having a field day trolling the area. A fellow Legionnaire, Clay E. Nottingham, took his legal limit between 8:15 and 9:15 a.m. — "Not large fish, Ralph, but hard scrappers," Clay told me. Word from Jim Roads, Klamath River Guide Service at Happy Camp, is that fishing is temporarily in the doldrums, but it is only the lull before the storm, opines Jim.

Mel Toponce and son, Mark, with Max Hayes, took easy limits of ducks at the Colusa Wildlife Refuge. The boys planted stakes out in the open water, scattered over 50 decoys and apparently hit the jackpot. Nothing new for Mel Toponce, he usually makes the grade on fins, feathers and furs.

STRIPER FISHING in our local waters still is nothing to crow about — fish are coming in but from widely separated locales. Bullhead seem to appeal to the bass ahead of all other baits. Not much trolling and not much to report on same. Expect a big upswing in results over the weekend.

Treadway's 647 Leads Greenbrae Keg Scores

Dick Treadway, secretary of the Marin County Men's Bowling Association, led the way this past week at Greenbrae Lanes, banging out a 647 series in the 905 Travel League.

High game honors went to Lee Stetson, a 247 in the same league, and to Bob Horn, a 247 in the Early Birds. Rosemarie O'Neil led the distaff bowlers with a 234-599 in the Merry Mixers.

Honor roll for the week at Greenbrae Lanes:

San Rafael Travels To Oakdale

All San Rafael High School football coach Bob Muster knows about Oakdale High is that it sports a 295-pound middleguard.

Which is not good news.

The Bulldogs, 3-2-1 on the season, have to play Oakdale on its home field tonight at 8 o'clock in a non-league football battle.

The 295-pound middle guard is Eugene "Sponge" Stevens, who stands six-two and could probably play head to center with the center and both guards.

5-1 RECORD

Oakdale has a 5-1 season. The wins have come since an opening game loss to Davis, 27-19.

The nasty thing about Oakdale is that it has an offense, something the Bulldogs have been shopping around for but have yet to find in any great quantity.

Since that loss, Oakdale has beaten Sonora, 25-0, Turlock, 20-6, Jesuit of Sacramento, 21-3, East Union, 45-0, and Lincoln (Stockton), 19-6.

It has scored at least three touchdowns in every game. The Bulldogs have averaged one a game but six of their seven scores have come in two games. They have been shut out three times, while administering four shutouts.

Last year, the Bulldogs upset then unbeaten Oakdale at San Rafael, behind the passing of Bill Joost. This year, the chore should be more difficult, if only for want of a balanced scoring attack on the Bulldogs' part.

TALENTED BACKS

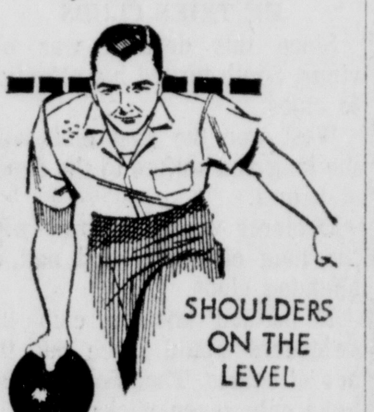
Still, the Bulldogs have a flock of talented backs like Dick Loomis, Dave Bariski, Larry Nelson, Frank Pandiani and rollout quarterback Herb Rowland.

If they can keep the ball, the chances should be better than even. They have Red Stephens back at guard and a stack of sturdy defenders.

And that defense can stop almost anybody.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



While the weight of the ball will cause the right shoulder to dip a little below the left, bowlers should try to keep them on as level a plane as possible. The danger of a severe right shoulder dip too far is that it would cause an off-balance approach.

DRAKE VS. REDWOOD

Co-Leaders Try To Break Tie In Prep Grid Chase

Tomorrow afternoon could be the time when the ambitious Redwood Giants cash in on their ambitions.

The Giants, currently tied with Terra Linda and Drake for the Marin County Athletic League football race top spot, test the Drake Pirates at College of Marin Stadium in Kentfield at 2 p.m. in an in-or-out game for both teams.

The Giants have come a long, roundabout way back from a disastrous season last year, during which they won only one game. This year, they're 5-1 on the season and 2-1 in MCAL play. And they're still thinking win.

Redwood coach Bob Troppmann feels the success that the Giants have been having, plus a well-balanced attack and an outstanding defense won't hurt the Giants one bit.

"Success breeds success," Troppmann said. "The boys have been thinking win all along. We've put together two good games in a row in league play."

THREE BACKS

Three backs make up the nucleus of the Giant attack and all three can break open ball games.

Pete Richter led the way against Tamalpais with three touchdowns and provides the fullback punch. Larry Blackwell gives the Giants an edge in outside speed and Ray Biagini, an underrated runner, comes up with consistent yardage.

"I think we have good balance, but so does Drake," Troppmann said.

Troppmann sees nothing easy against Drake. For the Giants, it hasn't been easy against the Pirates in the past four years, where the only success they've had was a 6-6 tie in 1965.

"We'll have to stop the Alvarado (Don) boy," Troppmann said, "He's probably the best ball player in the league. And they're always a threat to break the long play, even if they haven't been scoring that much."

"We had some problems on the snap," he said. "It's something we've had to work on."

BOY TO WATCH

"That Biagini boy is the one to watch on Redwood's team," he said. "He's a real good runner on a snappy ball club."

The Giants and Pirates have had a couple of common loop opponents. The Giants lost to Terra Linda, 19-0, and topped Novato, 7-0. The Pirates nicked Terra Linda 2-0 and Novato, 20-0.

That might give the Pirates an edge. So might quarterback Don Stone, the senior with the unimpressive passing statistics who can do strange things under pressure. So might a defense that chilled usually powerful Terra Linda.

But in a game for most of the marbles, you never can tell.

Terra Linda Vs. Tam In Key League Battle

Terra Linda High School, the team with enough injuries to start a medic show, and Tamalpais, the team with enough losses to start another soap opera, collide in a key MCAL football showdown at San Rafael High School field at 8 o'clock tonight.

For the battered Trojans, it will be a key game that they cannot afford to lose if they expect to stay tied for the lead in the loop race with either Drake or Redwood.

For the break-less Tam Indians, it will be a chance to show that all that potential can be put to use.

"We're kind of banged up," Terra Linda coach Don Lucas said. "I'm not exactly sure who is going to start."

For the record, here is a list of the Terra Linda walking wounded.

POWELL OUT

Biggest loss is Rod Powell, linebacker par excellence, and a starting fullback, out with an arm injury. He has already missed the Drake game and will probably not play until next week, if that. His replacement, Dewey Forey, suffered a broken leg against Drake last week.

Hobbled but not out are linebacker Dane Larsen, halfback Keith Stirling, guard John Weekley and tackle Greg Barker. Out for the season is halfback Ken Murray who suffered a concussion in the Redwood game.

The Trojans, however, are not going to roll over and play dead.

"We're amazed at the enthusiasm we've had from the boys," Lucas said. "They're not letting down and they're certainly not going to underestimate Tam."

It will be Terra Linda's homecoming and Tam's chance to let loose its offensive guns.

"I keep waiting for them to jell," Lucas said. "I just hope it won't be against us."

Tamalpais coach Willie Hector has been waiting too, through all of a 1-5 regular season and an 0-2 loop season.

"We just haven't had the right amount of breaks," Hector said. "We've been in every ball game we've played except Vallejo."

Hector figures fumbles and interceptions have hurt the Indians more than anything.

"I know our offense can move" he said. "But we'd get down the field and lose the ball."

"We have a good chance against Terra Linda," Hector said. They're a sound, steady football team and we'll have to figure out a way to stop their defensive end Bruce Kilby."

Last year, Kilby led the charge when the Trojans upset the then unbeaten Indians, 27-6, in an emotionally charged game.

Marin Tars Host SFS Jayvee '11'

With an all-important conference game coming up next week, College of Marin's title-contending Tars hope for a chance to rest their battered players in tonight's 8 o'clock non-conference football game with the San Francisco State Junior Varsity at COM Stadium in Kentfield, but the Baby Gators have other ideas.

After a fairly competitive 27-12 triumph last year, the Mariners know better than to overlook the State team. And with several ailing players, at least two of whom were starters, the Tars will need a good performance to keep on top of the pass-minded Gator JVs.

Starting safetyman Joe Cunningham, the team leader in interceptions, and halfback Dick Otis, a sometime starter on offense, are both hobbled by knee injuries and will see limited action, according to Coach Dick Read. Starting defensive end Rob Prosch will be held out with a sore shoulder, middle guard Terry Pascoe has a sore jaw from the Napa game, and end Len Pieri has had the flu most of the week.

In addition, reserve defensive back Mark Wallace is lost for the year with a knee injury.

On defense, guarding against the passes of State quarterbacks Rick Garibaldi and Mike Sabo, will be linebackers Bill Hickerson and Jim Crisp (two interceptions last week), cornerbacks Karl Stein and Fred Daniele, while Tom Loback will replace Cunningham at one safety spot, and Brian Whitney will alternate with Dave Salaun at the other.

The University Rugby Club of Marin will host the San Francisco Rugby Club in an exhibition match at halftime.

STEVENS

Isn't it the Chinese who coined the phrase, "One picture is worth a thousand words?" At any rate, here's a picture that must be worth almost a thousand words"? At any rate, here's grinning gent named George H. Matsumoto, of Greenbrae.

George is holding up, for all the world to see, a salmon — a beauty weighing 49 pounds, 15 ounces. Along with the picture of George and his fish are some words from angler Matsumoto, which make interesting reading so here they are:

"Dear Mr. Stevens, Independent-Journal.

"As an ardent reader of your column, I thought you might be interested in the enclosed picture. I read in yesterday's (Oct. 19) issue about the lady who landed the big king, so I realize my catch is not newsworthy, but you may like to know the particulars regarding the catch.

"A friend and I went out after salmon on Sunday, Oct. 8, off Stinson Beach. Running time from Corte Madera Creek where I live, to the area was eactly one hour. At about 11 a.m. I landed an 18-pounder and shortly thereafter I thought I had hooked a halibut as I could feel nothing but weight. Aftetr pumping the fish it came to the surface. What a jolt when I saw what I had hooked — the size of him! My friend promptly reeled in his line, but left the sinker and baited hook hang over the side. In my excitement I killed the motor, so I began to play my catch. About five minutes later, there was a tremendous splashing and knocks against the boat. A salmon had struck the drifting bait on the surface. Not a very big one but a keeper. I was too busy playing my big one to bother, though.

"I managed to land the big one with an assist by my friend and a large net. The fish was weighed that afternoon at the Marin Boat House; it measured 49 inches and had a girth (after cleaning) of 30 inches."

ANGLERS FROM both sides of the bay near the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge have been having a field day trolling the area. A fellow Legionnaire, Clay E. Nottingham, took his legal limit between 8:15 and 9:15 a.m. — "Not large fish, Ralph, but hard scrappers," Clay told me. Word from Jim Roads, Klamath River Guide Service at Happy Camp, is that fishing is temporarily in the doldrums, but it is only the lull before the storm, opines Jim.

Mel Toponce and son, Mark, with Max Hayes, took easy limits of ducks at the Colusa Wildlife Refuge. The boys planted stakes out in the open water, scattered over 50 decoys and apparently hit the jackpot. Nothing new for Mel Toponce, he usually makes the grade on fins, feathers and furs.

STRIPER FISHING in our local waters still is nothing to crow about — fish are coming in but from widely separated locales. Bullhead seem to appeal to the bass ahead of all other baits. Not much trolling and not much to report on same. Expect a big upswing in results over the weekend.

Treadway's 647 Leads Greenbrae Keg Scores

Dick Treadway, secretary of the Marin County Men's Bowling Association, led the way this past week at Greenbrae Lanes, banging out a 647 series in the 905 Travel League.

High game honors went to Lee Stetson, a 247 in the same league, and to Bob Horn, a 247 in the Early Birds. Rosemarie O'Neil led the distaff bowlers with a 234-599 in the Merry Mixers.

Honor roll for the week at Greenbrae Lanes:

San Rafael Travels To Oakdale

All San Rafael High School football coach Bob Muster knows about Oakdale High is that it sports a 295-pound middleguard.

Which is not good news.

The Bulldogs, 3-2-1 on the season, have to play Oakdale on its home field tonight at 8 o'clock in a non-league football battle.

The 295-pound middle guard is Eugene "Sponge" Stevens, who stands six-two and could probably play head to center with the center and both guards.

5-1 RECORD

Oakdale has a 5-1 season. The wins have come since an opening game loss to Davis, 27-19.

The nasty thing about Oakdale is that it has an offense, something the Bulldogs have been shopping around for but have yet to find in any great quantity.

Since that loss, Oakdale has beaten Sonora, 25-0, Turlock, 20-6, Jesuit of Sacramento, 21-3, East Union, 45-0, and Lincoln (Stockton), 19-6.

It has scored at least three touchdowns in every game. The Bulldogs have averaged one a game but six of their seven scores have come in two games. They have been shut out three times, while administering four shutouts.

Last year, the Bulldogs upset then unbeaten Oakdale at San Rafael, behind the passing of Bill Joost. This year, the chore should be more difficult, if only for want of a balanced scoring attack on the Bulldogs' part.

TALENTED BACKS

Still, the Bulldogs have a flock of talented backs like Dick Loomis, Dave Bariski, Larry Nelson, Frank Pandiani and rollout quarterback Herb Rowland.

If they can keep the ball, the chances should be better than even. They have Red Stephens back at guard and a stack of sturdy defenders.

And that defense can stop almost anybody.

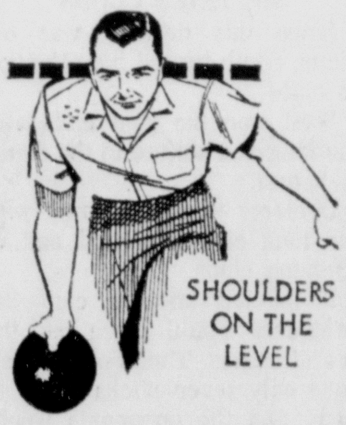
By DON CARTER



While the weight of the ball will cause the right shoulder to dip a little below the left, bowlers should try to keep them on as level a plane as possible. The danger of a severe right shoulder dip too far is that it would cause an off-balance approach.

DRAKE VS. REDWOOD

Tomorrow afternoon could be the time when the ambitious Redwood Giants cash in on their ambitions.

The Giants, currently tied with Terra Linda and Drake for the Marin County Athletic League football race top spot, test the Drake Pirates at College of Marin Stadium in Kentfield at 2 p.m. in an in-or-out game for both teams.

The Giants have come a long, roundabout way back from a disastrous season last year, during which they won only one game. This year, they're 5-1 on the season and 2-1 in MCAL play. And they're still thinking win.

Redwood coach Bob Troppmann feels the success that the Giants have been having, plus a well-balanced attack and an outstanding defense won't hurt the Giants one bit.

"Success breeds success," Troppmann said. "The boys have been thinking win all along. We've put together two good games in a row in league play."

THREE BACKS

Three backs make up the nucleus of the Giant attack and all three can break open ball games.

Pete Richter led the way against Tamalpais with three touchdowns and provides the fullback punch. Larry Blackwell gives the Giants an edge in outside speed and Ray Biagini, an underrated runner, comes up with consistent yardage.

"I think we have good balance, but so does Drake," Troppmann said.

Troppmann sees nothing easy against Drake. For the Giants, it hasn't been easy against the Pirates in the past four years, where the only success they've had was a 6-6 tie in 1965.

"We'll have to stop the Alvarado (Don) boy," Troppmann said, "He's probably the best ball player in the league. And they're always a threat to break the long play, even if they haven't been scoring that much."

"We had some problems on the snap," he said. "It's something we've had to work on."

BOY TO WATCH

"That Biagini boy is the one to watch on Redwood's team," he said. "He's a real good runner on a snappy ball club."

The Giants and Pirates have had a couple of common loop opponents. The Giants lost to Terra Linda, 19-0, and topped Novato, 7-0. The Pirates nicked Terra Linda 2-0 and Novato, 20-0.

That might give the Pirates an edge. So might quarterback Don Stone, the senior with the unimpressive passing statistics who can do strange things under pressure. So might a defense that chilled usually powerful Terra Linda.

But in a game for most of the marbles, you never can tell.

Terra Linda Vs. Tam In Key League Battle

Terra Linda High School, the team with enough injuries to start a medic show, and Tamalpais, the team with enough losses to start another soap opera, collide in a key MCAL football showdown at San Rafael High School field at 8 o'clock tonight.

For the battered Trojans, it will be a key game that they cannot afford to lose if they expect to stay tied for the lead in the loop race with either Drake or Redwood.

For the break-less Tam Indians, it will be a chance to show that all that potential can be put to use.

"We're kind of banged up," Terra Linda coach Don Lucas said. "I'm not exactly sure who is going to start."

POWELL OUT

Biggest loss is Rod Powell, linebacker par excellence, and a starting fullback, out with an arm injury. He has already missed the Drake game and will probably not play until next week, if that. His replacement, Dewey Forey, suffered a broken leg against Drake last week.

Hobbled but not out are linebacker Dane Larsen, halfback Keith Stirling, guard John Weekley and tackle Greg Barker. Out for the season is halfback Ken Murray who suffered a concussion in the Redwood game.

The Trojans, however, are not going to roll over and play dead.

"We're amazed at the enthusiasm we've had from the boys," Lucas said. "They're not letting down and they're certainly not going to underestimate Tam."

It will be Terra Linda's homecoming and Tam's chance to let loose its offensive guns.

"I keep waiting for them to jell," Lucas said. "I just hope it won't be against us."

Tamalpais coach Willie Hector has been waiting too, through all of a 1-5 regular season and an 0-2 loop season.

"We just haven't had the right amount of breaks," Hector said. "We've been in every ball game we've played except Vallejo."

Hector figures fumbles and interceptions have hurt the Indians more than anything.

"I know our offense can move" he said. "But we'd get down the field and lose the ball."

"We have a good chance against Terra Linda," Hector said. They're a sound, steady football team and we'll have to figure out a way to stop their defensive end Bruce Kilby."

Marin Tars Host SFS Jayvee '11'

With an all-important conference game coming up next week, College of Marin's title-contending Tars hope for a chance to rest their battered players in tonight's 8 o'clock non-conference football game with the San Francisco State Junior Varsity at COM Stadium in Kentfield, but the Baby Gators have other ideas.

Starting defensive end Rob Prosch will be held out with a sore shoulder, middle guard Terry Pascoe has a sore jaw from the Napa game, and end Len Pieri has had the flu most of the week.

On defense, guarding against the passes of State quarterbacks Rick Garibaldi and Mike Sabo, will be linebackers Bill Hickerson and Jim Crisp (two interceptions last week), cornerbacks Karl Stein and Fred Daniele, while Tom Loback will replace Cunningham at one safety spot, and Brian Whitney will alternate with Dave Salaun at the other.

The University Rugby Club of Marin will host the San Francisco Rugby Club in an exhibition match at halftime.

West led the jack of spades to dummy's king, and South counted his tricks: three spades, four diamonds and two hearts.

Then he looked again and saw that if he went after the diamonds the opponents might refuse the first trick.

GETS DIAMOND

If a defender took this trick, South would have a diamond entry to his hand and would be able to make four diamonds, three spades and two hearts.

This left South in his own hand, so that he could cash the ace of spades. Then he shifted back to clubs to force out the ace.

The defenders were helpless. No matter what they returned, South was sure to take two spades, two hearts, one diamond and four clubs.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Young Buyer Needs To Correct Losers

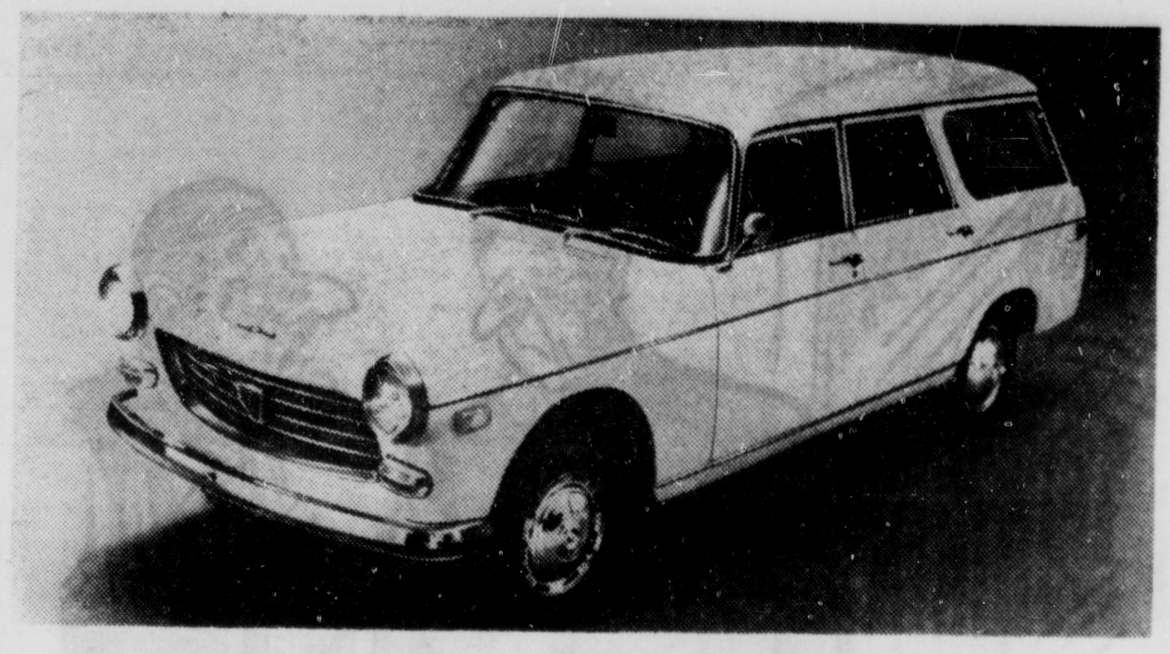
By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I an single, 29, and earn $7,500 a year. I bought the following stocks which have all gone down in price: Long Island Lighting, Mohawk Airlines, Airlift International, Wings & Wheels Express, American Airlines. I was told that these were growth stocks. Sould I hold them or take a loss and get into something else? — A.S.

A. Is is a matter of concern to me that so many young people — through poor timing or selection — start off with losers when they first invest money. I know of no way to avoid this except by knowing more about the prospective purchases and leaning less on the advice of others — unless you are certain of their experience and competence. You have two good stocks for your objective and three that I consider rather speculative. Long Island Lighting is one of the best growth utilities, depressed solely because of money-rate conditions. American Airlines is one of the major carriers which has declined in price because earnings growth has slowed down a little. I would hold both these stocks. Your other three issues, in my opinion, are not suitable for you. I advise you to sell them and put the proceeds into RCA and Transamerica, two solid stocks which should enhance your capital over the years ahead.

Q. Is it possible to have in your possession Series E bonds which have matured and not been extended? How about Series H bonds? — P.M.

E. All Series E bonds outstanding and currently issued have been guaranteed a 10-year extension. Series H bonds issued prior to June, 1959, have been extended for 10 years. If you hold H bonds bought in June 1959, or subsequently, you should check with your bank at maturity to find out if an extension has been granted.



PEUGEOT 404 STATION WAGON

Optional for the first time in Peugeot's 1968 station wagon is an automatic transmission with torque convertor and three forward speeds. With rear seat and front passenger seat folded down cargo space is almost doubled. Peugeot's four-cylinder engine develops 80 horsepower. Available at Shamrock Motors in Mill Valley.

Hexcel Record Set In Sales

DUBLIN, Calif. — Hexcel has announced sales of $15.34 million for the first nine months of 1967 — a record high for any three consecutive quarters in the company's history.

Earnings of $987,000 were up 51 per cent over the first nine months of 1966. Substantial orders for Hexcel's new synthetic honeycomb materials, widely used by aircraft manufacturers, are partly responsible for the sales increase.

THIS WEEK IN BUSINESS

Johns-Mansville Is Seeking Gypsum Firms In Expansion

JOHNS-MANSVILLE CORP. wants to get in the gypsum business "to round out its building materials lines" and is studying the possible purchase for cash of the gypsum division of Fibreboard Corp.

Discussions between both companies are under way and may take several weeks.

Fibreboard's California gypsum properties are at Newark and South Gate. Four others are in Colorado and Nevada. The company, headquartered in San Francisco, makes paperboard and packaging materials.

Sales and earnings of Johns-Mansville for the first nine months did not match the record levels of 1966. Sales were $372 million, compared with $385 million last year. Per share earnings dropped from last year's $3.35 to $2.24. Third quarter sales and earnings were also below last year figures.

NATIONAL AIRLINES stockholders will vote on a two-for-one stock split at their annual meeting in Miami next Wednesday. If approved, the split will become effective at close of business Nov. 6. Stockholders approved a two-for-one split at their 1965 meeting.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. has declared a quarterly dividend of 37.5 cents a share, establishing a new annual rate of $1.50 — an increase of 7 per cent from the previous $1.40 rate. First increased payment is payable Jan. 1.

McDONALD'S CORP., national restaurant chain, has entered negotiations with Gee Gee Distributing Co. and Gee Gee Realty Corp. to acquire these operations for cash. The Gee Gee companies, with revenues of $15 million a year, operate 41 McDonald units and hold real estate interests in the Washington, D.C., Virginia and Maryland areas. McDonald's has 942 units throughout the country, 90 of which are company-owned. Total sales volume last year was $218 million.

COMMONWEALTH NATIONAL BANK, San Francisco, has named Don Fazackerly as its executive vice president. A San Francisco business and civic leader and former publisher of shopping newspapers in the Bay Area, he joined Commonwealth as a senior vice president shortly before its opening in 1964. He has served on the San Francisco Police Commission, Board of Supervisors and Public Utilities Commission and is currently president of the Downtown Association.

NUCLEAR ENGINEERING CO. has declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents a share, plus another dividend of 15 cents a share against arrears. Both are payable Dec. 1. Nine months income of 48.8 per share compared with 37.4 a share in the first nine months of 1966. Third quarter income and gross sales were up substantially.

PACIFIC COAST ENGINEERING CO. broke ground for a two-story headquarters building in Alameda on Wednesday for engineering, sales, purchasing and administrative personnel of marine, materials handling, hydroelectric and contract manufacturing divisions. Manufacturing activities in Savannah, London, Tokyo, Western Australia and Montreal will also be directed from the new headquarters.

B. F. GOODRICH CO. has had a major change in executive officers, with Ward Keener, president and chief executive officer, elected chairman of the board. Group vice president Harry B. Warner becomes president and succeeds retiring executive vice president Arthur Kelly on the executive committee.

CHRYSLER CORP. is second of the big auto companies to report a rise in third-quarter income and sales. Income of 58 cents a share compared with 14 cents in the 1966 quarter. Worldwide sales were a record $1.3 billion, compared with $1.1 billion in 1966. General Motors Corp. reported substantial gains earlier this week.

Market Shuts Lower After Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today in active trading.

Volume for the first four hours was 7.17 million shares compared with 7.11 million Thursday.

The market was higher in the morning but soon began to lose ground. Analysts said that the technical rally of yesterday had no fresh justification in financial or economic fundamentals.

As profits were taken in recent gains, Control Data fell about 7 points, Raytheon 2, Polaroid 3, Xerox 2 and Sperry Rand more than a point.

Allis-Chalmers was up more than a point as it paced the list on volume. Sanders Associates slipped 3 or more. Avnet advanced a couple of points in heavy dealings.

Solid strength was displayed also by Commonwealth Edison, International Telephone and Air Reduction, all of which advanced more than a point. United Air Lines rose about 2½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange held an irregularly higher edge in active trading that rivaled Thursday's record pace.

First Unit Of Homesites Goes On Sale Next Week

The first unit of homesites in the 5,500-acre residential development of San Geronimo Valley Properties will be placed on sale next week.

Robert Roumiguiere of A. R. Roumiguiere, Inc., sales agent for the development surrounding the San Geronimo National Golf Course, said the first subdivision represents about 18 acres adjacent to a part of the golf course south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

He said the parcel has been divided into 15 homesites each slightly over one acre, with prices starting at $10,500. All lots are accessible from San Geronimo Valley Drive.

Roumiguiere said some of the sites have frontage directly on the golf course, several are wooded and some will accomodate horses. All owners will have use of hiking and equestrian trails in the adjoining acreage, and of public lands in the Marin Municipal Water District and nearby state parks.

In 1965, San Geronimo Properties, the selling firm for Lagunitas Development Co., owner of the land, was forced to delay plans to develop the 5,500 acres because the Bay Region Quality Control Board banned septic tanks for the subdivision. After an appeal to the state Water Quality Control Board, Roumiguiere said, the matter went to the state attorney general for an opinion. Recently, he said, the attorney general ruled against the ban, permitting septic tanks.

Roumiguiere said plans are being made to subdivide the balance of the property.

United To Move Reservation Office

SAN FRANCISCO — United Air Lines will move its Bay Area telephone reservations offices from Union Square to a new site at Bay and Powell streets in Northpoint, a new commercial and residential development near the San Francisco north waterfront.

The move to the new site, involving some 400 reservations agents and supervisors, will take place in the spring of 1968, allowing time for installation of United's multi-million dollar electronic information sevices system.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Young Buyer Needs To Correct Losers

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I an single, 29, and earn $7,500 a year. I bought the following stocks which have all gone down in price: Long Island Lighting, Mohawk Airlines, Airlift International, Wings & Wheels Express, American Airlines. I was told that these were growth stocks. Sould I hold them or take a loss and get into something else? — A.S.

A. Is is a matter of concern to me that so many young people — through poor timing or selection — start off with losers when they first invest money. I know of no way to avoid this except by knowing more about the prospective purchases and leaning less on the advice of others — unless you are certain of their experience and competence. You have two good stocks for your objective and three that I consider rather speculative. Long Island Lighting is one of the best growth utilities, depressed solely because of money-rate conditions. American Airlines is one of the major carriers which has declined in price because earnings growth has slowed down a little. I would hold both these stocks. Your other three issues, in my opinion, are not suitable for you. I advise you to sell them and put the proceeds into RCA and Transamerica, two solid stocks which should enhance your capital over the years ahead.

Q. Is it possible to have in your possession Series E bonds which have matured and not been extended? How about Series H bonds? — P.M.

E. All Series E bonds outstanding and currently issued have been guaranteed a 10-year extension. Series H bonds issued prior to June, 1959, have been extended for 10 years. If you hold H bonds bought in June 1959, or subsequently, you should check with your bank at maturity to find out if an extension has been granted.

PEUGEOT 404 STATION WAGON

Optional for the first time in Peugeot's 1968 station wagon is an automatic transmission with torque convertor and three forward speeds. With rear seat and front passenger seat folded down cargo space is almost doubled. Peugeot's four-cylinder engine develops 80 horsepower. Available at Shamrock Motors in Mill Valley.

Hexcel Record Set In Sales

DUBLIN, Calif. — Hexcel has announced sales of $15.34 million for the first nine months of 1967 — a record high for any three consecutive quarters in the company's history.

The sales total is a 38 per cent increase over the same period in 1966.

Earnings of $987,000 were up 51 per cent over the first nine months of 1966. Substantial orders for Hexcel's new synthetic honeycomb materials, widely used by aircraft manufacturers, are partly responsible for the sales increase.

Johns-Mansville Is Seeking Gypsum Firms In Expansion

JOHNS-MANSVILLE CORP. wants to get in the gypsum business "to round out its building materials lines" and is studying the possible purchase for cash of the gypsum division of Fibreboard Corp.

Discussions between both companies are under way and may take several weeks.

Fibreboard's California gypsum properties are at Newark and South Gate. Four others are in Colorado and Nevada. The company, headquartered in San Francisco, makes paperboard and packaging materials.

Sales and earnings of Johns-Mansville for the first nine months did not match the record levels of 1966. Sales were $372 million, compared with $385 million last year. Per share earnings dropped from last year's $3.35 to $2.24. Third quarter sales and earnings were also below last year figures.

NATIONAL AIRLINES stockholders will vote on a two-for-one stock split at their annual meeting in Miami next Wednesday. If approved, the split will become effective at close of business Nov. 6. Stockholders approved a two-for-one split at their 1965 meeting.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. has declared a quarterly dividend of 37.5 cents a share, establishing a new annual rate of $1.50 — an increase of 7 per cent from the previous $1.40 rate. First increased payment is payable Jan. 1.

McDONALD'S CORP., national restaurant chain, has entered negotiations with Gee Gee Distributing Co. and Gee Gee Realty Corp. to acquire these operations for cash. The Gee Gee companies, with revenues of $15 million a year, operate 41 McDonald units and hold real estate interests in the Washington, D.C., Virginia and Maryland areas. McDonald's has 942 units throughout the country, 90 of which are company-owned. Total sales volume last year was $218 million.

COMMONWEALTH NATIONAL BANK, San Francisco, has named Don Fazackerly as its executive vice president. A San Francisco business and civic leader and former publisher of shopping newspapers in the Bay Area, he joined Commonwealth as a senior vice president shortly before its opening in 1964. He has served on the San Francisco Police Commission, Board of Supervisors and Public Utilities Commission and is currently president of the Downtown Association.

NUCLEAR ENGINEERING CO. has declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents a share, plus another dividend of 15 cents a share against arrears. Both are payable Dec. 1. Nine months income of 48.8 per share compared with 37.4 a share in the first nine months of 1966. Third quarter income and gross sales were up substantially.

PACIFIC COAST ENGINEERING CO. broke ground for a two-story headquarters building in Alameda on Wednesday for engineering, sales, purchasing and administrative personnel of marine, materials handling, hydroelectric and contract manufacturing divisions. Manufacturing activities in Savannah, London, Tokyo, Western Australia and Montreal will also be directed from the new headquarters.

B. F. GOODRICH CO. has had a major change in executive officers, with Ward Keener, president and chief executive officer, elected chairman of the board. Group vice president Harry B. Warner becomes president and succeeds retiring executive vice president Arthur Kelly on the executive committee.

CHRYSLER CORP. is second of the big auto companies to report a rise in third-quarter income and sales. Income of 58 cents a share compared with 14 cents in the 1966 quarter. Worldwide sales were a record $1.3 billion, compared with $1.1 billion in 1966. General Motors Corp. reported substantial gains earlier this week.

Market Shuts Lower After Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today in active trading.

Stocks erased an early advance. In late dealings, losers outnumbered gainers by a fair margin and the averages were down.

Analysts saw no special news to account for the drop and attributed it to profit taking and preweekend caution.

Volume for the first four hours was 7.17 million shares compared with 7.11 million Thursday.

The market was higher in the morning but soon began to lose ground. Analysts said that the technical rally of yesterday had no fresh justification in financial or economic fundamentals.

As profits were taken in recent gains, Control Data fell about 7 points, Raytheon 2, Polaroid 3, Xerox 2 and Sperry Rand more than a point.

Allis-Chalmers was up more than a point as it paced the list on volume. Sanders Associates slipped 3 or more. Avnet advanced a couple of points in heavy dealings.

Strength alternated to the tobaccos where Lorillard gained about 1½ and Reynolds more than a point.

Solid strength was displayed also by Commonwealth Edison, International Telephone and Air Reduction, all of which advanced more than a point. United Air Lines rose about 2½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange held an irregularly higher edge in active trading that rivaled Thursday's record pace.

First Unit Of Homesites Goes On Sale Next Week

The first unit of homesites in the 5,500-acre residential development of San Geronimo Valley Properties will be placed on sale next week.

Robert Roumiguiere of A. R. Roumiguiere, Inc., sales agent for the development surrounding the San Geronimo National Golf Course, said the first subdivision represents about 18 acres adjacent to a part of the golf course south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

He said the parcel has been divided into 15 homesites each slightly over one acre, with prices starting at $10,500. All lots are accessible from San Geronimo Valley Drive.

Roumiguiere said some of the sites have frontage directly on the golf course, several are wooded and some will accomodate horses. All owners will have use of hiking and equestrian trails in the adjoining acreage, and of public lands in the Marin Municipal Water District and nearby state parks.

In 1965, San Geronimo Properties, the selling firm for Lagunitas Development Co., owner of the land, was forced to delay plans to develop the 5,500 acres because the Bay Region Quality Control Board banned septic tanks for the subdivision. After an appeal to the state Water Quality Control Board, Roumiguiere said, the matter went to the state attorney general for an opinion. Recently, he said, the attorney general ruled against the ban, permitting septic tanks.

Roumiguiere said plans are being made to subdivide the balance of the property.

United To Move Reservation Office

SAN FRANCISCO — United Air Lines will move its Bay Area telephone reservations offices from Union Square to a new site at Bay and Powell streets in Northpoint, a new commercial and residential development near the San Francisco north waterfront.

The move to the new site, involving some 400 reservations agents and supervisors, will take place in the spring of 1968, allowing time for installation of United's multi-million dollar electronic information sevices system.

Older Communities Reject School Bonds

It was these voters who doomed three school bond measures — two for high schools, one for elementary schools —in Tuesday's election.

Voters in Terra Linda, Lucas Valley and Marinwood (the Dixie Elementary School District) gave the two high school bond measures the needed two-thirds approval. Those in the East San Rafael area served by Glenwood and San Pedro schools gave solid two-thirds majorities to both high school issues and to that for elementary schools.

But in several San Rafael precincts, and in that at Gallinas School in Santa Venetia, none of the bond measures even mustered a majority in favor, let alone two-thirds.

TURNDOWN OF THE BOND measures was not unexpected. It followed by two weeks rejections of bond issues in Tamalpais High School District, San Anselmo Elementary School District, and Sausalito Elementary School District.

In all, the majority in favor ranged below 60 per cent. It hit 59 per cent for the Tam High District bonds and 58.8 per cent for the $2 million proposal for additions and improvements at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools.

It fell to 55.8 per cent for the $5.5 million issue for a third San Rafael district high school, and 55.3 per cent for the $3.1 million San Rafael Elementary School District issue. These compare with 55.6 per cent who voted "yes" for Sausalito school bonds and 54.8 per cent who favored those in San Anselmo.

On the Tam District issue, as on those in San Rafael High School District, it was in the old established communities that the measures drew the heaviest opposition. They won the needed two-thirds approval in most of the newer subdivisions.

WE SUSPECT THERE is a correlation between this voting pattern and the rise of real estate appraisals for taxing purposes.

It is in the older established communities that land values have been hiked most sharply this year. The property owners there feel most keenly the rise in taxes; yet their property is least in demand on today's real estate market.

THE SAN RAFAEL BOND issues will have to be resubmitted. The schools must be built. Tuesday's turndown merely means a delay.

Architects and board of education doubtless can do some trimming to reduce the size of the issues. Some construction to meet Field Act requirements may be postponed, thanks to permissive legislation this year. Such desirable but non-essential items as a fieldhouse and new football field lights at San Rafael High can be eliminated. But the need for new school facilities will not vanish.

An unfortunate by-product of the San Rafael vote is that it will serve to set back prospects for unification of San Rafael and Dixie districts, which failed so narrowly last year.

Wastes Can Fill Needs

If we in the United States are ever to cure our pollution problems, the most practical way to go about it would be to find a use for our industrial and human wastes.

As far as the usefulness of processed sewerage goes, Milwaukee has made its effluvia into a clean and very useful fertilizer for over a generation and marketed it under a trade name.

With a little assistance and prodding from Washington, all cities of any size could follow Milwaukee's example and we could export the product free of charge to underdeveloped countries which are in desperate need of fertilizers to boost production of food.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Freeway Ban Alarms Truckers

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A new dimension has been added to the long-standing controversy over whether freeways should be built through cities.

This one involves a ban in effect on a stretch of the new MacArthur Freeway in Oakland, prohibiting use by trucks over 10,000 pounds — any truck larger than a large pickup.

The prohibition was placed in effect during construction of the award-winning section of freeway, but the City of Oakland has proposed to continue the ban after its normal expiration date of Jan. 1, 1968. To continue the prohibition, however, the city will have to get approval of the state Department of Public Works and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

THE OBJECTION to use of the new freeway by trucks is primarily on the basis of the noise. That section of the freeway passes Mills College and there has been strong support for the ban by the college.

Putting it mildly, Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration has a real hot potato passed its way. It must approve or reject the continuance of the ordinance prohibiting the trucks.

The truckers are pretty concerned, as might be expected. And the concern is not necessarily over this particular section of freeway. In fact, a spokesman for the California Trucking Association said most of their vehicles would not use the new freeway because there is a better alternate route — shorter with less grade.

THE TRUCKERS' CONCERN is the precedent involved. They point out that, if this ordinance stands, it would be an invitation to groups all over the state to pick out particular bits of freeway and ban all trucks from them.

The truckers have several arguments to support their position that the prohibition against trucks on a portion of the MacArthur Freeway must not stand.

In the first place, that section of highway cost about $100 million, of which the truckers estimate they paid $35 million in taxes. Their taxes, like the gasoline taxes paid by the general motoring public, are paid for a right to use the highways.

If the prohibition is on the basis of noise, perhaps there are other worse offenders, such as motorcycles or souped-up hot-rods. Some tests have shown that motorcycles make more noise than trucks.

THE TRUCKS will have to move someplace unless the surrounding area is to be cut off from normal delivery service. This could mean trucks on the city streets. Generally the trend has been to move the heavy vehicles onto the freeways.

It's likely the truckers could take the ordinance to court, on the basis they are paying for the use of the highway. But if the courts let the ordinance stick, it would be an engraved invitation to outlaw trucks from sections of highway all over the state.

Government Studies Held Valuable

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of Oct. 19 and the accompanying cartoon complain of the over-abundance of studies in business and government. It is probably pointless to comment on the unnecessarily snide tone of the editorial: it is a sometimes temporary disease well known among editorial writers. The substance of the editorial is that studies are a waste of time and money.

There is no argument that a study is frequently used as an excuse for official inaction just as fathers put off their kids with "I'll think about it," but it would appear an elementary idea that the inaction, not the study, is at fault.

Contrary to the Olympian view of your editorial, studies representing a little thought before the enthusiastic expenditure of large sums of money, are worth a great deal more than their weight in gold. Your implication that everyone should crash on, throwing money to the winds without wasting precious time on anything else as trivial as thinking is, unfortunately, an all too common idea. A common stupid idea.

We send our kids to elementary school, high school and college in the fond hope that they will learn how to think. If they are exceptional we send them to graduate school to learn even more about thinking and studying. Presumably there is something with working at in thinking. It isn't something to be put in a closet with the cap and gown. Thought and study concerning our problems should be continuous and intense. Our society and our world face a mountain of problems of enormous complexity. They will not be solved by smashing mindlessly ahead, but by thinking, and then acting and then thinking and acting some more, and going on thinking and acting without allowing either to displace the other.

Since editorials are intended to reflect some thought and study it would appear singularly inappropriate for the writer of editorials to contend that the basis of his own profession is without value. Your editorial page and your readers deserve better.

Firemen, Neighbors Deserve Bouquets

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently a fire started by children in back of the San Rafael High School athletic field spread to my property and threatened to burn down my house as well as several others on the hill. The firemen arrived promptly and managed by intense effort to bring the fire under control. Between the time it was discovered and their arrival, however, neighbors and their friends from this block and from several blocks away run up the hill, climbed to the roofs of the threatened houses and manned garden hoses to fight back the flames at considerable personal risk.

Therefore, bouquets to the men of Fire Engines Number 1 and 2 for their skilled and dedicated work and to George Roberts, Richard Clayton, James Gorman, the Horton family, Lieutenant Maguire, Lee Moss, and others whose names I do not know for their old-time neighborly spirit.

Why Not Just Call It 'Hippyween'?

I suggest that the forthcoming eve we now know as Halloween, be more effectively called HIPPYWEEN.

Same thing really . . . children running around in strange garb —asking for attention and hand-outs. And goodness knows, they have been "trick and treating" us for a long time.

'Shameful Happening Should Be Forgotten'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A shameful occurrence should best be, for all concerned, laid to rest and forgotten. However, many of our fellow Marinites are distressed by the incident of a police officer being tried and convicted on the charge of disturbing the peace on such flimsy grounds. This could occur only to one of our harassed individuals whose only fault was to have been carrying a police badge. Had any other citizen been trying to pick up a minor child at a public dance nothing would have been done nor would mention or publicity have unjustly defamed one of the finest officers in our community.

Parents' Manners Embarrass One

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Attending the Oct. 17 San Rafael High School PTA meeting, I discovered several interesting things. Many of the parents who attended were so rude and so bad mannered with their minds being completely closed toward Dr. (Patrick J.) Gleason. Their attitudes were smug, middle class and completely intolerant. They seemed to have so little faith in their children that even listening to a discussion of drugs, they thought it would influence them.

I also found the I-J reporting very poor and completely biased and very much out of context. When Dr. Gleason offered to described his LSD trips, there was such confusion and noise, I doubt if many people heard him.

I was embarrassed for the parents. I think they ought to take a lesson from their children on manners.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 27, 1957

Approximately 2,000 people visited the ninth annual show of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin at the First National Bank in San Rafael.

Carroll J. Lynch of Belvedere was named to a new state committee to help oversee union-management health and welfare funds.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 27, 1947

Walter Derr of Mill Valley was appointed justice of peace for Sausalito township by 3-2 vote of Marin County supervisors.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE SALES MANAGER, launched upon a fervent pep talk to his non-responsive crew, insisted, "When I was the age of you pups, I put in 16 hours a day on the road and thought nothing of it." "Boss," spoke up one young salesman, "I don't think much of it either."

A new batch of draftees lined up to receive equipment and uniforms at an Army encampment, and a grizzled sergeant was looking the boys over with a jaundiced eye. Suddenly he spotted one youth in the rear row, sporting cerise slacks, a Hawaiian sport shirt, and, so help me, a pair of earrings shining in the midday sun.

The sergeant turned away in disgust, mumbling, "Blast it all! He's not even a civilian!"

Republicans Agree Only In Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The five Republicans most talked of as their party's presidential candidate in 1968 don't agree on how to handle the war in Vietnam but, with one exception, they have managed very briskly to team up against President Johnson.

The one exception is New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who says he doesn't want to be a candidate at all.

The other four sound alike in questioning the Johnson administration's truthfulness in telling the American people about the war. They are former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Governors George Romney of Michigan and Ronald Reagan of California, and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois.

OF THE FIVE Republicans, Romney is the one who has been all over the lot. At one time he said America had a moral right to be involved in the war. At another time he said getting involved was a bad mistake.

At one time he was for stepping up the bombing. But now he's against it. At the same time he is also against pulling out.

He talked about the moral rightness of American involvement in November 1965, after he and other governors had visited Vietnam. This year he said he was brainwashed in Vietnam by American diplomats and military men but it's hard to see how, since he came away with a gloomy picture, predicting things might get worse before getting better.

Nine of the governors who went to Vietnam with Romney disputed his brainwashing charge. And Nixon, who went to Vietnam nine times to Romney's twice, said he had no complaint about the briefings he got on his visits there.

ROCKEFELLER, unlike the others, hasn't made any complaints about Johnson's handling of the war. He said judgments on U.S. bombing in Vietnam should be made only by those with special intelligence information, which is what Johnson has.

And he has said of Johnson's handling of the war: "I think he's doing the best he can."

Reagan and Nixon are all for stepping up the pace of U.S. military action in Vietnam. Reagan has called on the government to throw its full military punch into the war to win it as soon as possible. He proposed "sharp escalation" but said nuclear bombs weren't necessary.

Nixon says the war must be shortened by use of "massive pressure" and he, too, wants to avoid nuclear weaponry.

PERCY HAS WANTED to be critical of the way the war is going but at the same time has been very cautious about suggestions.

He says total military victory is impossible, there should be no further escalation, more Asians should be involved in the fighting. He called for an end to U.S. bombing near Red China's border. At one time he denied he was suggesting U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam but at another he said "gradual withdrawal" could be accomplished if the Johnson administration would just get more South Vietnamese to do the fighting.

Reagan, Nixon and Percy — in addition to Romney — have all taken pokes at the Johnson administration's truthfulness but Reagan has put a twist on it different from any of the others.

He said the war is going better than the administration has told the people and that it won't tell the real story until it's ready.

Percy says he thinks it's questionable that Americans have been told the truth; Nixon complains that American influence in the world is failing because other nations no longer believe what Johnson's spokesmen say; Romney accuses the administration of keeping the facts from the people by a "systematic continuation of inaccurate reports, predictions and withholding information."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

China, Russia Have Good Reasons To Stay Out Of Vietnam War

WASHINGTON — The purpose of this column is to answer as objectively and as factually as possible questions about Vietnam which cause great anxiety or great controversy.

How great is the risk that Red China or the Soviet Union will get into the war?

The risk is there. No one could honestly say that it might not happen.

There are two major deterrents. Both China and Russia are involved in acute problems elsewhere. The U.S. is doing everything practicable to avoid giving either a cause or an excuse to expand intervention by massive use of combat troops.

THE MOST knowledgeable China specialists in Hong Kong are convinced that Peking is so fully and chaotically absorbed in internal political and civil strife that it will not likely risk a major confrontation with the U.S.

The Russians, whose breach with China grows wider and more hostile every month, seem more disposed to fight this war by proxy than with Russian troops.

What are the facts on which to base a judgment as to whether we are winning, losing, or stalemated?

Most of the main-force units in South Vietnam — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese — have been decimated several times and have had to be reconstituted at heavy cost.

FACT: There is today not an area in all South Vietnam where the enemy is safe against air or ground attack.

FACT: The monthly rate of political and military defections from the Viet Cong is running about double what it was a year ago.

FACT: In the past two years the proportion of South Vietnamese living under Communist control has been cut to under 20 per cent. The secure proportion of the population has risen from 45 to 65 per cent.

FACT: The price which North Vietnam and the Viet Cong are having to pay just to keep the war going at its present level is far higher than we (South Vietnam and its allies) are having to pay to turn the tide of battle against them. Take the most sensitive and painful measure. From Jan. 1, 1961, to Sept. 30, 1967, the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong have sustained 221,784 men killed in action. Over the same period the defenders' total battle deaths have numbered 64,669 (South Vietnamese, 49,901; U.S., 13,500; other allies, 1,268).

Clearly there are aspects of the war which are lagging. The pacification program needs more manpower and better leadership. The South Vietnamese forces still need better training, a larger and more experienced officer corps. The newly elected government needs to prove its abilities.

THE WAR IS NOT being lost. In the judgment of those closest to the facts, it is in the process of being won — in the north and in the south.

"The enemy," writes Hanson W. Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, in the Reporter, "though by no means at the end of his rope, is having difficulty replacing his losses . . . The Viet Cong have resorted repeatedly to impressment and, like the North Vietnamese, to the use of women."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Older Communities Reject School Bonds

It was these voters who doomed three school bond measures — two for high schools, one for elementary schools —in Tuesday's election.

Voters in Terra Linda, Lucas Valley and Marinwood (the Dixie Elementary School District) gave the two high school bond measures the needed two-thirds approval. Those in the East San Rafael area served by Glenwood and San Pedro schools gave solid two-thirds majorities to both high school issues and to that for elementary schools.

But in several San Rafael precincts, and in that at Gallinas School in Santa Venetia, none of the bond measures even mustered a majority in favor, let alone two-thirds.

TURNDOWN OF THE BOND measures was not unexpected. It followed by two weeks rejections of bond issues in Tamalpais High School District, San Anselmo Elementary School District, and Sausalito Elementary School District.

In all, the majority in favor ranged below 60 per cent. It hit 59 per cent for the Tam High District bonds and 58.8 per cent for the $2 million proposal for additions and improvements at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools.

It fell to 55.8 per cent for the $5.5 million issue for a third San Rafael district high school, and 55.3 per cent for the $3.1 million San Rafael Elementary School District issue. These compare with 55.6 per cent who voted "yes" for Sausalito school bonds and 54.8 per cent who favored those in San Anselmo.

On the Tam District issue, as on those in San Rafael High School District, it was in the old established communities that the measures drew the heaviest opposition. They won the needed two-thirds approval in most of the newer subdivisions.

WE SUSPECT THERE is a correlation between this voting pattern and the rise of real estate appraisals for taxing purposes.

It is in the older established communities that land values have been hiked most sharply this year. The property owners there feel most keenly the rise in taxes; yet their property is least in demand on today's real estate market.

THE SAN RAFAEL BOND issues will have to be resubmitted. The schools must be built. Tuesday's turndown merely means a delay.

Architects and board of education doubtless can do some trimming to reduce the size of the issues. Some construction to meet Field Act requirements may be postponed, thanks to permissive legislation this year. Such desirable but non-essential items as a fieldhouse and new football field lights at San Rafael High can be eliminated. But the need for new school facilities will not vanish.

An unfortunate by-product of the San Rafael vote is that it will serve to set back prospects for unification of San Rafael and Dixie districts, which failed so narrowly last year.

Wastes Can Fill Needs

If we in the United States are ever to cure our pollution problems, the most practical way to go about it would be to find a use for our industrial and human wastes.

As far as the usefulness of processed sewerage goes, Milwaukee has made its effluvia into a clean and very useful fertilizer for over a generation and marketed it under a trade name.

With a little assistance and prodding from Washington, all cities of any size could follow Milwaukee's example and we could export the product free of charge to underdeveloped countries which are in desperate need of fertilizers to boost production of food.

Freeway Ban Alarms Truckers

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A new dimension has been added to the long-standing controversy over whether freeways should be built through cities.

This one involves a ban in effect on a stretch of the new MacArthur Freeway in Oakland, prohibiting use by trucks over 10,000 pounds — any truck larger than a large pickup.

The prohibition was placed in effect during construction of the award-winning section of freeway, but the City of Oakland has proposed to continue the ban after its normal expiration date of Jan. 1, 1968. To continue the prohibition, however, the city will have to get approval of the state Department of Public Works and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads.

THE OBJECTION to use of the new freeway by trucks is primarily on the basis of the noise. That section of the freeway passes Mills College and there has been strong support for the ban by the college.

Putting it mildly, Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration has a real hot potato passed its way. It must approve or reject the continuance of the ordinance prohibiting the trucks.

The truckers are pretty concerned, as might be expected. And the concern is not necessarily over this particular section of freeway. In fact, a spokesman for the California Trucking Association said most of their vehicles would not use the new freeway because there is a better alternate route — shorter with less grade.

THE TRUCKERS' CONCERN is the precedent involved. They point out that, if this ordinance stands, it would be an invitation to groups all over the state to pick out particular bits of freeway and ban all trucks from them.

The truckers have several arguments to support their position that the prohibition against trucks on a portion of the MacArthur Freeway must not stand.

In the first place, that section of highway cost about $100 million, of which the truckers estimate they paid $35 million in taxes. Their taxes, like the gasoline taxes paid by the general motoring public, are paid for a right to use the highways.

If the prohibition is on the basis of noise, perhaps there are other worse offenders, such as motorcycles or souped-up hot-rods. Some tests have shown that motorcycles make more noise than trucks.

THE TRUCKS will have to move someplace unless the surrounding area is to be cut off from normal delivery service. This could mean trucks on the city streets. Generally the trend has been to move the heavy vehicles onto the freeways.

It's likely the truckers could take the ordinance to court, on the basis they are paying for the use of the highway. But if the courts let the ordinance stick, it would be an engraved invitation to outlaw trucks from sections of highway all over the state.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Government Studies Held Valuable

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of Oct. 19 and the accompanying cartoon complain of the over-abundance of studies in business and government. It is probably pointless to comment on the unnecessarily snide tone of the editorial: it is a sometimes temporary disease well known among editorial writers. The substance of the editorial is that studies are a waste of time and money.

There is no argument that a study is frequently used as an excuse for official inaction just as fathers put off their kids with "I'll think about it," but it would appear an elementary idea that the inaction, not the study, is at fault.

Contrary to the Olympian view of your editorial, studies representing a little thought before the enthusiastic expenditure of large sums of money, are worth a great deal more than their weight in gold. Your implication that everyone should crash on, throwing money to the winds without wasting precious time on anything else as trivial as thinking is, unfortunately, an all too common idea. A common stupid idea.

We send our kids to elementary school, high school and college in the fond hope that they will learn how to think. If they are exceptional we send them to graduate school to learn even more about thinking and studying. Presumably there is something with working at in thinking. It isn't something to be put in a closet with the cap and gown. Thought and study concerning our problems should be continuous and intense. Our society and our world face a mountain of problems of enormous complexity. They will not be solved by smashing mindlessly ahead, but by thinking, and then acting and then thinking and acting some more, and going on thinking and acting without allowing either to displace the other.

Since editorials are intended to reflect some thought and study it would appear singularly inappropriate for the writer of editorials to contend that the basis of his own profession is without value. Your editorial page and your readers deserve better.

Firemen, Neighbors Deserve Bouquets

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently a fire started by children in back of the San Rafael High School athletic field spread to my property and threatened to burn down my house as well as several others on the hill. The firemen arrived promptly and managed by intense effort to bring the fire under control. Between the time it was discovered and their arrival, however, neighbors and their friends from this block and from several blocks away run up the hill, climbed to the roofs of the threatened houses and manned garden hoses to fight back the flames at considerable personal risk.

Therefore, bouquets to the men of Fire Engines Number 1 and 2 for their skilled and dedicated work and to George Roberts, Richard Clayton, James Gorman, the Horton family, Lieutenant Maguire, Lee Moss, and others whose names I do not know for their old-time neighborly spirit.

Why Not Just Call It 'Hippyween'?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I suggest that the forthcoming eve we now know as Halloween, be more effectively called HIPPYWEEN.

Same thing really . . . children running around in strange garb —asking for attention and hand-outs. And goodness knows, they have been "trick and treating" us for a long time.

'Shameful Happening Should Be Forgotten'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A shameful occurrence should best be, for all concerned, laid to rest and forgotten. However, many of our fellow Marinites are distressed by the incident of a police officer being tried and convicted on the charge of disturbing the peace on such flimsy grounds. This could occur only to one of our harassed individuals whose only fault was to have been carrying a police badge. Had any other citizen been trying to pick up a minor child at a public dance nothing would have been done nor would mention or publicity have unjustly defamed one of the finest officers in our community.

Parents' Manners Embarrass One

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Attending the Oct. 17 San Rafael High School PTA meeting, I discovered several interesting things. Many of the parents who attended were so rude and so bad mannered with their minds being completely closed toward Dr. (Patrick J.) Gleason. Their attitudes were smug, middle class and completely intolerant. They seemed to have so little faith in their children that even listening to a discussion of drugs, they thought it would influence them.

I also found the I-J reporting very poor and completely biased and very much out of context. When Dr. Gleason offered to described his LSD trips, there was such confusion and noise, I doubt if many people heard him.

I was embarrassed for the parents. I think they ought to take a lesson from their children on manners.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Oct. 27, 1957

Approximately 2,000 people visited the ninth annual show of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin at the First National Bank in San Rafael.

Carroll J. Lynch of Belvedere was named to a new state committee to help oversee union-management health and welfare funds.

20 YEARS AGO

Oct. 27, 1947

Walter Derr of Mill Valley was appointed justice of peace for Sausalito township by 3-2 vote of Marin County supervisors.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE SALES MANAGER, launched upon a fervent pep talk to his non-responsive crew, insisted, "When I was the age of you pups, I put in 16 hours a day on the road and thought nothing of it." "Boss," spoke up one young salesman, "I don't think much of it either."

A new batch of draftees lined up to receive equipment and uniforms at an Army encampment, and a grizzled sergeant was looking the boys over with a jaundiced eye. Suddenly he spotted one youth in the rear row, sporting cerise slacks, a Hawaiian sport shirt, and, so help me, a pair of earrings shining in the midday sun.

The sergeant turned away in disgust, mumbling, "Blast it all! He's not even a civilian!"

Republicans Agree Only In Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The five Republicans most talked of as their party's presidential candidate in 1968 don't agree on how to handle the war in Vietnam but, with one exception, they have managed very briskly to team up against President Johnson.

The one exception is New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who says he doesn't want to be a candidate at all.

The other four sound alike in questioning the Johnson administration's truthfulness in telling the American people about the war. They are former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Governors George Romney of Michigan and Ronald Reagan of California, and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois.

OF THE FIVE Republicans, Romney is the one who has been all over the lot. At one time he said America had a moral right to be involved in the war. At another time he said getting involved was a bad mistake.

At one time he was for stepping up the bombing. But now he's against it. At the same time he is also against pulling out.

He talked about the moral rightness of American involvement in November 1965, after he and other governors had visited Vietnam. This year he said he was brainwashed in Vietnam by American diplomats and military men but it's hard to see how, since he came away with a gloomy picture, predicting things might get worse before getting better.

Nine of the governors who went to Vietnam with Romney disputed his brainwashing charge. And Nixon, who went to Vietnam nine times to Romney's twice, said he had no complaint about the briefings he got on his visits there.

ROCKEFELLER, unlike the others, hasn't made any complaints about Johnson's handling of the war. He said judgments on U.S. bombing in Vietnam should be made only by those with special intelligence information, which is what Johnson has.

And he has said of Johnson's handling of the war: "I think he's doing the best he can."

Reagan and Nixon are all for stepping up the pace of U.S. military action in Vietnam. Reagan has called on the government to throw its full military punch into the war to win it as soon as possible. He proposed "sharp escalation" but said nuclear bombs weren't necessary.

Nixon says the war must be shortened by use of "massive pressure" and he, too, wants to avoid nuclear weaponry.

PERCY HAS WANTED to be critical of the way the war is going but at the same time has been very cautious about suggestions.

He says total military victory is impossible, there should be no further escalation, more Asians should be involved in the fighting. He called for an end to U.S. bombing near Red China's border. At one time he denied he was suggesting U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam but at another he said "gradual withdrawal" could be accomplished if the Johnson administration would just get more South Vietnamese to do the fighting.

Reagan, Nixon and Percy — in addition to Romney — have all taken pokes at the Johnson administration's truthfulness but Reagan has put a twist on it different from any of the others.

He said the war is going better than the administration has told the people and that it won't tell the real story until it's ready.

Percy says he thinks it's questionable that Americans have been told the truth; Nixon complains that American influence in the world is failing because other nations no longer believe what Johnson's spokesmen say; Romney accuses the administration of keeping the facts from the people by a "systematic continuation of inaccurate reports, predictions and withholding information."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

China, Russia Have Good Reasons To Stay Out Of Vietnam War

WASHINGTON — The purpose of this column is to answer as objectively and as factually as possible questions about Vietnam which cause great anxiety or great controversy.

How great is the risk that Red China or the Soviet Union will get into the war?

The risk is there. No one could honestly say that it might not happen.

There are two major deterrents. Both China and Russia are involved in acute problems elsewhere. The U.S. is doing everything practicable to avoid giving either a cause or an excuse to expand intervention by massive use of combat troops.

THE MOST knowledgeable China specialists in Hong Kong are convinced that Peking is so fully and chaotically absorbed in internal political and civil strife that it will not likely risk a major confrontation with the U.S.

The Russians, whose breach with China grows wider and more hostile every month, seem more disposed to fight this war by proxy than with Russian troops.

What are the facts on which to base a judgment as to whether we are winning, losing, or stalemated?

Most of the main-force units in South Vietnam — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese — have been decimated several times and have had to be reconstituted at heavy cost.

FACT: There is today not an area in all South Vietnam where the enemy is safe against air or ground attack.

FACT: The monthly rate of political and military defections from the Viet Cong is running about double what it was a year ago.

FACT: In the past two years the proportion of South Vietnamese living under Communist control has been cut to under 20 per cent. The secure proportion of the population has risen from 45 to 65 per cent.

FACT: The price which North Vietnam and the Viet Cong are having to pay just to keep the war going at its present level is far higher than we (South Vietnam and its allies) are having to pay to turn the tide of battle against them. Take the most sensitive and painful measure. From Jan. 1, 1961, to Sept. 30, 1967, the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong have sustained 221,784 men killed in action. Over the same period the defenders' total battle deaths have numbered 64,669 (South Vietnamese, 49,901; U.S., 13,500; other allies, 1,268).

Clearly there are aspects of the war which are lagging. The pacification program needs more manpower and better leadership. The South Vietnamese forces still need better training, a larger and more experienced officer corps. The newly elected government needs to prove its abilities.

THE WAR IS NOT being lost. In the judgment of those closest to the facts, it is in the process of being won — in the north and in the south.

ART BUCHWALD

It Was Rocky, Rocky, Rocky —And Especially For Johnson

WASHINGTON — I had the good fortune to be one of the survivors of the governors cruise to the Virgin Islands on the USS Independence last week, and it was truly a memorable experience. It isn't everyday that a reporter has a chance to get seasick with 45 governors of the United States.

The Three Rs were on board, Rockefeller, Reagan and Romney, and all of us naturally were concerned with their presidential plans. For three days all I heard was, "It's Rocky, it's Rocky." I didn't realize until I got off that they were talking about the ship and not the governor.

Gov. George Romney still seemed to be suffering from the effects of his brainwashing in Vietnam, because I asked him one morning, "Governor, how are you enjoying the cruise?" and he said, "What cruise?"

GOV. NELSON ROCKEFELLER and Ronald Reagan got most attention. When Governor Rockefeller arrived at the pier with Happy, he was besieged by newspapermen, television cameras and radio microphones. Gov. Lester Maddox turned to a friend and said, "You see what happens when you have a million dollars?"

The cruise was twice blessed because, besides Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, we also had Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller on board. Laurance Rockefeller, who owns large chunks of the Virgin Islands, was supposed to come also, but Henry Diamond, who works for him, explained, "Because of the stake they have in them, Internal Revenue Service won't allow more than two Rockefellers on any one ship at the same time."

The main problem was communications, and you were never sure when someone sent you a telegram if you would be the first person to read it. The most dramatic example of this was when Marvin Watson of the White House sent a radiogram to former Gov. Price Daniel on board the ship, suggesting how to twist Republican arms to get through a resolution supporting President Johnson in Vietnam. The radiogram was "accidentally" delivered to Governor Reagan because his name sounds so much like Daniel.

Governor Reagan started reading the telegram and then suddenly realized it wasn't for him. So he did the only honorable thing and had it Xeroxed and distributed to the press.

THE DEMOCRATS were rather embittered by this and accused Reagan of violating the law as well as reading somebody else's mail. This upset the governor from California no end because he felt he had made a real effort to return the cable to its rightful owner. Besides, by Xeroxing it, he was insuring there would be a copy available for Daniel, in case the wire got lost again.

But the White House didn't see it that way. President Johnson sent Daniel another wire which said, "Who the hell killed the albatross?"

To safeguard future communications between the White House and the Independence, Watson had to swim out to the ship everyday and deliver them by hand. Fortunately for the country, Marv is a very good swimmer.

Despite the instructions, the President didn't get as much support from the governors as he hoped. Every time the Democratic governors would propose a resolution supporting President Johnson, the Republican governors would hold a life boat drill. Except, of course, for Governor Reagan, who had moved his deck chair up into the radio shack.

This Is Time To Buy Pumpkin, Even If You Don't Have Kids

I went out and bought a pumpkin today, and this is a reminder for other family men to go out and do the same. There are neighborhood children even if you have none of your own.

This pumpkin I bought for my wife, who likes pumpkins. Not for making pie but for making faces. (Women are childlike, they say. They are wrong.)

We had almost forgotten what an incredible and satisfying mess one pumpkin makes when it's cut up for a jack-o-lantern. The supply of pumpkins is dwindling, like turkeys at Thanksgiving, but it isn't likely the grocers will run out.

For a farm-fresh pumpkin, Halloweeners can drive south from San Francisco along Shoreline Highway. Several farms around Half Moon Bay are ankle deep in big yellow pumpkins at this time and are dying to sell them. It's a nice seashore drive.

Pumpkins are the unmistakable sign of a family man. Bachelors may buy Christmas trees occasionally, but never pumpkins.

UNITED NATIONS DAY slipped by Tuesday, unnoticed by most people, but the Sausalito City Council noted the 22nd anniversary in a backhanded sort of way.

Among the incoming mail was a proposal by TRAIN, a committee whose acronym stands for "To Restore American Independence Now."

TRAIN offered a resolution for council adoption, cussing out the U.N. in blunt terms and asking that American flags be flown at half-staff on U.N. Day. It was the now-familiar diatribe against the U.N. and all its works as a tool of a giant Commie plot to conquer the world.

Sausalito Mayor Mel Wax gave it short shrift. Skimming through the mail, he dismissed the TRAIN letter as "a resolution I don't think is worth reading." The council nodded assent and went on to the next letter.

Sausalito may not have observed U.N. Day, but it paid at least a tacit tribute to the organization by quietly deep-sixing the TRAIN letter.

WASN'T IT Woodrow Wilson who once shunned an American espionage system on the lofty grounds that "gentlemen do not read each other's mail?" Gentlemanliness has rarely been a political asset, but it does seem times have changed since Wilson's day.

Image is everything these days. The Sausalito City Council this week quietly dropped a request by the Community Appearances Advisory Board to be renamed the Design Review Board.

The board was not set up to second-guess architects, Mayor Wax said, but to concern itself with the over-all appearance of the city.

The board could be renamed the design review advisory board, councilman Earl F. Dunphy said. "That would spell DRAB," he suggested.

Well, what did you expect? Bobby Kennedy's gag writers?

NUMEROLOGISTS might find significance in Sausalito's ordinance No. 666 — that's the one that was designed to keep hippies (or bank presidents, for that matter) from blocking public sidewalks and streets.

The connection that intrigues me is that 666 was the number of the "magic bullet" Salvarsan developed years ago as a cure for syphilis, if I remember my Paul de Kruif correctly.

And apparently some Sausalitans thought ordinance 666 would be a magic bullet to cure the city of its hippie plague. It hasn't, of course, and as pointed out Tuesday, no ordinance will. There will be people to argue with us, disrupt us, and sting our sensibilities as long as there are people. It's part of human cussedness, wherher they are hippies or Hussites, and ordinances never got rid of any of them.

NEW MATH is puzzling to anyone over 30, but one of its tools seems easily understandable. We got a report today on Cuisenaire rods.

These are sets of 10 rods, ranging from one to 10 centimeters long. Each rod is a different color and has a different identifying letter. They are being used in Sausalito first grade classes.

To simplify matters, they are to math what the old letter blocks were to spelling. Before phonics, that is. Kids in first grade and kindergarten play with them, "free play" at first and later guided play which teaches math concepts. They learn the rods by color and letter before ever learning any number values — learning that a green and orange rod total the same as a purple and blue one, for instance.

With skilled teaching, kids can get the abstract principles of subtraction, multiplication, division and fractions with the rods. And finally, numbers are assigned to the rods, kids start relating numbers to concepts and voila! Another class of mathematics students.

It all sounds like much more fun than the book mathematics we learned in childhood. But what ever happened to the letter blocks?

Marin's 'Brazilia,' Unfortunately Not 'For Limited Time Only'

Fusselman

Just before starting the column I was thumbing through Life magazine, while having a cup of coffee, and for a moment thought someone was putting me on. Staring me in the face was a good-looking full-page ad in color: "New . . . Brazilia . . .looks expensive but isn't." Further on: "You've probably never experienced a texture this rich—dramatically different—deep grooving. You'll be surprised how little it costs. Special introductory prices are for a limited time only."

How about that? Don't we all wish "limited time only" would be true? 'Taint so, my friends. What we are experiencing out there is only a beginning . . . just a starter. (The advertisement was by the Georgia-Pacific Co., introducing their new Brazilia Portelo wood panels.)

SEVERAL INTERESTING stories have broken during the past few days. Last Friday the I-J editorial was headed, "Outlook Not Bright, But Bond Issues Needed." On the Business And Financial page of the same day was a story out of New York by the Associated Press: "Communities across the nation are finding it expensive to borrow money to build schools, roads and sewers. High interest rates in the municipal bond market are forcing some to postpone projects." New York city had been forced to pay 4.91 per cent on $191.1 million issue—the highest they had paid since 1932. Twelve communities in several states have postponed $88.3 million in borrowing since last September.

Competition in the bond market by industrial revenue bonds and corporate bond needs are the principal causes. One power company sold $30 million in bonds which offered a 6.44 yield.

I supported the Hall of Justice bonds in this column, but the murmuring by the board of supervisors about offering more issues had better fade out in a whisper—I theenk!

THE ABAG BASH held at the Baptist Seminary during the week end brought out some strange statements. For instance: It was reported that County Administrator Alan Bruce predicted that the Bay Area would form a "city-state" and elect an administrator to run the whole works. Well now, San Mateo County tried electing the county manager but the guy sat around in his office and, because he was elected, refused to carry out the supervisors' orders. They were forced to hold an election and change the charter. Could be that Bruce has in mind that there wouldn't be any board in the "city-state"—just the admino?

I repeat what I have said before, that the center core group out at our Brazilia operates in a little world of its own.

A STRANGE SITUATION is developing. There is strong opposition by local groups, including the supervisors, to having the most heavily populated area of Marin put in the same congressional district as San Francisco — fearing loss of identity. At the same time the red hots for ABAG (Bay Area government), including the board of supervisors are pushing at every opportunity for that setup. Now you tell one!

Many, many people were astounded at the action taken by the majority members of the planning commission in refusing to consider more than one route for State Route 1 along the coast from the Golden Gate Bridge north. They are letting a fetish blind them to the dangers involved by placing the route at the cliff's edge —dangers to the thousands who will be traveling that way over the years.

It Was Rocky, Rocky, Rocky —And Especially For Johnson

WASHINGTON — I had the good fortune to be one of the survivors of the governors cruise to the Virgin Islands on the USS Independence last week, and it was truly a memorable experience. It isn't everyday that a reporter has a chance to get seasick with 45 governors of the United States.

The Three Rs were on board, Rockefeller, Reagan and Romney, and all of us naturally were concerned with their presidential plans. For three days all I heard was, "It's Rocky, it's Rocky." I didn't realize until I got off that they were talking about the ship and not the governor.

Gov. George Romney still seemed to be suffering from the effects of his brainwashing in Vietnam, because I asked him one morning, "Governor, how are you enjoying the cruise?" and he said, "What cruise?"

GOV. NELSON ROCKEFELLER and Ronald Reagan got most attention. When Governor Rockefeller arrived at the pier with Happy, he was besieged by newspapermen, television cameras and radio microphones. Gov. Lester Maddox turned to a friend and said, "You see what happens when you have a million dollars?"

The cruise was twice blessed because, besides Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, we also had Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller on board. Laurance Rockefeller, who owns large chunks of the Virgin Islands, was supposed to come also, but Henry Diamond, who works for him, explained, "Because of the stake they have in them, Internal Revenue Service won't allow more than two Rockefellers on any one ship at the same time."

The main problem was communications, and you were never sure when someone sent you a telegram if you would be the first person to read it. The most dramatic example of this was when Marvin Watson of the White House sent a radiogram to former Gov. Price Daniel on board the ship, suggesting how to twist Republican arms to get through a resolution supporting President Johnson in Vietnam. The radiogram was "accidentally" delivered to Governor Reagan because his name sounds so much like Daniel.

Governor Reagan started reading the telegram and then suddenly realized it wasn't for him. So he did the only honorable thing and had it Xeroxed and distributed to the press.

THE DEMOCRATS were rather embittered by this and accused Reagan of violating the law as well as reading somebody else's mail. This upset the governor from California no end because he felt he had made a real effort to return the cable to its rightful owner. Besides, by Xeroxing it, he was insuring there would be a copy available for Daniel, in case the wire got lost again.

But the White House didn't see it that way. President Johnson sent Daniel another wire which said, "Who the hell killed the albatross?"

To safeguard future communications between the White House and the Independence, Watson had to swim out to the ship everyday and deliver them by hand. Fortunately for the country, Marv is a very good swimmer.

Despite the instructions, the President didn't get as much support from the governors as he hoped. Every time the Democratic governors would propose a resolution supporting President Johnson, the Republican governors would hold a life boat drill. Except, of course, for Governor Reagan, who had moved his deck chair up into the radio shack.
